TEST OF SANITY WILL BE GIVEN JEALOUS LOVER

Carson, Who Threatened to Kill Girl, Goes to Gallinger Today.

GRAND JURY ACTION DEPENDS ON RESULT

NURSE HE IMPRISONED CHANGES RESIDENCE

Takes Day Off From Hospital After Escaping Death From Revolver.

Howard Carson, the impetuous swain of S street, is to be taken to Gallinger Hospital today to determine whether he was sane when on Tuesday night he held a score of policemen at bay for more than two hours while he attempted to extort, at the point of a gun, a promise of marriage from Miss Annie D. Jennings, a roomer in his parents' home.

The examination was ordered yesterday by District Attorney Leo A. Rover at the request of the youth's father, O. F. Carson, after Police Court Judge Gus A. Schuldt had ignored a similar request presented by Howard's attorney, George McNeil, and ordered young Carson held in bond of $10,000 for the grand jury.

Upon the results of Dr. Hickling's examination will depend whether Carson is to be committed to St. Elizabeth's Hospital as insane, or whether he will go before the grand jury on the charge of assault with a dangerous weapon with intent to kill, in compliance with Judge Schuldt's ruling in Police Court yesterday.

Placed in District Jail.

Young Carson was lodged in the District Jail in default of bail, where he spent the night awaiting receipt by Col. William A. Peake, District jailer, of the order directing his transfer to the municipal hospital. Mr. Rover issued the order with the provision that the examination be conducted by Dr. D. Percy Hickling, District alienist, in person.

Mystery Over Return to Work.

Miss Jennings, meanwhile, transferred her belongings from her second-floor back room at the Carson menage on S street near First street northwest, to the home of her sister, Mrs. May Lewis, on Wisconsin avenue near Quebec street northwest. There she went into seclusion.

After Carson's ardor had been dampened with a well-placed smash on the chin by Policeman Earl Baker, of the Second Precinct, Tuesday night Miss Jennings declared that she felt little the worse for her ordeal and that she would be back at her job as a nurse in Sibley Hospital yesterday.

Everyone who could be reached at the hospital yesterday, however, sought to make a deep mystery over whether or not she had gone to work. Mrs. Lewis likewise refused to say whether Miss Jennings had gone to her post at the hospital, and while she admitted that there should be no secret over a question which might be answered with a simple "yes" or "no," she took refuge in quoting the old saw, "Silence is golden," and in declaring that the case could not be of interest to outsiders.

It was learned, however, that Miss Jennings did not go on duty yesterday at the hospital, where she had been nursing the sister of Joseph Jackson, a new admirer whose attentions Carson is said to have blamed for his attempt to coerce Miss Jennings.

In Police Court yesterday, when Carson was arraigned before Judge Schuldt, his attorney waived preliminary hearing, and requested the psychiatric examination. Carson appeared sullen.

Became Acquainted in Spring.

Miss Jennings had taken a furnished rom in the Carson home last spring. Acording to Carson's parents, she and their son had become quite friendly and went out together frequently until a few nights ago, when Jackson apparently ousted the other from her favor and drove her home from work in his car each night, a task which Carson previously had considered as his exclusive privilege.

On Tuesday evening, Miss Jennings said Jackson brought her home and, aranging to take her on a quest for new quarters, left the S street address while she went to her rom to change her clothes. When Jackson returned, he was met at the door by Carson, who drove him off with a pistol and then returned to stand guard over Miss Jennings in her room, threatening her with death unless she would promise to dismiss all other men and confine her affections to him.

Jackson went, but only as far as a nearby drug store, where he called the police of the Second Precinct. A pa-

WHERE ANDREE MET HIS DEATH

To the left of this bleak, rocky landscape, where the ground is free from snow only in particularly warm summers, is the skull of Saloman August Andree, polar explorer, who met death with his companions when their food supplies became exhausted. The skull was found by members of Dr. Gonnar Horn's expedition.

GRAVELY ACQUITTED ON BRIBERY CHARGE

Trial Board Frees Policeman Alleged to Have Taken Sums From Woman.

ACCUSER IS HYSTERICAL

Policeman Spottswood F. Gravely, formerly precinct detective in the Third Precinct, yesterday was acquitted by the Police Trial Board of accepting bribes from Elizabeth E. Campbell, who said she had paid Gravely on his promise not to raid her apartments.

Decision of the trial board was reached a few minutes after the trial was concluded. The trial lasted most of the day and many witnesses were called and there were frequent verbal clashes between the prosecution and defense counsel.

The acquittal by the trial board had been forecast last week when the grand jury ignored the charges against the policeman after hearing the stories of the prosecution witnesses.

Gravely's accuser became hysterical on the stand when James A. O'Shea, defense counsel, was cross-examining her. A brief recess was ordered by Inspector Louis J. Stoll, chairman of the trial board, until she had recovered.

She told the trial board that she had paid Gravely $600 in protection money between August 1, 1929, and February 28, 1930, when Gravely was precinct detective in the Third Precinct and was achieving public notice through the medium of spectacular raids. Mr. O'Shea insisted that she give specific dates on which she paid the policeman the various sums she said she paid him.

T. F. Cameron, assistant corporation counsel, who prosecuted the charges, insisted that the witness should not be expected to be so exact. The trial board overruled the defense objection.

Capt. William G. Stott, commander of the Third Precinct, was on the stand when another clash took place. Mr. Cameron asked Capt. Stott if he had not requested the transfer of Gravely from his precinct. Mr.

ONE SHOT, ONE HURT IN ROW OVER AUTO

Policeman Tries to Place Ticket on Car and Fight Results.

TWO ARE UNDER ARREST

A row over a little pink traffic ticket last night led to the assaulting of a policeman and the shooting of his assailant, and two arrests.

Private V. V. Vaughan, of the Traffic Bureau, was putting a ticket on a car at Tenth street and Rhode Island avenue northwest when the owner objected. There was an argument, in which joined William Osborne, son-in-law of the "king of the Gypsies." It is alleged that Osborne swung a bottle, and Vaughan fired his revolver. Then Osborne went to Garfield Hospital with a bullet in his right thigh, and Vaughan went to Emergency to get three stitches in his scalp, where the bottle struck.

Vaughan was attempting to tag a car belonging to Aaron Trachtenberg, who runs a tire shop on the corner. The car is alleged to have been without a parking light.

Osborne is 26 and lives at 2222 Shannon place northwest. After his wounds were dressed at Garfield, he was taken to Gallinger Hospital, and a charge of investigation was placed against him on the books at the Traffic Bureau. Vaughan has not yet identified Osborne as his assailant, so no definite charge has been placed against him.

A few minutes later Trachtenberg, who is alleged to have taken part in the fight, surrendered at headquarters and was charged with assault on Vaughan and disorderly conduct. He also put up collateral on the charge of parking with no lights. He gave $200 bond to get free on the assault charge.

Vaughan last year fired six shots at two rum cars which tried to crush him on his motorcycle between them. Nobody was hurt, but the men abandoned their car, and he saved himself from possible serious injury.

Osborne, in 1927, married Julia Mitchell, daughter of the King of the Gypsies, without her father's consent and made the front pages.

URIBURU DOWNS ALL OPPOSITION WITH IRON HAND

New Argentine President Continues Arrest of Irigoyen Chiefs.

MARTIAL LAW RESTS HEAVILY ON COUNTRY

ARMS OF CIVILIANS SEIZED BY OFFICERS

Few Former Officials Remain at Liberty Following Monday Riots.

Buenos Aires, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—The revolutionary government of Gen. Evaristo Uriburu, which on Saturday displaced that of the aged President Hipolito Irigoyen, tonight appeared to have obtained a master hand in a situation which for 48 hours had presented all the earmarks of incipient civil war.

There has been no firing in the streets of Buenos Aires or elsewhere throughout the republic of Argentina, so far as Provisional President Uriburu and his new official family are aware. The Uriburu sentiment seems to be prevalent by an overwhelming majority.

Arrest of prominent statesmen continued today. Among those taken into custody were Enrique Perez Colman, minister of finance in the Irigoyen cabinet; Gen. Moscini, former director of oil fields; Gen. Baldrich, Rodriguez Jauregui, former president of the national education council; Felix Liceaga and Loustau Bidaut, proprietors of the newspaper Voz and former Irigoyen deputies.

Martial Law Rests Heavily.

Martial law was resting heavily upon the republic, with heavy guards of soldiers stationed at all public buildings and the residences of some of the new government executives.

A censorship so rigid as to require the minute inspection by government officials of every message of every nature filed either by radio or cable or spoken to outsiders by telephone was the newest turn of affairs affecting the press.

A representative of the government explained the regulation to all foreign correspondents at a conference today.

The government delegated a large number of officers to the duty of rounding up all firearms possessed by civilians. Severe penalties were imposed for failure to surrender arms.

Former President Irigoyen remained today in the barracks of the Seventh Infantry Regiment at La Plata, still too ill to be moved, according to dispatches.

There remained but few of the old Irigoyen officials at liberty. The provisional government is proceeding to bring the remaining ones into custody. Official reports continued to fix the number of dead in Monday night's fighting on the Plaza de Mayo at 7 dead and 56 wounded.

Irigoyen Shows Improvement.

Physicians ordered by the provisional government to see the aged deposed chief executive daily, reported tonight that their official patient showed improvement. Irigoyen's illness had been diagnosed as pneumonia.

The new government will need about 40,000,000 pesos (about $32,-

'Discreet' Enforcement Ordered By Sec. Mellon in 1928 Election

Proposed Raid Is Called Off in Atlantic City, Campbell Avers.

Writes His Resignation; Has "Unsatisfactory" Talk With Mills.

Fourth of a series of articles by the former prohibition administrator of the Eastern New York district.

By MAJ. MAURICE CAMPBELL.

But it was not only the breweries that were to have an easier time during the presidential campaign. August 28, 1928, I received the following telegram, which was sent to every prohibition administrator in the country:

"Any unusual, spectacular and sensational activities must be guarded against. Newspaper publicity and personal interviews are to be avoided. Political propaganda is made out of garbled accounts of prohibition activities. Instruct your agents to be vigilant but careful and discreet.

"SEYMOUR LOWMAN,
"Assistant Secretary."

In other words, I was being plainly told to ease up on enforcement during the heat of the presidential campaign. Several other administrators spoke to me about this telegram, and they all rebelled against the restrictions placed upon them.

Proposed Raid Called Off.

A few days later, when I was protesting about it, Undersecretary Ogden Mills showed me the original copy of this telegram. The handwriting on it, changing words here and there, Mr. Mills told me, was that of Secretary Mellon. That, apparently, was sufficient justification for it in Mr. Mills' view.

During this summer of 1928 I was asked for help by Col. A. J.

U. S. POLOISTS WIN AND CLINCH SERIES

PEDLEY MAKES 8 GOALS

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

International Field, Westbury, N. Y., Sept. 10 (A.P.)—With a surging rush as impetuous as anything the famous Light Brigade ever put on, the "Big Four" of American polo galloped out of the ruck today and put to rout the finest British challenge mustered since the war.

Trailing after five periods of hard-fought, sensational polo, Capt. Tommy Hitchcock's white-clad riders staged a come-back that broke up the Angle attack, produced a free-scoring barrage in which Eric Pedley shot goals from all parts of the field, and clinched the match by the decisive score of 14 to 9.

It was the second straight triumph for the United States and clinched possession of the classic International Cup, emblem of world polo supremacy, for the fourth successive time since the war. The Americans won the first match by 10 to 5, last Saturday, and settled the issue today in spectacular fashion without the necessity of a third contest.

At the close of the fifth chukker, American chances of making it two straight were cast in gloom. They were on the short end of a 7-6 score as the British, with Lewis Lacey and Capt. "Pat" Roark, riding and hitting sensationally, kept the Yankees on the defensive with sharply brilliant

Bid to World's Series Received by President

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover was invited yesterday by Mayor Harry A. Mackey, of Philadelphia, to attend one of the world's series games which he expects to be played there.

The Chief Executive has been considering for some time attending one game if it can be fitted into the itinerary under which he will make four speeches between October 2 and October 7.

It was considered probable at the White House yesterday that if Mr. Hoover were able to attend he would go to the opening game October 1, at Philadelphia.

He could leave Washington the morning of October 1, see the game, and leave later for Cleveland, where he is to address the American Bankers Association October 2.

WIFE FOUND SLAIN; HUSBAND ARRESTED

ACCIDENT, SAYS CAPTIVE

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 10 (A.P.).—A body of a young white woman found in the woods on Davis Island, Princess Anne County, today, by huntsmen, was identified early tonight by police as that of Mrs. Mabel B. Carter, aged 23, wife of Clyde B. Carter, also known as Solomon Carter, of Philadelphia.

Carter was arrested by county and city police on a charge of murder. The couple had been staying with Carter's father on a houseboat near the place where the body was found.

When first placed under arrest, according to Detective Lon Mowitzsky, of the Norfolk Police Department, Carter denied any knowledge of his wife's death. Later, under questioning, according to the detective, Carter said his wife had been accidentally shot about 5 o'clock last Thursday afternon while en route with him in an automobile from the houseboat to Norfolk, where Mrs. Carter was to take a boat or train for home.

An examination of the body by the Princess Anne County Coroner, Dr. Robert Woodhouse, showed the woman had been shot either once or twice with a shotgun, the load or loads taking effect in the left side of her breast, and three ribs were broken. The body also showed signs of an attempt to destroy it by burning, according to the police.

Carter was brought to the Norfolk City Jail after his arrest, and later

HARRIS EASILY WINS GEORGIA PRIMARY FIGHT

Former Gov. Slaton Loses in Attempt to Reenter Public Office.

CRAMTON LOSES OUT IN MICHIGAN BALLOT

Two Other Drys Defeated in Encounters With Wet Opponents.

RECOUNT POSSIBLE IN SOUTH CAROLINA

Senator James Couzens Wins Landslide Victory Over Osborn.

(Associated Press.)

The primary pitfalls which snared two Democratic senators and three dry Republican House members on Tuesday were sidestepped yesterday by a Georgia senator.

Seeking the Democratic nomination, which in Georgia assures election, Senator William J. Harris won an easy victory over former Gov. John M. Slaton, who had sought to reenter public life after an absence of more than a decade.

At the same time new casualties from Tuesday's primaries were being arrayed beside the defeats of Senators Coleman L. Blease, of South Carolina, and Joseph E. Ransdell, of Louisiana, both Democrats. Representatives Louis C. Cramton and Grant M. Hudson, of Michigan, and John F. Miller, of Washington, all dry Republicans, were placed on the short side of the tabulations of their encounters with wets.

Byrnes Beats Blease.

James F. Byrnes, for thirteen years a House member, was recorded as the victor in the South Carolina Democratic senatorial primary, and Gov. Huey P. Long, in Louisiana. State Senator Seymour H. Person and Jesse P. Wolcott, a Port Huron attorney, were placed ahead of Mr. Hudson and Mr. Cramton, respectively, in Michigan. Ralph A. Horr won over Miller. In both Michigan and Washington, other House members either were leading their opponents or had no opposition for renomination.

In Michigan, Senator James Couzens had been renominated, as had Senator Henry W. Keyes, in New Hampshire. Both are Republicans.

Colorado had selected George H. Shaw as the Republican and Edward P. Costigan as the Democratic candidate for the senatorial post to be vacated by Lawrence C. Phipps, Republican.

Hunt Wins Eighth Primary.

Arizona had chosen George W. P. Hunt for the eighth time as its Democratic candidate for the governorship now held by John C. Phillips, a Republican.

In South Carolina, the Democratic contest for the governorship was so closely contested by Olin D. Johnston and Ibra C. Blackwood that the prospect arose there would be a demand for a recount.

Other gubernatorial nominations included:

Michigan, Wilbur M. Brucker, Republican.

New Hampshire, John G. Winant, Republican; Albert W. Noone, Democrat.

Vermont, Stanley C. Wilson, Republican; Park H. Pollard, Democrat.

Wet Beats Cramton.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Two veteran dry leaders in the National House of Representatives apparently met with reverses in yesterday's State-wide primary in Michigan. Grant M. Hudson lost by a substantial majority his race for the Republican nomination for a fifth term as representative from the Sixth District. The victor was State Senator Seymour H. Person, who was indorsed by wet organizations, and whose supporters made prohibition the chief issue.

In the Seventh District Jesse P. Wolcott, Port Huron attorney, who

Gov. Roosevelt Declares For Repeal of Liquor Law

New York State Chief States Views in Letter to Senator Wagner; Connecticut Democrats Flay G. O. P. and 18th Amendment in Convention.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Gov. Roosevelt today broke a two-year official silence concerning the prohibition question to announce himself for repeal of the eighteenth amendment and substitution of a Federal statute granting each State the right to control sale of intoxicants.

In a letter to United States Senator Robert F. Wagner, made public here, the governor included the subject of prohibition among topics he believed should be stressed at the Democratic State convention in Syracuse the latter part of this month and added that he was "positive in saying that there must be some definite assurance that by no possibility at any time or in any place the old saloon can come back."

The governor urged that not only should States be given control of liquor, but that there should be "definite recognition of the extension of home rule to the lower subdivisions of government—in other words, a recognition of the right of cities, villages or towns by popular vote to prohibit sale of intoxicants within their own borders."

The eighteenth amendment, the governor said, "has not furthered the cause of a greater temperance in our population." He expanded this statement by quoting a resolution of the American Legion which said that the law had "led to corruption and hypocrisy," and added the declaration "I personally share this opinion."

"So widespread in this State is the resentment against the results of the eighteenth amendment," the governor wrote Senator Wagner, "that the time has come to stop talking and seek action."

The governor's expression of attitude had been awaited almost since

Calvin Coolidge Says:

The report that the Tariff Commission is about to start investigations of a wide variety of commodities will not give much encouragement to business.

The low tariff advocates first secured the flexible provisions of the law. When careful research under it showed rates were too low, with the exception of some agricultural schedules, flexibility was abandoned by its former sponsors. New investigations would probably reveal about the same conditions.

While we talk of a scientific tariff to balance the difference in cost of production at home and abroad, conditions change so fast that rates can be only approximate. We do not wish to exclude foreign goods but to give our people only a fair chance in their own markets under our scale of wages and standards of living.

A very bad tariff would be better than constant agitation, uncertainty, foreign animosity, and change. We have recently had well over a year of tariff discussion with resulting injury to business. Hope for a purely scientific tariff will prove a delusion. Any prolonged investigations, covering many schedules for the purpose of rewriting the law, will do more harm than good. Many will be injured while none will be satisfied. And the country will not be benefited.

Fire Rescue Squad Fights To Save Girl From Death

Oxygen Being Given Child, 5, Whooping Cough Victim, Who Is Too Ill to Be Moved to Hospital; Battle Appears Losing One.

While neighbors who loved her and her flaxen curls stood in saddened groups, firemen and physicians battled last night to save the life of Shirley Carter, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carter, 708 Erie avenue, Takoma Park, Md., who was saved from choking to death only by their efforts. The child had been ill with whooping cough for five weeks and yesterday afternoon at 2:05 o'clock it became necessary to call the District fire rescue squad with its pulmotors and oxygen tanks. Phlegm had lodged in her windpipe, causing her to choke.

The irony of the situation is that within three blocks is the Washington Sanitarium and Hospital, where all of the facilities necessary for the operation which probably could save the child's life are waiting in idleness because the agents of rescue can not leave their resuscitation efforts long enough to carry her the short distance to the hospital.

Dr. Lynwood Heiges, the family physician, and the Rescue Squad had been battling nine hours to preserve the tiny spark of life last night at 11 o'clock when a bulletin reported that she was still about the same, her chances slim.

Dr. Teiges called the Rescue Squad when he found that no Maryland companies in nearby Montgomery County carried pulmotors or oxygen tanks.

The unceasing efforts of the firemen and the oxygen at first appeared to help the child, but as the first stimulating effects wore off, her breathing became weaker and she began slowly to sink. Hour after hour the big, gentle firemen put their heart and souls into the work, but their fight seemed a losing one at 11 o'clock.

In addition to the forced breathing, Dr. Heiges applied hot com-favored submission of a referendum on prohibition, was claiming the Republican nomination over Representative Louis C. Cramton, known as the dean of the House dry leaders.

A complete tabulation of the 194 precincts of the district which showed Cramton 75 votes ahead was questioned by Mr. Wolcott, and late today it was discovered that an error had been made in reporting the vote from Vassar Village in Tuscola County. Correction of this error gave Wolcott 25,630 votes and Cramton 25,515. An official count will be required to decide who was the winner.

Couzens Easy Winner.

These two districts furnished the principal fireworks in the congressional contests. In the face for the nomination for senator, Senator James Couzens strode to an easy victory over Chase S. Osborn, former governor. With 3,065 of the State's 3,317 precincts reported, Couzens had 481,282 votes and Osborn 214,372.

In the governorship race, Wilber M. Brucker, attorney general, defeated Alex J. Groesbeck by a margin of about 7,500. Mr. Brucker came into Detroit with a lead of 88,000, but the heavy metropolitan vote for Mr. Groesbeck shaved it down to a close race.

It was Detroit voters who assured Persons' victory over Hudson. The prohibition advocate led in out-State counties, but lost heavily in Detroit and its suburbs. Tabulation of 492 of the 690 precincts showed Person with 63,995 and Hudson with 53,470. Two others trailed.

Harris' Lead Grows.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 10 (A.P.).—The lead of United States Senator William J. Harris for renomination continued to grow with increasing returns from today's Democratic primary.

Returns from 111 of the 161 counties, 6 being complete, gave Senator Harris 294 counties, while his opponent, former Gov. John M. Slaton, of Atlanta, had only four county unit votes. The counties in which the senator was leading had a total unit vote of 4

Many of thees returns were incomplete, being largely from rural districts, where the polls closed early. The city precincts remained open until 7 o'clock and it was possible for more complete returns to change many of these counties.

Carswell Leads Race.

There are 414 county unit votes in Georgia, 208 being necessary for a choice.

George H. Carswell was leading in the race for governor in 29 counties, with a total unit vote of 80. John N. Holder was second, with 22 counties, total unit vote of 58.

E. D. Rivers was ahead in 20 counties with 42 unit votes, and Richard B. Russel, jr., was leading in 17 counties which also had total unit votes of 42. James A. Perry, the other candidate for governor, was in the lead in two counties which had a total unit vote of eight.

Long Majority 3,005.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 10 (A.P.). With only 27 scattered precincts over the State missing, Gov. Huey P. Long's majority over Senator Joseph E. Ransdell for the Democratic nomination to the United States Senate stood at 38,005.

These returns represented complete, unofficial figures from 54 of the 64 parishes in the State, the vote standing, Long 147,353; Ransdell 109,348.

Since last night when Gov. Long shot in front of Senator Ransdell after the early returns had given the senator a small lead, the governor has spread his margin on each additional return.

Three Long Men Lead.

On almost complete returns from the three congressional districts, where contests were held for the U. S. House of Representatives, the three Long candidates maintained their advantage gained on last night's returns.

In the First District Senator J. O. Fernandez, Long man, held a lead of 1,512 over Representatives James o'Connor, the vote with one precinct missing being Fernandez 24,937, O'Connor 23,425.

In the Second District Paul Maloney, New Orleans business man of the Long faction, held a majority of 1,788, the vote with seven precincts missing standing Maloney 24,440, representative J. Zach Spearing, incumbent 20,167, R. R. Rochester, Independent, 2,485.

In the Third District Representative Numa Montet retained his seat with Long support by a majority of 5,358, the vote being on complete returns, Montet 13,481, Clarence J. Bourg, of the Ransdell faction, 8123.

Wet Wins in Washington.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Ralph A. Horr, who led the fight which put a wet plank in the State Republican platform recently, defeated John F. Miller, Seattle, First District Republican representative for seven terms, latest primary election returns showed tonight.

Lin H. Hadley, veteran member of the House ways and means committee, candidate for his ninth term from the Second District, was leading Payson Peterson, a newcomer, who made a sensational campaign as leader of the young Republican element, by 832 votes, with 523 of the 581 precincts giving Hadley 17,486 to 16,544 for Peterson. The nominee will be unopposed in thte final election.

Albert Johnson was assured of his tenth term in Congress by defeating John T. McCutcheon by a 5,472 plurality in the Third District, where 641 of 673 precincts gave Johnson 35,907 votes to 30,435 for McCutcheon.

Symons Beats Adkinson.

Horr defeated Miller by 3,728 votes, with 456 of 460 precincts in the Seattle area giving him 32,400 votes to 28,672 for Miller. Charles G. Feifner, also wet, was unopposed on the Democratic ticket.

T. W. Symons was assured of victory over J. Loyal Adkinson for the Republican nomination in the Fifth District. Out of 542 precincts 461 gave him 14,998 to 12,924 for Adkinson, to decide the election day opponent for Samuel B. Hill, Democrat, who has served four terms at Washington.

John W. Summers, Republican, was unopposed in either party for his seventh term from the Fourth District.

U. S. Sailors' Bodies Transported From Haiti

Port au Prince, Haiti, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—The bodies of six American Marines today were removed from Port au Prince Cemetery by order of the Secretary of the Navy and taken with military honors to a Navy transport which will carry them back to the United States.

The bodies will be reintered in Arlington National Cemetery.

Auto Larceny Charged In Special Indictment

In an effort to bring Larry Mason to Washington from Oklahoma City, Okla., the District of Columbia grand jury returned a special indictment charging the man with larceny after trust and grand larceny in connection with the alleged removal of an automobile from this city to that.

The indictment is in two counts. One charges that Mason was allowed the use of an automobile by his employers, Joshua B. Nicholson and Mrs. Clara Nicholson, of 1422 N street northwest, and that on June 12 he drove the car from Washington and converted it to his own use. The other count charges the man with the theft of the machine.

DAUGHERTY TO FACE BANKRUPTCY PLEA

INABILITY TO PAY CITED

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—An involuntary petition in bankruptcy against Mal S. Daugherty, former Washington Court House banker and brother of former United States Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, will be filed in Federal court here tomorrow by Attorney General Gilbert Bettman of Ohio on behalf of State Superintendent of Banks O. C. Gray, it was announced tonight.

The petition lists claims totaling $77,237.51, of which $52,100 is for promissory notes to the Ohio State Bank of Washington Court House, now defunct, and $25,000 for promissory notes to the Peoples & Drovers Bank of Washington Court House, also defunct.

Mr. Daugherty was president of the Ohio State Bank. Claims of the notes were listed by Mr. Gray, who is in charge of liquidation of the two banks. The Ohio State Bank failed on May 12, and the Peoples & Drovers Bank closed several weeks earlier.

Glenn M. Pine, of Washington Court House, is a third petitioner, who claims Mr. Daugherty owes him $537.51.

The petition prepared for filing alleges that Mr. Daugherty has admitted in writing that he was unable to pay his debts and has consented to be adjudged a bankrupt on that ground. He owns 705 shares of stock of the Ohio State Bank upon which he will be liable for assessment of double liability, the attorney general said.

Huey Long Not to Assume Seat in Senate Till 1932

Greatest Power in Louisiana May Even Refuse to Apply; Afraid to Leave State Now, for Machine Would Collapse at Once.

New Orleans, Sept. 10 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The nomination of Gov. Huey P. Long for United States senator does not mean he will take his seat. There is a widespread belief in Louisiana that he will never even apply for the seat. And if this opinion is wrong, it may be held a certainty that he will not appear in Washington until May or June, 1932. The governor himself said so.

Gov. Long is master of Louisiana. Since taking office he has subjugated almost every board, bureau and department of the government. This is not a matter of dispute. Every one knows it. He boasts of it. It was this control of the greatest patronages any man in the State ever had that did much to win him the nomination.

But the moment Huey Long crosses the border of Louisiana his machine will be blown to bits. Lieut. Gov. Paul Cyr will become chief executive and the hatred between the two men is bitter.

"If you want to see the Long boys leaving the capitol if ever I'm governor you'll have to come in airplanes," Cry says. No one doubts that he would dismiss every Long appointee in a moment.

The curious weakness of the governor's position is that he has had to leave his organization vulnerable in order to have complete control of it. He has arranged that as many as possible of his appointees should be removable at the governor's call.

Long, therefore, will not leave the State until his and Cyr's terms expire in 1932. His hope is to elect in the interval a successor amenable to his will, or, as some say, to prolong his term by calling a constitutional convention.

Amassing of such power as he has—it is greater than any other governor ever wielded—and the methods by which he did it, are characteristic of Long. From his first appearance in politics he has ben a direct actionist. The courts have hid time and again that his objectives were unconstitutional and his methods illegal, but no stop has ben put to his operations.

Gov. Long had a majority in the legislature. He boasted the members were "his pack of cards to shuffle at will." He forced through, despite growing opposition, the free school bock bill and a $20,000,000 bond issue for having increased expenditures in most departments and by one means or another got control of every important board and department.

His personal conduct as much as his political acts led to his impeachment on seven charges, but since they were voted after the prescribed end of the session, he got fifteen snators to dclare they would not convict him, regardless of the evidence. This left less than the two-thirds neded to convict, so he went free.

In the last session, Long proposed to float a $86,000,000 bond issue for roads. The charge that he had squandered the first isue for political gain mustered enough votes to defeat the bill, and he sought to apeal to the people through a constitutional convention. Opposition to this proposal was even greater and he declared good roads the only issue and ran for the Senate, saying that his election would be a mandate o nthe new bond issue.

The nomination is not expected to bring tranquility to Louisiana. Many familiar with the plans of both sides predict that the events of the next few months will make those of the past two years seem mild and orderly.

Truck Driver Injured.

When the truck on which he was riding struck a turtleback in the street at Connecticutt avenue and Brandywine street, James Hedgeman, colored, 35 years old, of 1221 Girard street northwest, was thrown to the street. He suffered lacerations of the scalp and a possible fractured skull, according to doctors at Emergency Hospital, where he was treated. His condition is undetermined and he remained at the hospital.

DEATH OF MANDLE ADJUDGED SUICIDE

WIFE, CHILD WERE AWAY

A certificate of suicide was issued yesterday in the death of Morris Mandle, who was found in his gas-filled office at 3301 K street northwest. Mandle, who was treasurer of the Guggenheim Co. at the K street address, had turned on a gas heater, after apparently placing burlap over the jamb of the door.

Mandle's body was found early yesterday morning by a janitor of the plant, which manufactures ginger ale. No motive for the suicide could be discovered.

The suicide victim lived at Woodley Park Towers. His wife, Mrs. Babette Mandle, and his 4-year-old daughter, Margery, were at a summer resort on Long Island.

Mandle was not depressed, salesmen of the firm told police, and seemed in excellent humor when they left him the night before his body was found. Acting Coroner Joseph D. Rogers issued the suicide certificate.

Woman Asks $20,000 For Automobile Injury

Mamie S. Baker, of 120 C street northeast, filed suit yesterday in District Supreme Court against Julia G. Alexander, of 216 Nineteenth street northwest, seeking to recover $20,000 for injuries alleged to have suffered when struck down August 8 by the latter's automobile.

The plaintiff states that she was crossing Pennsylvania avenue at Thirteenth street when the automobile operated by the defendant felled her, inflicting permanent injuries. Negligence is alleged. Attorney Richard A. Harmon appears for the plaintiff.

WET 'MENACE' RISES IN PRIMARY BALLOTS

LONG VICTORY SURPRISE

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

Political seismographs yesterday recorded such major disturbances over wide areas in Tuesday's primaries as to cause cold shivers to race up political men's backs.

After the fairly static condition revealed in the primaries heretofore, the sudden turning over of the established order in many States took on the proportions of a political storm.

The wet menace arose to slap down one veteran dry in Michigan, maybe another one in the same State, to smite down an equally prominent dry in far-away Washington, and scare another one almost to death in Colorado, to give the Republicans the one senatorial candidate who did not have the indorsement of the Anti-saloon League.

Roosevelt Breaks Silence.

On top of this came the word from the heretofore very silent Gov. Roosevelt of New York that he was definitely wet, and from Maurice Maschke, a Republican national committeeman from Ohio, that at today's Republican State convention in Ohio he would precipitate a wet and dry fight.

The wet victories were as spectacular as were the defeats of Senator Blease in South Carolina and the veteran Senator Ransdell in Louisiana. It was such as the defeat of the veteran Ransdell that gave the politicians pause, and in New Hampshire, the redoubtable Senator George H. Moses took such a political wallop on the nose as may affect him in 1932.

There was only one thing that the drys could point to, and that without any pride. That was the nomination for Congress by the Vermont Republicans of Gov. Weeks, a pronounced dry. But his two wet opponents polled a combined higher vote.

Hudson Falls Before Wets.

It was Representative Grant M. Hudson who felt the wrath of the Michigan wets. He has been an introducer of bills for the Antisaloon League for years. And there has not been a more convincing antisaloon talker than his colleague, Representative Crampton, about whom a recount will probably be necessary to determine how he fared against his wet opponent.

If he should finally be determined the winner he will come back to Congress a very chastened man.

Out in Washington, where the handwriting on the wall appeared some time ago when both parties adopted wet platforms, Representative Ralph F. Miller, who took the attitude that the Republican convention did not know what it was talking about, lost to his wet opponent, Ralph A. Horr. The veteran chairman of the House immigration committee, Representative Albert Johnson, suffered a scare but apparently survived the wet wave.

Not Wet Victory.

The victory in the Republican senatorial primary in Colorado of George H. Shaw over William V. Hodges and a field can not be credited a wet victory. The Antisaloon League would not indorse Shaw, but it was disclosed that Hodges had bought stock in a mining enterprise promoted by the league's superintendent. The campaign, however, turned more on a bitter factional fight, which augurs well for the Democrats in November with their candidate, Edward P. Costigan.

Senator George Moses' setback came with the victory in the New Hampshire Republican gubernatorial primary of former Gov. Winant, whom the senator has long fought. Mr. Winant, in fact, broke the tradition that New Hampshire governors serve only one term. It is generally believed that he will oppose Moses in 1932.

The overwhelming victory of Senator Couzens in Michigan speaks well for "independence" in the Senate and, too, the senator is a mild wet. His opponent, former Gov. Osborn, made as much of his wetness and irregularity as he could in the campaign.

Ransdell Defeat Surprise.

The extent of Ransdell's defeat in Louisiana was at least a surprise. The rabble rouser, Gov. Huey Long, even ran him close in New Orleans. Senator Ransdell voted with the Republicans all the way through on the tariff and presumably this had its part in the revolution of the "common people," to whom Gov. Long appealed. He did it in the face of opposition from every daily newspaper in the State, too.

The significance attached to Maschke's statement in Cleveland is only that he is apparently being emboldened by the trend to make trouble in his party's convention. He has always been a wet. Both the party's gubernatorial and senatorial canidates in Ohio are dry.

Just why Gov. Roosevelt selected yesterday for his pronouncement is not known. The impression has been that the governor would have preferred to remain silent on prohibition with a view to not being considered so wet in 1932. His wife is an active prohibitionist and since he has been governor her activities have increased rather than lessened.

This, with the governor's silence, tended to sort of unwet him.

But the situation in New York is shaping up to preclude the Democratic walkaway that had been anticipated and it may be that the governor decided he had better look first to being reelected governor instead of to 1932. There are some grounds for the belief, too, that former Gov. Smith insisted that there be no straddling on the wet and dry issue.

FOES OF LONG LOSE ON HABEAS CORPUS

EVIDENCE CALLED WEAK

New Orleans, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Judge Wayne G. Borah today dismissed an application for a writ of habeas corpus for delivery of James Terrell and Sam Irby into open court after their disappearance last Thursday from a hotel in Shreveport, where they had gone with the announced intention of suing Gov. Huey P. Long for slander.

Dismissal came after Irby appeared in court and requested that the case be dropped, saying that he had not been held in custody, but had been arrested at his own request. He said he had seen James Terrell today as he left for his home in Eldorado, Ark.

The judge dismissed the case soon after Gov. Huey P. Long, who had been accused of a conspiracy to kidnap the men, said that he had obtained a signed statement from Irby and Terrell in which they requested dismissal of the habeas corpus proceedings. The statement previously had been presented as evidence in court.

Gov. Long Testifies.

Irby testified on the stand that he and Terrell had been at Grand Isle, a remote island off the Louisiana coast, since they disappeared.

Gov. Long testified that on Tuesday night he saw Irby and James Terrell and got from them the signed statement. He said he saw them sign the statement.

Under questioning by his attorney, Hugh Wilkinson, Irby said, James Terrell had written a note to his brother.

The statement read to the court by Attorney Wilkinson, who declared it, was signed by Irby and Wilkinson, said they had submitted voluntarily to arrest in Shreveport and wanted to be taken to Jefferson parish and held in custody until after the election and until "all this notoriety had passed over."

Testimony by Irby.

Later under cross-examination by Assistant Attorney General E. R. Schowalter, who brought the habeas corpus proceedings, Irby testified that he was taken into custody on his own request.

Defense counsel sought to have the case dropped, declaring that an application for writ of habeas corpus "falls when a man named in the writ comes into court and informs the court he is not restrained."

Irby told the court he had not been offered any money to testify.

Judge Borah said that he refused the writ of habeas corpus "because of lack of evidence."

BIG PARADE IS PLANEND

Warsaw, Poland, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Shouting crowds milled in the streets today as Marshal Joseph Pilsudski, prime minister, minister of war, and "strong man" of Poland, began a political struggle with the opposition party in the Chamber of Deputies.

The first round was taken by Marshal Pilsudski, who caused the incarceration of former Premier Witos and seventeen former deputies in the Parliament. Political observers said this coup tended to paralyze the opposition's campaign in the elections set for November 16. They said the opposition would speedily be rendered helpless if such arrests continued.

Opposition Is Stunned.

At first the opposition was stunned by the blow, but they recovered speedily. They first protested to the minister of justice that the arrests were illegal, inasmuch as the law permits such incarcerations only by order of the court. The minister replied that he was sorry, but could do nothing because the authorities had gone over his head in the matter.

Failing in this move, members of the opposition began public protests in Warsaw's streets. Small crowds paraded, singing radical songs and shouting "Down with Pilsudski." Preparations were started for a big demonstration to be staged next Saturday.

Deputies Then Saved.

Among those arrested were the organizers of the summer opposition congress in Cracow, at which resolutions were adopted attacking Marshal Pilsudski. The government began investigation on the theory that these resolutions were revolutionary, but parliamentary immunity of the deputies saved them from arrest for the time being.

War Vets' G.O.P. Club Will Meet October 10

Delegates from 27 States are expected to attend a meeting of the War Veterans' Republican Club here on October 10, at which time officers for the ensuing year will be elected, and national policies adopted. The meeting has been called by Lieut. Charles Riemer, national secretary.

Interest will center on the efforts of President Charles E. Morganston to be reelected. Capt. D. B. Guynn, of Pittsburgh, one of the vice presidents, is also expected to meet considerable opposition in his race for reelection.

G. O. P. SAYS RASKOB UNDERWRITES PARTY

Fletcher, Answering Tilson, Ridicules Republican Hopes in Florida.

SKIRMISH IN PRESS WAR

The statement-making battle between the publicity offices of the Republican and Democratic national committees yesterday brought forth a Republican accusation that the Democratic office here is the "personally underwritten organization of Mr. John J. Raskob," while the Democrats countered with a declaration ridiculing Republican hopes of making progress in Florida.

Representative John Q. Tilson (Republican), Connecticut, Republican House leader, was the mouthpiece yesterday for his national committee and he was quoted as saying that:

"If any evidence were needed to support my declaration that the Democratic national organization is the personally underwritten organization of Mr. John J. Raskob, Mr. James W. Kerard, treasurer of the Democratic national committee, furnished it in his latest report, under oath, to the clerk of the House of Representatives covering the activities of the committee for the three months ended August 31, 1930. This report shows that from June 1, 1930, to August 31, 1930, Mr. Raskob financed the Democratic organization almost alone. During that time he advanced a total of $40,000, while all other contributions listed in the treasurer's report totaled $150."

This condition, according to Mr. Tilson, bears out the statements made recently in a magazine article by Mr. Frank Kent, whom Mr. Tilson describes as a "nationally known Democratic journalist."

Senator Fletcher (Democrat), Florida, speaking through the Democratic publicity office, recalled the recent statement sponsored by Mrs. Ellis A. Yost, director of the women's division of the Republican national committee, expressind the hope that Republicans will hold the gains they made in Florida in 1928.

"If there is as little foundation for the claim of Republican leaders that they will hold their present majority in Congress as there is for the optimism of the Republican national committeewoman of Florida in regard to that State, there must be really scant comfort in the situation for them," Mr. Fletcher commented.

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

IT is not as much as we had hoped for, of course, but no one should gainsay the advantage in a swap of Messrs. J. Tom Heflin and Coley L. Blease for Huey Long. Blease has gone, and only a miracle can save Heflin, but Huey comes to us in exchange.

It is, of course, a disappointment that we will get him, but then one can not have everything the way he wants. Had Huey not won, it would have been the first time in as much history as we can recall that the South did not have at least one up here given to freakish actions.

Going back to the earlier days of Pitchfork Ben Tillman—he tamed down considerably in later years—there has always been some clown from the South—Tom Watson, Heflin, Blease or somebody of the same stripe. This year did seem to be the South's opportunity for a clean slate; but, as I said before, the elimination of Blease and Heflin and just Huey in their place is a sign of progress—there is no escaping that.

* * * *

NOW, instead of lamenting Huey's coming, we should face the fact and be prepared to deal with him.

After all, we are not entirely blameless for the carryings on of Heflin and Blease. At first we thought they were cute and laughed at them. We didn't see the harm in them then.

As a result, when we tired of laughing at them they had been irredeemably spoiled. Both Heflin and Blease have been considerably toned down, but they are far from being reformed.

* * * *

WE should start out right with Huey and he won't be hard to tame at all.

When everything is said and done it is one thing to run wild in Louisiana and an entirely different thing to try that here. We are the big leagues and if this recruit is just handled right there is no reason why he should not be kept in hand.

For one thing, when he appears in the Senate in green pajamas which reports from Louisiana intimate he is quite apt to do, no one should laugh. If one is inclined to, he should just remember what laughing at Heflin and Blease caused.

* * * *

EVERY one of Huey's clownish tactics should be greeted with sort of a cold indifference, that very effective expression that is a blending of a surprised tolerance and a stare.

When he says anything to you, give him an impatient ear and turn immediately to some one else with an entirely different subject. Turn back to him if he continues talking, but every time there is a pause in his remarks turn quickly to the other person with the different subject.

We ought to give Huey, in short, a mind-over-matter chastisement. Look at him sometimes sympathetically and shake your head sorrowfully. If we keep it up long enough Huey will be suing us for a divorce on the grounds of mental cruelty.

ROOSEVELT FAVORS REPEAL OF DRY LAW; RAPS SALOONS

the moment he took office on New Year's Day, 1929.

The announcement was regarded with special interest in view of the frequent recent mentioning of his name in connection with the presidential candidacy for 1932. Although the governor has refused to comment or even indicate indirectly his intention to run for reelection this fall, such action has generally been presumed by both members of his party and Republicans. His statement of attitude precedes any possible similar statement by a Republican gubernatorial candidate, since the man most prominently mentioned by Republicans, United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle, also has refrained from committing himself either on the candidacy or the subject of prohibition.

Connecticut Democrats Hit Hoover.

Eastern Point, Conn., Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Full responsibility for the Nation's economic ills was placed upon the Republican party tonight by Homer S. Cummings, former chairman of the Democratic national committee, in delivering the keynote address at the opening of the Democratic State convention here.

Mr. Cummings, in reviewing nine years of Republican rule, which he found "tainted with corruption," said that the party in power had failed to redeem campaign pledges, and he urged a sweeping change of regime.

The new tariff law, he asserted, "has increased the burden upon the back of the taxpayer; it has impaired the purchasing power of the farmer; it has dealt industry a staggering blow at a period when it could least endure it; and has produced ominous reverberations in every country with which we had built up a friendly relationship and a favorable trade balance."

Yale Professor to Run.

General prosperity, he said, does not depend on continued Republican rule. He asserted that the time had come "when the assumption of superior wisdom by Republican leaders as to business and finance should give place to a little real humility."

The convention tomorrow will adopt a platform and name a State ticket. Prof. Wilbur L. Cross, who retired July 1 as dean of Yale graduate school, will be named for governor.

The platform, which was prepared by a subcommittee tonight, will meet the views of the nominee in that it will demand repeal of the eighteenth amendment, assert that unemployment is the most vital issue at this time, and condemns tariff legislation. The greater part of the resolutions will deal with State issues.

Taxi Association Sued for $20,000

Partnership Liability Is Claimed by Women in Auto Crash.

Charging that the Independent Taxi Owners Association and its officers are partners and are liable for negligence on the part of anyone of them or their agents, Mary G. Keyes and Mrs. Margaret D. Stokes, both of 4449 Greenwich Parkway, Foxhall Village, filed suit yesterday in District Supreme Court seeking to recover $10,000 damages each for injuries alleged to have been suffered in an accident last March 20.

The women, in addition to naming the association as a defendant, also designate officers of the association and the alleged owner and operator of the taxicab. Individuals named are: Edward O. Turner, of 710 Tuckerman street northwest; Harry C. Davis, of 489 H street southwest; Andrew W. Manger, of 2114 N street northwest, and Vernon W. Kidwell, of 1735 Fourteenth street northwest.

Both women state that they were passengers in a cab which collided at New Hampshire avenue and Q street northwest with another automobile. Theory of action against the Independent Taxi Owners Association and its officers is based on the principle of partnership liability, according to which one partner is liable for the negligence of the other partner, if incurred in the business of the enterprise.

Debts Will Be Paid, Despite Hurricane

Dominican Executive Wires Legation Obligations to Be Fulfilled.

(Associated Press.)

President Rafael Trujillo of Dominican Republic telegraphed that country's legation yesterday that the international debt obligations of the republic would "be fulfilled with strict punctuality" despite the hurricane which devastated Santo Domingo.

The President said he had heard that Norman L. Ormes, the acting receiving general of customs under the United States-Dominican treaty, was planning to suggest to the State Department in Washington that it consider the necessity of a moratorium in favor of the Dominican Government because of the possibility of reduced customs receipts.

"I had an interview with Mr. Ormes," said the President, "and stated to him as follows: That I have the firmest intention of seeing that the service of our debt be fulfilled with strict punctuality, and assured him that whatever may be the obstacles, this service shall not suffer the slightest disturbance." The Republic's debt is about $20,000,000.

Lieut. G. W. Lauten Marries Miss Nan

Wedding of Veteran Police Officer Comes as Surprise to Colleagues.

Without mentioning it to his colleagues of the Ninth Precinct, Lieut. Gustavus W. Lauten yesterday morning took unto himself a bride and went off for a brief honeymoon at Virginia Beach. In a modest ceremony at 6 o'clock yesterday morning in the Shrine of the Sacred Heart he married Miss Rosa M. Nan.

The couple was married by the Rev. Joseph M. Moran, of that church. Only a few persons were present at the wedding. The news of the wedding of the lieutenant, who gave his age as 54, was a distinct surprise to the men stationed at the Ninth Precinct. They knew that he had asked for eleven days' leave, but he had left them in the dark as to what he meant to do in that time.

A call to the lieutenant's address at 1912 Park road brought forth the news that he had gone to the Virginia resort, but no one there seemed to know whether the couple would continue to live there on their return to the city.

British Seamen's Work Aids in Preventing Epidemic; U. S. Planes on Way.

NO DISORDERS IN CAPITAL

Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Sailors from the British cruiser Danae came ashore this afternoon, adopted the role of "White Wings" and, before night had made a decided change in the appearance of the streets of this hurricane-stricken city.

Clad in white and wearing their regulation cork helmets, the seamen were assigned in squads to direct the work by local labor. They quickly tired of the part of directors, pitched in and moved vast amounts of the accumulated refuse which has been threatening to cause a serious epidemic.

The tropical heat soon caused the tars to become begrimed, but did not halt their labors, while their junior officers, as bosses, remained spotless and natty.

The technical personnel of the Danae carried on its survey of the transportation needs of the vicinity particularly regarding destroyed bridges and communications service so that repairs might be facilitated.

All of the Danae's medical supplies above those actually needed for an emergency were turned over to the medical committee and all surplus food on board was given to President Trujillo and the American relief committee.

The coming of American Marines to join in the cleaning work, as requested by the President, tonight seemed uncertain.

There has been almost no disorder. None of an organized nature has occurred, although there has been pilfering of relief stores and other foodstuffs, but practically no looting.

Late today the United States ship Grebe sailed with 75 Porto Rican refugees for San Juan. Maj. Cary I. Crockett, Gov. Theodore Roosevelt's personal aid, who came here first to make a quick survey and report to the governor and Red Cross and who stayed to aid in the organization and handling of relief supplies, sailed on the Grebe.

Held back by thick weather, the three naval transport planes carrying medical supplies to the victims of the hurricane that devastated Santo Domingo are making slow time down the coast.

The Navy Department was advised yesterday that the planes arrived at Sumter, S. C., from Fort Bragg, N. C., at 8 a. m. and took off for Jacksonville, Fla., at 12:30 p. m. The expectation was that if weather conditions improved the three pilots would hop off at Miami for Havana and Port au Prince early this morning.

Meanwhile the destroyer Gilmer has sailed for Santo Domingo City, having left the naval operating base, Hampton Roads, at 9:15 a. m., carrying additional medical supplies. The Gilmer is proceeding at moderate speed and is due to arrive at her destination early Saturday morning. The distance to be covered is 1,230 nautical miles.

On board the Gilmer is Maj. Thomas F. Watson, U. S. Marine Corps, who was yesterday appointed naval attache to the American Legation in Santo Domingo. Maj. Watson served with the U. S. Marines in that country from 1916 to 1919 and in July, 1920, returned to the island for duty with the Guardia Nacional. He will assist in relief work in Santo Domingo, his acquaintance with the people and familiarity with the country peculiarly fitting him for this work.

Officials of the Navy Department considered the advisability of loading the airship Los Angeles with medical supplies for Santo Domingo, but vetoed the project chiefly on the theory that the big ship would be very hard to handle without any trained ground personnel and that airplanes and fast surface craft would better serve the purpose. The possibility of further hurricanes developing also was a factor in the decision not to use the Los Angeles.

Church Conclave Today in Staunton

150 First United Brethren Congregations Will Be Represented.

Staunton, Va., Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Officials of the First United Brethren Church, to meet here in annual convention tomorrow, said that despite prolonged drought in the valley, they hope convention reports will show steady gains in membership, collections and offerings for virtually all agencies sponsored by the denomination.

More than 150 congregations were expected to be represented at the opening of the four-day session of the 131st annual meeting of the church, to be convened by Bishop G. T. Batdorf, of Harrisburg, Pa.

Statistical reports of last year showed the conference had 18,948 members on its rolls, 3,312 Christian Endeavor Societies, 15,817 Sunday School members, and 1,090 members of Women's Missionary Societies. Church buildings were valued at $942,935, and parsonage property at $143,500.

CONTROL OF PLANT PESTS IS PLANNED

Delegates to International Forestry Conference Exchange Views.

RECEIVED BY PRESIDENT

(Associated Press.)

Control of plant pests, forest preservation and surveys of range lands and soils in countries of the Western Hemisphere were deliberated upon yesterday by specialists attending the first inter-American conference on agriculture, forestry and animal industry.

Pausing only long enough to be received at the White House by President Hoover at noon, more than 150 representatives of nearly all the Latin-American republics and the United States concentrated in round-table discussions upon these and other problems which they assembled here this week to attack from an international standpoint.

Resolutions Introduced.

Several resolutions introduced in open session, in addition to others submitted directly to the committee whose task it is to evolve definite inter-American projects on which the conference may act, were indicative of the progress of the congress toward its goal of formulating means for Pan American cooperation in the agricultural field.

A survey in various countries of insect pests, control of which was discussed at yesterday's closing session, and publication of a catalog of dangerous insects for guidance of regions likely to be affected were proposed, as was a similar survey of plant pests, to be conducted by field men traveling throughout areas involved to gather data for the benefit of all countries.

Developments of principles of management of stock range land would be effected by a survey to be worked out by the Pan-American Union, under another resolution before the committee, and another seeks establishment of a commission on soils in the Union for the purpose of standardizing reporting methods on soil survey information.

Forestry Survey Work.

Forestry survey work likewise would be coordinated through the establishment of a committee in the union, and another proposal asks to have each country investigate economical utilization of timber and systematic testing of American woods either by a forestry office in the Pan-American Union or by a special international committee.

Forestation, which promises to occupy an important place throughout the conference, also has prompted other formal suggestions for establishment of a cooperative organization for silvicultural research.

Animal industry and agronomy problems likewise are expected to receive active interest by the agriculturists. The Argentine delegation particularly has expressed its interest in the animal industry phase and in consideration of small grains.

Salisbury, N. C., Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Establishment of a $100,000 home for elderly dependent persons, was voted today by the Potomac Synod of the Reformed Church in America. Funds for the home were given the synod under the will of the late George C. Pearson, of Cavetown, Md. Selection of a site for the building was postponed.

The elders association of the synod elected Dr. M. Franklin Meyer, Washington, D. C., president, and Dr. Otto Schmidt, Baltimore, vice president. A. L. McCarle, Frederick, Md., was elected secretary.

The synod today adopted a resolution opposing referenda on the repeal of prohibition. The resolution also pledged the synod to "help elect men to public office who are friends of prohibition," and asserted the present force of prohibition enforcement agents was inadequate.

GRANDI QUITS CHAIR AT LEAGUE SESSION

Action of Italian Foreign Minister Is Cause of Geneva Sensation.

NO EXPLANATION GIVEN

Geneva, Switzerland, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—The League of Nations assembly celebrated the opening of its eleventh annual session today with accustomed formality, but the spotlight of real popular interest played upon an empty chair.

This chair was abandoned by Dino Grandi, Il Duce's foreign minister, and its emptiness created something of a sensation among delegates and international observers. On the eve of a definite explanation by Foreign Minister Briand, of France, of his "United States of Europe" plan, which he is scheduled to deliver tomorrow before the assembly, Signor Grandi suddenly canceled all his engagements and returned to Rome.

His automobile sped away from Geneva just an hour before the assembly session was opened by Cesar Zumeta, of Venezuela, president of the league council and ex-officio temporary chairman of the assembly.

Nothing Strange, Say Italians.

His departure came as a surprise despite the fact that Italian quarters already had indicated he would not remain long in Geneva. The Italians insisted tonight there was nothing strange in the absence of their chief. They said he had left because he had business demanding his attention in Rome.

Delegates asked one another if Signor Grandi's precipitate leave-taking of his colleagues had any connection with slow progress of the negotiations betwen France and Italy over their naval differences, left pending by the London Naval Conference.

All the explanations offered failed to satisfy the prevailing curiosity. Signor Grandi merely came to the while, the election of Nicholas Tituwhile, the election of Nitcholas Titulescu, general Roumanian Minister to London, to the presidency of the assembly, cleared the decks for M. Briand's long-awaited declaration upon his hopes and plans for the future of the European federation idea.

Henderson Is Vice President.

The assembly elected as its vice presidents today Arthur Henderson, of England; Tsuneo Matsudaira, of Japan; Foreign Minister Briand of France, Foreign Minister Curtius of Germany, Quinones de Leon, of Spain, and Costa de Reis, of Bolivia.

Senator Sciajola, present head of the Italian delegation, was made chairman of the first committee dealing with juridical question; Hendrik Colijn of Holland, president of the economic committee, and Nicholas Politis, of Greece, president of the disarmament committee, succeeding Foreign Minister Benes, of Czechoslovakia. Carton de Wiait, of Belgium, heads the finance committee.

The Countess Apponyi, of Hungary, wife of the statesman, is president of the committee on social and humanitarian questions. Sir Robert Borden, of Canada, was made chief of the political committee.

Noone Accepts Nomination As Senator and Governor

New Hampshire Man Says That If He Is Elected to Both Posts He Will Serve as State Chief for Some Time Before Qualifying for Senate Seat.

Concord, N. H., Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Albert W. Noone, 84-year-old Peterboro manufacturer, who furnished a problem to political experts by his unprecedented nomination in yesterday's primary as the Democratic candidate for the United States Senate and the governorship, today said he would not yield either of the honors.

While complete returns were not tabulated tonight, there appeared little chance that Noone would not oppose former Gov. John G. Winant, the Republican gubernatorial nominee, and United States Senator Henry W. Keyes in the November election. In 269 of the 294 districts Mr. Noone received 3,617 votes against 3,389 for Frederick E. Small, of Rochester, for the gubernatorial nomination. For senator, Mr. Noone got 3,423 votes in 203 districts against 2,704 for Amos N. Bloandin, of Bath.

"I will stay in the field, Mr. Noone said, "because when I entered I intended to win both places. I want to go to the United States Senate because I am dripping wet.

"If I am elected to the offices of governor and United States senator I do not intend to qualify as the latter until I have had a chance to serve in the governor's chair and put into effect some of my economy theories in legislation. For one thing, I intend to turn back into the State treasury my pay checks as chief executive."

Barbara Walker, of Fourteenth street northwest between H and I streets, was arraigned in Police Court yesterday on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon in connection with the shooting Sunday night of Russell Prince. Judge Gus A. Schuldt continued the hearing for one week pending the outcome of Prince's injuries.

Judge Schuldt fixed bond in the case at $1,000. The woman was indicted yesterday in a liquor law charge, and at the time of the alleged shooting was at liberty under bond of $3,500. The shooting is said to have resulted during a scramble for a pistol.

Wife of Prohibition Employe Asks Divorce

Marital difficulties of two employes of the prohibition unit of the Department of Justice were aired yesterday in District Supreme Court when Agnes C. Gant, of H street northwest near Twentieth street, filed suit seeking limited divorce and alimony from Fred R. Gant, of Seventh street northwest near Jefferson street.

The couple, according to the wife, married July 3, 1920, at La Plata, Md. In 1927, she states, due to his occupation as a prohibition agent Gant was compelled to leave the District and they entered into a separation agreement by which she was to receive $100 a month. In April of this year, however, the wife asserts the payments ceased. Ill health alleged to have been caused by her marriage is given as the grounds for the divorce action. Attorney Harlan Wood appears for the wife.

ALL EXCEPT FARES ASSAIL FLAT-RATE TAXIS AT MEETNG

One Witness, Regular Rider, Opposes Change Before Utilities Commission.

FEDERAL WORKERS RUN HACKS IN SPARE HOURS

Union Official Favors Return of Meters; Discrepancies in Zones Charged.

Everybody but the representatives of the taxicab-riding public took a rap at the flat-rate taxicab business at the meeting in the boardroom in the District Building yesterday between the Public Utilities Commission and representatives of owners and operators of the taxicabs and the street car companies.

B. W. Kennedy, a clerk of the House, took the stand toward the close of a day of testimony and examination, and warned the Utilities Commission that the people of Washington do not want it to plaster more laws and regulations on the law books.

"I have been reading much about the terrible congestion of the streets of the city due to the increased number of taxicabs and I am wondering if there is not a motive behind this agitation," Mr. Kennedy said.

"The taxicab service in Washington is better today than ever before and the people of Washington are satisfied. We have too many laws, too many regulations and we do not want any more. Give the man who wants to operate his cab a chance to do business on a flat rate basis if he wants to."

Bemoans Paucity of Tips.

Mr. Kennedy said that he had ridden in taxicabs from the Capitol to his home on Fairmont street for years and that the present 35-cent flat-rate cabs were cheaper than meter cabs, although he always gave the driver a 15-cent tip. Thereupon a driver behind him jumped to his feet and with suppressed excitement declared:

"You say you always give the driver a 15-cent tip? Well, I want to tell you that yesterday I took one lady on a trip of 6½ miles and she gave me exactly 35 cents. Yesterday I had fifteen trips and I got exactly 45 cents in tips."

William McK. Clayton, chairman of the public utilities committee of the Federation of Citizens' Associations, put into the record of the hearing, through questions asked various witnesses, several statements that the cab-riding public liked the cheaper taxicab rates and thousands of persons were now riding cabs who did not ride before rates were reduced and they had to travel on the meter instead of at a flat rate, the sum of which they could ascertain from the driver before they entered the cab.

Two Sets of Tags.

Sergt. J. D. Harrington, hack inspector, was another witness. He gave warning to the taxicab operators that an increasingly stringent inspection of taxicabs was in prospect and that no cab would be licensed in December this year until it had been given a careful mechanical inspection. The Traffic Bureau, Sergt. Harrington said, was determined to keep "dangerous old wrecks" off the streets if it could.

One of the most surprising statements made by Sergt. Harrington was that, despite the requirements about addresses and identity of persons applying for licenses, it was difficult and sometimes impossible to find the cabs of "companies" which had received hacking license tags.

Another was that under the law it is possible for a person to get two sets of tags for the same automobile, one a private license tag, such as is used by the ordinary individual, and the other a set of "H" or hacking tags for use on the same automobile when the owner desires to carry passengers for hire.

Hack in Spare Time.

Many Government workers and others, it was testified, have entered the taxicab business at night, when they have finished their regular work, in competition with the professional taxicab drivers and owners. Some of these, Sergt. Harrington said in commenting on the need for compulsory insurance, frankly admit that they are unable to pay for their automobiles and take up hacking to get the needed extra money.

The taxicab owners and drivers were bitter in many instances against the 35-cent flat rate. Other owners were bitterly opposed to any regulation requiring them to install meters, declaring that the cost of the meters would be prohibitive, and they could hardly make ends meet now.

In general, the song of the taxicab men was one of poverty and distress because of the fierce competition and the dearth of loose-handed patrons.

Union Wants Meters.

Charles H. Lettow, representing Local, No. 169, of the Cab Drivers Union, declared that the union strongly favored a return to meter cabs. Under the flat rate, Mr. Lettow said, owners have no check on their drivers, and many drivers are rapidly becoming thieves. He said the present zone system was inefficient because of the varying zones of the different companies and the ignorance of the public.

Vice Chairman Harleigh H. Hartman, of the commission, agreed with this, and throughout the day apparently was determined to show that there were discrepancies in the flat-rate system which would not be possible under a meter system. Several times he attempted to get witnesses to define positively zones, but always the question was left unsettled.

The taxicab men were not enthusiastic about compulsory insurance, but they insisted that if insurance was made compulsory for taxicabs it should be made compulsory for all.

The hearing was adjourned without action by the commission, and what the next move will be has not been determined.

MELLON ORDERED DRY "DISCRETION"

Hanlon, then administrator in Newark. His men had obtained evidence against 60 night clubs and restaurants in Atlantic City, some of them of the most vicious character, the kind that have figured in the sensational revelations of vice and political corruption at Atlantic City during the last year. Col. Hanlon was getting ready to raid them and wanted to borrow some of my men.

But he then told me he had suddenl, received instructions not to raid and not to present the evidence he had obtained to the United States attorney.

Convinced of Insincerity.

There had been a letter also a week before in which Mr. Lowman warned against anything "sensational" that would make political propaganda. He had added very carefully that "this does not mean that I am asking you not to enforce the law."

At any rate, I had the Lowman telegram. How could I go to my men with any such message without utterly destroying their faith in me and ruining the morale which I had taken such care to create? However, I posted a notice that Washington said to be "vigilant but discreet."

Harassed on every side by politicians interested only in patronage or campaign contributions, and with Washington, in most instances, supporting them in their demands for favors, I became convinced that Treasury officials in Washington were not sincere in their desire to enforce prohibition.

Writes His Resignation.

After careful consideration, therefore, I decided that the only step for me to take was that of resignation. With this resolve firmly in my mind, I wrote my resignation with an accompanying statement, in which I said:

"I regret this course, but I can not conscientiously longer remain in office and comply with Treasury Department orders that clearly indicate a policy of mild enforcement during this preelection period. I have labored conscientiously to raise the morale of my force to a high standard, and I can not now see that morale shattered through orders from the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury to instruct my men to make only such cases as will not pass comment and criticism from a hostile press and from individuals who are openly opposed to the Constitution of the United States.

"I consider my oath of office much too sacred to accommodate it to any political situation."

Having decided on my course of action, I felt that I needed advice, and September 12 I went to see Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews, formerly Assistant Secretary of the Treasury in charge of prohibition enforcement. It was through Gen. Andrews that I entered the prohibition service in 1926.

Calls Up Donovan.

I told Gen. Andrews my story and explained to him the reasons for my contemplated resignation. He was much concerned and redrafted some parts of the statement I had prepared. After some further thought and consideration, Gen. Andrews asked me if I would object if he called up Col. William J. Donovan in Washington and inform him of my determination. It is well known that, at that time, Col. Donovan figured prominently as Mr. Hoover's confidential adviser in the conduct of his campaign.

I told Gen. Andrews that I did not object and in my presence he spoke to Col. Donovan in Washington over the telephone.

Gen. Andrews informed Col. Donovan that I had written my resignation and that he was fearful of the consequences to the Republican party in New York State if the statement I had written was published. He suggested that Col. Donovan call me to Washington for a conference.

Col. Donovan was at that time an Assistant Attorney General, and he explained to Gen. Andrews that he could not call me to Washington because I was not in the Department of Justice. However, Col. Donovan suggested that Gen. Andrews get in touch with Ogden Mills, Undersecretary of the Treasury, and this was done.

Tells Mills of Situation.

Late that afternoon I was informed that Mr. Lowman wanted to speak to me on the telephone, but I instructed my secretary to say that I had left the office. Again, later that night, Mr. Lowman called my house in Pelham Manor, but I had told them there to say I would not be home.

However, Dr. Doran got hold of me that night on the telephone and said that Mr. Mills wanted to see me. I said I would be in Washington in the morning.

I met Dr. Doran in Washington and together we went across the street to Mr. Mills' office in the Treasury Building. Dr. Doran saw Mr. Mills alone first and in about ten minutes he came out and I was sent in to see Mr. Mills alone.

He asked me what the trouble was and I told him as briefly as I could all my difficulties, ending with the letter and telegram from Mr. Lowman in which I had been practically told to keep my men inactive in these preelection days.

Verbally, at least, Mr. Mills agreed with me. He told me that my policy with regard to the breweries was right and that the breweries should be closed tight if they were shipping real beer. He said this was an administrative matter for me to determine with the commissioner and for us to adopt the necessary procedure.

I told him also of the activities of Senator Curtis' campaign managers in New York, Matthew Quay Glaser and Joseph Steinberg, in permit matters, which I will relate in later articles.

With regard to Steinberg and Glaser, Mr. Mills said that neither of them had any influence, that Steinberg was just "a little politician" and was a "joke."

Brings in Curtis' Name.

I said that Steinberg might be a joke to him but he was no joke to me because it seemed he was getting support from Senator Curtis and, in consequence, it was reported in New York that he could get anything he wanted in the Prohibition Bureau.

Mr. Mills said that Senator Curtis should be informed of the situation, but that the senator was so busy making campaign speeches that he could not be interrupted until after election. He promised that if Steinberg continued his activities after election he would see that Senator Curtis was notified or notify Steinberg himself to "lay off."

The Undersecretary explained that the feeling between Senator Curtis and himself was not very cordial and he hesitated to take the matter up personally, but if it was necessary he would do so or have some one else handle it after election.

I said I did not see much relief in that for me at the present time, but Mr. Mills insisted it could not be taken up with Senator Curtis until after election.

Mr. Mills told me that when he came into the Treasury Department it was understood he was to have nothing to do with prohibition, and he would not have accepted his post if it had not been so understood.

He further informed me that the Lowman telegram and letter to which I objected had been sent to every other administrator on Mr. Mellon's personal instructions and he showed me the original copy of the telegram.

Others Rebelled.

I said I objected to such instructions because of the effect on my force and that I could not follow them without injuring the morale of my men, which I had been fighting so hard to raise. He made no comment on this, but seemed to think that what Mr. Mellon wanted was the thing to do. Several other administrators had spoken to me about this telegram and they all rebelled against the restrictions placed upon them.

I made no promises with regard to my resignation, but Mr. Mills seemed to think it had been satisfactorily settled and I let him think so.

It was evident to me though, that the political situation in New York was paramount and nothing was to be permitted that would disturb it. If Steinberg could assist in winning the State to the Republicans by his activities in prohibition matters he must be allowed to continue.

Before going to Mr. Mills' office Dr. Doran had informed me that on the invitation of Steinberg and Glaser he intended to come to New York for the dedication of the Hoover-Curtis Club in a few days.

I mentioned this to Mr. Mills and told him that I had advised the commissioner not to go, and I was gratified when Mr. Mills told me that he also had advised the same thing. As it turned out the commissioner did not attend the dedication.

Overruled by Doran.

Later in the day I discussed the brewery situation with Dr. Doran. I thought I ought to try to revoke the permits of the Phoenix Cereal Beverage Co. and the Interboro Beverage Co. in Brooklyn, but Dr. Doran instructed me not to take any such step immediately. I also asked Dr. Doran to let me put my men back in these breweries, but he said that would be unwise at the time.

I considered my interview with Mr. Mills most unsatisfactory and left Washington with the idea of resignation strongly in my mind. I decided, however, to wait a few days.

Shortly after I returned to New York Gen. Andrews called me on the telephone and asked me to come and see him. Of course I went, and then he informed me that Col. Donovan had called him on the telephone from Washington and said that he had heard I was about to resign and write my experiences, receiving therefor a large sum of money. Gen. Andrews told me that Col. Donovan was much concerned because of the effect such a story would have on the political campaign.

Gen. Andrews and I discussed the political possibilities of such a situation, and as a result I promised not to resign, at least until after election. This fact Gen. Andrews conveyed to Washington.

I decided, however, in the interim, not to be coerced and not to be influenced in my actions because of the political situation.

(Copyright, 1930.)

Tomorrow Mr. Campbell tells of further trouble with the breweries.

Mr. Maurice Campbell,
Prohibition Administrator,
No. 1 Park Avenue,
New York City.

My dear Administrator:

Letters are coming to me in considerable numbers relating the story that although notices have been repeatedly sent to the Prohibition Administrator, advising where the law is being violated, nothing is done about it. These letters are assigned to have been suggesting that something of this kind would shortly happen. It will probably be followed up with the argument that the Federal Government has absolutely fallen down in its effort to enforce the National Prohibition Law, and that a change in administration is necessary in order to clean up the mess. This is all political propaganda.

We have also observed that some Democratic sympathizers, now in the Prohibition Service, are doing things which make law enforcement appear ridiculous. I hope that you will, as far as possible, see to it that nothing sensational is done by your agents in your territory because the newspapers seize upon every little thing and greatly magnify it. This does not mean that I am asking you not to enforce the law, but that all of your acts will be dignified and in keeping with the Government service.

Your cooperation in these matters will be greatly appreciated.

Very sincerely yours,

S. Lowman

ROTARIANS WANT CONVENTION HERE

WOULD BE DURING 1932

An invitation to hold the 1932 convention of Rotary International in Washington was voted yesterday by the Washington Rotary Club at its luncheon at the Willard Hotel.

The invitation was extended at the suggestion of the Washington Bicentennial Commission, which wishes the convention in the Capital during the anniversary celebration. Rotary International's convention would bring representatives here from 50 countries.

Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the Bureau of Public Roads, addressed the club on the progress and plan of the Mount Vernon boulevard. He traced the history of the plan from 1886, when it was first urged at Alexandria.

The highway will accommodate the thousands that visit Washington Shrine during 1932, he said, and will add greatly to the beauty of the trip between the Capital and Mount Vernon.

Mr. MacDonald was introduced by William Knowles Cooper. Henry M. Brawner, jr., presided.

Cure for Cancer Claimed by Italian

Milan University Professor Creates Sensation at Science Congress.

Rome, Sept. 10 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Announcing that he had effected several successful cures of cancer, Prof. Fichera, of Milan University, created a sensation today at the Bolanzo scientific congress. In reading a paper of his treatment of the disease he said that he had been able to make a chemical preparation which had effected many cures.

Prof. Fichera also claimed to have succeeded in detaching portions of cancerous growth by means of biopsy and studying the action of his fluid upon them. He illustrated his paper by X-ray pictures. These showed successive stages of treatment so that the congress was able to follow the changes in the malignant growths, which gradually decreased until nothing was left but a scar.

Another important point brought out by Prof. Fichera was that his fluid attacks only cancerous cells, being harmless to the other cells of a patient's body. He said that benign growths were harder to cure than malignant onces, because their cell structure was nearer to normal.

U. S. Will Tighten On Immigration

Consular Conferences Are Called in Three European Cities in Near Future.

(Associated Press.)

The State Department announced yesterday that in carrying out President Hoover's wishes for more strict application of the immigration laws to aid unemployment three consular conferences will be held in Europe within the next three weeks. A conference at London September 22 and 23 will draw the consular officers in England, Ireland and nearby points on the continent.

Officers from France, Germany, Switzerland, Austria, Czechoslovakia, Sweden, Hungary, Italy and Jugoslavia, will meet at Stuttgart, Germany, September 26 and 27. A third conference for the consular officers in Poland, Finland, and Latvia, completing the plans for all large immigration centers in Europe, will be held October 1 and 2, at Warsaw.

The department announced also conferences would be held at Winnipeg and Vancouver, Canada, on September 15, and early in October. Foreign Service Inspector Monnett B. Davis has been designated to attend the Canadian conferences, while Assistant Secretary Carr and A. Dana Hodgdon, chief of the visa office, will attend the three European conferences.

LOWEST CROP YIELD IN 20 YEARS IS SEEN

Meanwhile, Prices at Farm Are Worst in Any August Since 1915.

HYDE DELAYS PARLEY

(Associated Press.)

The lowest crop yields in twenty years or more, except possibly in 1921, was predicted by the Department of Agriculture yesterday as weather reports continue to show large sections of the drought area unrelieved.

Corn suffered another staggering blow from the excessive heat of August, the prospective yield falling off 10.4 per cent during the month for a prospective crop of only 1,983,000 bushels. As now forecast, the corn crop will be the smallest since 1901 and the first in 29 years to fall below 2,200,000,000 bushels. The actual shortage is estimated at more than 700,000,000 bushels.

Continuation into August of the record-breaking drought in most of the States affected in July and an extension of drought injury northward into States that had not previously suffered severely damaged a wide variety of late crops.

Prospects for potatoes were reduced by 34,000,000 bushels, hay more than 1,000,000, and serious declines were recorded for beans, grain sorghums and vegetables for canning. Important declines were shown for tobacco, flaxseed, soybeans, cowpeas, sweet potatoes sorghum and cane for sirup, broom corn, grapes, cabbage and various Northern vegetables.

With the exception of potatoes and sweet potatoes and a few other crops, the shortage of food products is not yet pronounced. The marked shortage of feed and the impending necessity of selling live stock in the drought areas tends to hold down the price of meat animals, with the result that farmers face the combination of low yields and low prices. Prices at the farm on August 15 were the lowest in any August since 1915.

Wheat production now is estimated at 837,761,000 bushels, as against 805,790,000 bushels in 1929. Of that, 597,392,000 bushels is winter wheat; 50,950,000 durum wheat, and 189,419,000 bushels other spring wheat.

While rainfall during the first week of September materially relieved large sections of the drought area, much of Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky and parts of Tennessee, Michigan and most of Iowa, were still largely unrelieved.

Secretary Hyde's conference with drought relief officials was believed yesterday to have been delayed ten days or two weeks as a result of insufficient information in 18 of 21 States queried to present a comprehensive picture of local situations.

O'Shea objected and in the warm discussion he declared Mr. Cameron was absurd, but the board upheld Mr. Cameron's right to ask the question. Capt. Stott said he had not asked for Gravely's transfer from his command.

Several witnesses were presented by the prosecution who said that they saw Miss Campbell pay $25 to Gravely. Defense counsel stressed their agreement on this, the improbability of a policeman taking graft in the presence of several witnesses.

There was disagreement among some of the witnesses about the date on which they saw Gravely taking graft and the defense sought to show the trial board that the Campbell woman did not know Gravely, bringing witnesses who testified that the woman "cussed out" Gravely to his face in the Third Precinct station on one occasion when she failed to recognize him when he changed from civilian attire to uniform.

Policeman Leonard Thomas, colored, of the Third Precinct, was fined $50 on conviction of speeding. Thomas and some friends, it was said, were returning from a visit to Silver Spring, Md., when they collided with another automobile. Police pursued them and subsequently arrested Thomas, who jumped from the automobile when the police stopped the party. Thomas was convicted in Police Court earlier in the day of driving at an excessive speed.

CARSON TO UNDERGO TEST FOR SANITY

trolman responded, but when, as he started to mount the stairs to the girl's room, Carson pressed the gun to her side and threatened to kill her if the policeman took another step forward, he retreated and called for the reserves.

Watch Through Window.

For more than two hours the police watched through a window as Carson alternately abused and threatened the girl and pleaded with her to be his. The police were blocked in their efforts to effect rescue because of the fear that they could not reach the girl in time to prevent the murder that appeared inevitable if the issue were forced.

The curtain on Carson's melodrama was rung down precipitously by Policeman Earl Baker, who climbed across on an ironing board from and adjoining porch and ordered Carson to drop his gun. Carson dropped his arm in surprise and Baker clipped him on the chin with his fist.

For his bravery in walking head first into what appeared to his comrades to be certain death, not only for Baker but for the girl as well, the policeman is to be rewarded with $5, which Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, yesterday directed be paid to Baker and to his superior, Sergt. John T. Langley,—who conceived the ironing board stunt.

World Architects Hear F. C. Baldwin

Capital Man Cites Peril to Artistry in Modern Competitive Strife.

Special Cable to Washington Post.

Budapest, Hungary, Sept. 10.—Artistry and idealism in architecture are in danger of being killed by commercialism, Frank C. Baldwin, of Washington, secretary of the American Institute of Architects, told the members at their twelfth international congress here today.

"In the United States in recent years," he said, "there has been an increasing tendency toward the development of great construction companies which include in their organization complete staffs of architects and engineers.

"It is a form of commercial competition which many in the architectural profession view with alarm. It is conceivable that in time this might result in a complete submergence of the professional ideal, but it can be said with equal force that such a result would be at the cost of a great loss in aesthetic values. The highly trained and cultured architect can maintain his place in the community only by avoiding all entangling commercial or contractual relations and rigidly maintaining a strictly professional attitude in the practice of architecture."

taken to a hospital, as the police believed he had taken poison in an effort to end his life.

According to Detective Nowitzky, Carter said after he and his wife left the houseboat in an automobile for Norfolk, he got out of the car while passing through the woods. While on the ground he sighted a squirrel and asked his wife to hand him a shotgun he had in the car, he told the detective. In some unexplained manner, he said, the weapon was discharged and the load of shot struck Mrs. Carter. The husband said he did not remember what happened after that, and said he had no idea how the body got to the place in the woods where it was found. He denied he had placed it there or sought to burn it.

The Carters are said to have two small children at the Philadelphia address.

to Scooba for preliminary hearing on robbery charges when they were seized and hanged to trees.

The two deputies, Guy Byrd and J. J. Dotson, were tied to a tree by the masked band, but later released.

Lockett and White had been accused of robbing Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McCoy as the couple motored from California to their home in Athens, Ga. The McCoys, returning from a honeymoon trip, said the Negroes stopped them by waving flashlights, after which they were robbed of jewelry and $42. McCoy said the Negroes threatened his life and threatened to kidnap his wife.

The Negroes were arrested about a week ago in connection with the robbery and had been taken to De Kalb for safekeeping.

Session to Foster Sea Safety Called

1,250 Heads of Steamship Lines Are Invited to Meet September 29.

Dickerson N. Hoover, supervising inspector general of the Department of Commerce, has called a conference for September 29 to discuss measures for promoting safety at sea, primarily in American coastal waters.

The conference is an outgrowth of the collision between the Merchants & Miners liner Fairfax and the tanker Pinthis June 10. Invitations have been sent to 1,250 heads of steamship companies, representatives of the petroleum industry and port authorities on the Great Lakes and the coastal ports.

In an effort to avoid such disasters as the Fairfax-Pinthis collision Mr. Hoover has suggested the advisability of establishing "passing lanes" in United States coastal waters and new regulations to govern the operation of vessels transporting dangerous cargoes in fog and crowded waters.

Airplane 'Ceiling' Limit Set for Race of Yachts

During the America's Cup race between the Shamrock V. and the Enterprise off Newport beginning Saturday, aircraft are prohibited from flying at an altitude of less than 1,000 feet over the area involved, according to Clarence M. Young, Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Aeronautics.

This rule has been laid down primarily for the protection of the large number of spectators who are expected to witness the contest on September 13 and on other days when the challenging yacht and the defender fight it out.

REVOCATION OF AUTO PERMITS INCREASES

200 More Are Held Up in Year Ended June 30 Than Previously.

FIRST LICENSES EXPIRE

More than 200 more permits were revoked, suspended or refused renewal during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1930, than during the previous year, the Traffic Department announced yesterday. During the last year the number was 1,339, 246 more than the year ended June 30, 1929.

The increase is not due to more stringent regulations covering the loss of permits, however, Maurice O. Eldridge, acting director of the department, said. Last year was the time for the first lot of three-year permits to expire and be renewed. The record of every permit holder is checked over before his license is renewed, and any flaw in his record will hold up the issuance of the new permit.

There are four offenses for which permits must be revoked on conviction. These are driving while drunk, third offense speeding, second offense reckless driving, and failing to stop after colliding. Sometimes it will escape notice that a man is being convicted for his third offense, and his permit will remain effective. This error is caught when the permit is offered for renewal.

Of the four offenses, driving while drunk was responsible for the greatest number of revocations. Speeding and reckless driving followed. A few permits were revoked, or renewal was refused, because of transporting liquor. In some cases young drivers who had lied about their age to gain licenses were refused new permits.

Holdup Men Loot Bank In Paterson of $20,000

Paterson, N. J. Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Masked holdup men entered the Merchants Trust Co. shortly after the bank was opened for business today and made off with $20,000.

Bank clerks were herded into a vault while the robbery was committed.

Youth Taking Melon Is Wounded by Owner

Charles Beasley, 15-year-old Negro, living at 2650 Nicholas avenue northeast, paid dearly for a watermelon filched from the patch of Peter Craig, at Aanacostia, last night. Just as Beasley and two companions were leaving the field with several large, juicy melons, James Craig, colored, opened fire with a 12-gauge shotgun. Both Beasley and the melon were riddled with buckshot. The youth was taken to Casualty Hospital, with wounds in his back, arms and both legs.

When he recovers, police said, he will be charged with larceny. Craig was held for investigation at the Eleventh Precinct Station.

Writer to Be Married To Nephew of Morrow

New York, Sept. 10 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Richard B. Scandrett, jr., member of the law firm of Wilcox, Swiger, Chambers & Scandrett, of this city, and director in several large corporations, will marry Miss Mary Landenberger, publicity and feature writer, on October 4, it became known today.

Mr. Scandrett, who is a nephew of Ambassador Morrow and helped Hewitt H. Howland in the compiling of "A Sketch in Admiration of Dwight Whitney Morrow," said today that they had never become formally engaged, wishing to avoid any unnecessary publicity, and that the wedding would be very quiet. Mr. Scandrett is treasurer of the New York Republican county committee.

Japanese Murders Girl And Commits Hari-Kari

Vancouver, British Columbia, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—A Japanese killed his sweetheart today by stabbing her through the heart, seriously wounded the girl's mother and then committed hari-kari, all with the same knife.

THIS ELECTROLUX, Gas Refrigerator, functioned perfectly all during and after a fire in the house of Mrs. C. M. Yancey, 3606 Garfield Street N. W. The fire started in the cellar about noon on August 28. It burned through the floor up into the kitchen, doing several hundred dollars' worth of damage.

Immediately after the fire Mrs. Yancey opened the ice box door and found that the temperature inside had not changed. Mrs. Yancey took out frozen ice cubes and made ice water for the firemen.

Soon after Mr. H. J. Nachman, head of the Service Department of the Washington Gas Light Company, arrived and made a thorough examination of the refrigerator. With the exception of the Duco finish, which the flames had scorched, Electrolux, the Gas Refrigerator, was found to be in good condition. It is now functioning perfectly in the window of our main show room at 419 Tenth Street and has not been touched since the fire.

RUGGED DESIGN of the freezing unit and the heavy double insulation of the box account for this seemingly impossible occurrence. A harmless refrigerant hermetically sealed in a cold drawn steel tube, a tiny flame, and a trickle of water take the place of all moving parts. They operate silently, year after year, keeping your food at a safe temperature, even under the most trying conditions. The cost of operation (4 to 10 cents a day, depending on the size model) is less than any other type of automatic refrigerator and about half what you now pay for ice. Simplicity of design gives Electrolux, the Gas Refrigerator, "natural advantages" over other makes.

If you are thinking of buying a refrigerator, you should see Electrolux before deciding.

TUESDAY'S PRIMARIES.

Whether or not the results of Tuesday's primaries give evidence of widespread political unrest or dissatisfaction is debatable. In Louisiana, Gov. Huey P. Long defeated Senator Joseph P. Ransdell, veteran of 30 years' congressional experience, for the Democratic nomination for United States senator. The run-off primary in South Carolina resulted in the defeat of Senator Cole Blease by former Representative James F. Byrnes. In Michigan, Senator Couzens was renominated. In Colorado, George H. Shaw, former chairman of the Republican State committee, was nominated for the seat that will be vacated by Senator Phipps over William V. Hodges, former treasurer of the Republican national committee. Shaw was supported by Senator Waterman and Clarence Hamlin, Republican national committeeman, whereas Hodges was a protege of Senator Phipps. The fight resolved itself into one for control of the party in the State. In New Hampshire the progressive wing of the Republican party scored a victory in the nomination of John G. Winant for governor. In Washington, where a wet-dry controversy enlivened the campaign, the drys came out second best.

Gov. Long entered the Louisiana campaign for "vindication" of the policies he pursued as governor. He made his fight on the good roads issue, promising to pave every mile of highway in the State without raising taxes if he were sent to the Senate and pledging himself to end unemployment. He made the campaign one of personal abuse, insinuation and wildly absurd charges. Senator Ransdell has been a faithful public servant. It may be doubted, in view of the type of campaign that Gov. Long prosecuted and his executive record, that he will give the people of Louisiana a kind of representation even remotely approaching in satisfaction that which they have had with Senator Ransdell.

Senator Blease was defeated by an old political enemy. Mr. Byrnes is an attorney of Spartanburg who served in the House from 1911 to 1925 and who retired following his defeat by Senator Blease in 1924. Mr. Byrnes was a militant Smithite in 1928, but Senator Blease remained "regular" and his defeat for the nomination can not be ascribed to "disciplining" as was the defeat of Senator Simmons, of North Carolina. The Democratic nomination in South Carolina is equivalent to election; Senator Blease, who takes a drink when he wants it, but who votes dry because his constituency is dry, and who boasts that he has held more elective offices than any other South Carolinian, will sit in lame duck row in the short session.

Forty-one States have selected their nominees for the campaign. Next week Wisconsin, Massachusetts and New York, and later in the month, Connecticut, New Mexico, Rhode Island and Utah will chose candidates. The campaign now gets under way. The Democrats, if they are to gain control of the Senate, have to unseat ten Republicans. If they are to obtain control of the House they must gain 53 seats. In both cases these are large orders.

GREAT SMOKY PARK.

The passing of title to the Great Smoky Mountains National Park from the States of North Carolina and Tennessee to the Federal Government is an event of no small significance in the East. In this region of mountains and forests the National Park Service will now begin to build one of the first great outdoor recreation centers east of the Mississippi River and south of Maine. More than 158,000 acres of unspoiled, primitive country are available for that purpose. Before the region attains national park status this area will be increased to 427,000 acres, and later it may include 700,000 acres.

Men experienced in the policy, traditions and activities of the national parks will be brought from some of the Western parks to take charge of the Great Smoky region. As soon as title to the remainder of the land passes to the Government roads and trails will be constructed into the park, lodges will be built, transportation arranged, and every accommodation provided for visitors.

The East has been slow to set aside its choice scenic regions for enjoyment of the public. A recent awakening to the beauty of some little-known regions has resulted in the inauguration of plans for three national parks—the Shenandoah, in Virginia, and the Mammoth Cave, in Kentucky, in addition to the Great Smoky. When these vast playgrounds are developed millions of visitors may be expected to pass through their portals each year. They are within easy reach of Washington and the densely-populated industrial East. Thousands who are accustomed to spending vacations in the Western parks will find new diversions closer to home, and millions who are unable to make an annual trek to the Rocky Mountains will be able to enjoy sublime scenery within easy range. It is to be hoped that the Park Service will hasten the development of these three projects.

ABOLISH? NEVER!

Statements from Secretary Wilbur that the Department of the Interior should have more work to do, and from acting Secretary Edwards that the National Park Service is the only growing bureau under its jurisdiction, have led to speculation as to the abolition of this department. Organized 80 years ago to administer the public domain, the department has become a conglomeration of remotely allied bureaus. The varied functions of these bureaus, with the exception above noted, are gradually diminishing in importance, and if they do their work efficiently most of them will sooner or later find themselves out of a job.

The heyday of the General Land Office belongs to the past, when it held millions of fertile acres for distribution to farmers who cared to cultivate them. The administration is now investigating the possibility of turning the surface rights in the remaining public domain over to the States. If the policy of the Indian Bureau succeeds, the aborigines now wards of the Government will become self-supporting and will no longer need Government aid. There is a tendency to shift much of the work of the Reclamation Service to the States. The Bureau of Mines and the Patent Office have been transferred to the Department of Commerce, and the Bureau of Pensions to the new Veterans' Administration. There remains the Office of Education, but in view of the fact that education is a State function, this is not a growing bureau.

Will the Department of the Interior work itself out of a job? To look for any termination of the activities of these bureaus that are approaching stagnation would be unwarranted optimism. Every bureau can find a thousand reasons for perpetuating its existence. Even those agencies that are supposed to be working toward their own eclipse have quite a different view of their destiny than has either the President or Secretary Wilbur. It is not impossible that Congress will, from time to time, add new bureaus to the Interior Department. Governmental agencies must continue to grow, but politicians have not yet come to a state of mind where they can allow the dead branches to be snipped off.

JOBS FOR OLDER MEN.

To counteract the tendency of industry to employ only young men, the Baltimore Association of Commerce appointed a committee to investigate the possibilities of employment for men between the ages of 40 and 60 years. As a result it is announced that the Oil Trade Association of that city will give preference to men between the ages of 40 and 45 in hiring service station attendants, plant and truck operators.

This announcement is important because it marks a definite reaction against the fad of employing only young men. Some responsible leaders in industry are beginning to realize that a considerable portion of the country's manpower is wasted because of the prejudice against employing men of middle age and beyond. In this case the period of preference was limited to 45 years, but it will doubtless be extended as the plan is introduced in other industries.

It is logical to give young men preference in certain industries where agility and strength are required. But it is just as logical to prefer mature, and even old men, in other lines of work that require experience, judgment and a sense of responsibility. Since preference for younger men has extended over a broad field, employers would do well to favor older men in industries where age is not a factor in determining efficiency. In this way the work of the country can be equitably distributed, and the waste of manpower that comes from retiring men at 40, 45 or 50 years can be curtailed. The Baltimore Association of Commerce has set an example that is worthy of emulation by other commercial and industrial groups.

COST OF GOVERNMENT.

When people speak of a $5,000,000,000 country they consider only the cost of the national Government. To the national budget must be added the total of the budgets of the 48 State governments if an accurate picture is to be had of the cost of governing the American people. In 1917, says the Department of Commerce, the total payment by State governments for expenses came to $517,000,000. A decade later the total of the State budgets was $1,726,989,000 and in 1928 the total reached $1,889,172,000. In the short space of eleven years the expenditures of the State governments increased three and one-half fold.

Payments for operation and maintenance of the general departments of State governments came to $10.17 per capita in 1928, to $9.55 in 1927 and to $4.19 in 1917. The general property tax levied in 1928 was $3.24 per capita, in 1927 $3.13 and in 1917 $1.83. Total per capita revenue receipts were $16.29 in 1928, $14.99 in 1927 and $5.14 in 1917. The per capita net indebtedness in 1928 was $13.39 as compared with $12.32 in 1927 and $4.39 in 1917.

The figures seemingly indicate progressively increasing prosperity. But they suggest the question: What of the future? In the last decade the American people have progressed financially until they are able to afford State governments three and one-half times as expensive, but if the present rate of increase continues will not the time arrive when State governments will become overbearing financial burdens? Whether or not the American people are getting a commensurate return for their increasing investment in State government is a debatable question. Somewhere there is a point beyond which the cost of State government can not be permitted to rise. Are the States approaching that point?

OPERATION OF THE RECALL.

Detroit worked itself into a frenzy over the recall of Mayor Charles Bowles, but the special election to settle the issues arising out of his repudiation passed with little attention. For the Nation at large the results of the Detroit fight were submerged under a welter of returns from more than half a dozen State primaries. But for other reasons as well this much-advertised test of the recall in municipal administration was disappointing.

Mayor Bowles took office last January after election on a platform promising municipal reform. Complaints that the wholesale operation of gambling houses was being winked at by the administration began to be made a few weeks later. When the mayor dismissed his commissioner of police, apparently for making gambling raids when the mayor was absent from the city, a committee of citizens inaugurated a campaign that ended in his recall. Under the law Bowles became a candidate for reelection, and three others joined in the race. The murder of Jerry Buckley, political commentator over the radio and bitter foe of Bowles, gave a sensational turn to the campaign. Personal charges and conflicting promises were bandied about to an extent that must have been very confusing to the Detroit electorate. As a result it repudiated both Bowles and the candidate of the committee that engineered his recall. Frank Murphy, formerly of the recorder's court, slipped into office.

No other American city the size of Detroit has experimented with the recall, and Tuesday's experience of the Michigan metropolis gives them no encouragement to do so. The issues were obscured by acrimonious charges, and the electorate was obviously confused. Whether a better mayor has been chosen time alone can tell. American cities should think twice before exposing their administrations to disruptions of this character. The recall in operation is a dangerous weapon that may plunge a city out of the frying pan into the fire while its population is in a state of confusion and turmoil.

The development of culture is further illustrated by the transformation of the historic Chicago Auditorium into a pee-wee golf course.

WAGES AND PROSPERITY

By JOHN P. FREY,
In the Magazine of Wall Street.

There are humanitarian and social conditions involved in the question of wages. These must be given thought, but the economic considerations are the all important, for an economically unsound wage would be disturbing or disastrous regardless of any humane or social bearings.

We are not alone in dealing with industrial depression. It is world-wide. But we are more happily situated. No country possesses such natural resources, such a variety of agricultural products. None are so well equipped industrially. None less burdened with debt or lack of capital.

We can look into the future with greater confidence than any other people. The present lowered industrial pulse will soon beat more vigorously than ever. The stimulant required is the capacity to purchase.

When the present depression indicated its arrival, the President of the United States announced a program never before ventured by a Chief Executive at such a time. It would not prevent a depression for it had already arrived, but it could accomplish much in preventing the injury to industry and commerce which might follow, and which invariably had in the past.

Had our investors withdrawn their capital, had our industrialists refrained from launching extensive construction programs, and had the wage scales been reduced, we would probably have experienced all of the disasters which have overwhelmed investors during previous depressions.

Instead of making it more difficult for the industrial patient to breathe, the windows were opened, the supply of oxygen—the purchasing capacity—was provided.

It is apparent from the many public and private discussions of this subject that there is a better understanding today than ever before of the intimate relationship of national consumption to production, and the necessity of maintaining this capacity to consume so that it will equal every industrial development.

To maintain existing wage scales seems to be as essential to the investors' welfare as to the manufacturers, the merchants and the workmen.

The present condition of reduced production is the result of a period of depression, set in motion principally by the failure of consumption to keep pace with production. As a result, many corporations have experienced reduced profits since last summer; bankers have been unable to lend money at the high rates prevailing a year ago, an army of workmen have been forced into idleness.

Would these conditions have been prevented or more effectively minimized if wages had been reduced? Would lower wage scales have increased the national demand for manufactured goods? Would they have stimulated the public mind?

The logical and the sound economic answer is to be found in the wage policy announced by President Hoover, which was indorsed by the financial, the industrial and the trade union representatives who met with him in confidence at his request last fall.

We can not stimulate industry's capacity to produce by reducing wages; and, through this action, limiting the wage earner's influence as a consumer.

Life is a compromise between an according with environment and seeking one that accords with us.

Politics degenerates into the sport of merely trying to pick a winner—yet, to the credit of democracy, as a rule nothing but worth can win.

Were he given the choice, who but would prefer popularity to posthumous fame?

In determining competence educational tests usually don't apply even if you could apply them.

We feel lost amid the mental environment of another's life as well as amid its circumstances. It is the greater identity of these between husband and wife that makes the bond essentially enduring.

There is not much chance to see where you are going nor anything else except the trees beside the trail, the rocks under foot, the small streams that take short cuts into the valleys. Only rarely on the way and at last at the top is the traveler really aware of the mountain—of height and space and freedom and accomplishment.

WHAT COLOR ARE TREES?

One thinks of trees as in their nature green; but perhaps it is their nature and end to be yellow, observes the Spectator.

Even when they seem to be nothing but green, they may receive a transfiguration from the setting sun which turns them into yellow; and then, as you look up through the leaves of the chestnut in your garden, even in full midsummer, you will realize that the final "nature" toward which the chestnut is striving is yellow.

Trees begin their young life in yellow; and the glory of their old age in autumn is once more yellow. It is only in the hard middle age of midsummer that they are green; and trees are least interesting, and least themselves, in their middle age. Perhaps the beech is the most perfectly beautiful of all trees, if you take it all in all; and the glory of the beech is its October livery.

JUST FOLKS

A SENSITIVE MAN.

He keenly felt another's stab of pain
Yet never winced at suffering of his own;
No one for help appealed to him in vain
And yet he seldom made his burdens known.

To see a stranger hurt upon the street
Would chill his blood and turn him faint and white.
He shared the poor man's agony complete,
But struck himself he'd call the injury slight.

He had no nerve in the cold sense that he Could stand a witness to another's woe,
He suffered more a knockout blow to see
Than did the man to whom was dealt the blow.

This sort of man who can unmoved remain
Nor ever flinch from hurts the fates may give,
And yet so keenly feels another's pain
Must find life very difficult to live.

Does the Fact of Forty Robberies Indicate That All Moderns Are Rogues?

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THIS is an effort to help undo a great wrong.

An American magazine with more than two million circulation recently printed an article containing these words: "Virginity used to be a virtue greatly desired and respected. Nowadays there are plenty of girls who freely admit their lack of it. Even the older people of today regard chastity among modern girls as something unique."

That, I believe, is vicious and insulting slander. It would be difficult to imagine any printable statement capable of doing greater injury to the young people of America.

I am not a crank or a dreamer. I am not a professional optimist. And twenty-five years of newspaper work have taught me to observe accurately. Moreover, I have a sister just out of college and a daughter just ready to enter, through whom I keep in contact with the younger generation.

I am a competent witness, and I know the modern girls are as chaste and as virtuous as girls were in my boyhood.

There are exceptions, of course. What is true of the rich is not true of the poor. What is true of big cities is not true of country villages. What is true of one section of country is not true of another. And what is true of one "set" in a community is not true of another.

I speak of and for the girls as a whole.

Those who think modern girls without chastity know a few such girls and offer their sins as proof against the sex. It is unfair and illogical. You can not reason from the particular to the general. One bad coin doesn't prove all coins counterfeit.

Doubtless there are "plenty of girls" who confess lack of virtue. One would be plenty. The perfection of contraceptives has enabled immoral girls to lose their virtue without loss of respectability.

But now, as always, the daughters of decent parents are taught to be honorable. They show their bodies as style demands, and they do not pretend ignorance of sex as girls once did; but they keep themselves above reproach and scorn the foolish ones who cheapen themselves to win the favor of low-bred and honorless boys.

Vice, vulgarity and rottenness aren't new. But they are still exceptional.

The girls I know and know about are, with few exceptions, as proudly decent as girls ever were.

And I know that no part of America has a monopoly of decency.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE TOM THUMB WEDDING.

The marriage of Miss Ima Short to Mr. Luke Midge took place on a silver dollar in the Little Church Around the Corner this morning, none of the obstacles being sufficient to hamper the happy couple to any extent.

* * * *

The ceremony was one of the briefest on record. The groom arrived first, making the trip in a Bantam roadster. The bride followed a few minutes later in a hamper borne by three midgets. Some delay was occasioned in starting the ceremonies, due to the fact that the officiating clergyman, the Rev. Dr. Smallman, had some difficulty entering the rectory through the ventilator pipe, as required by the rules. He made it on his fifth attempt, however, which was two over par.

* * * *

The bride and groom in marching down the main aisle had to scale two picket fences, get past a barbed wire entanglement, crawl through a barrel and leap across two water holes. They negotiated the course without any real difficulty, although the groom failed to carry the first water hazard and there was some argument whether he should be counted as a lost groom or merely out of bounds.

* * * *

The bride's father, "Dinky" Short, who was supposed to give her away, never did get to the fall, owing to the fact he was unable to get through the barrel in the allotted time.

The bride was attended by six of the most undernourished girls in town. Her gift to each was a copy of the Declaration of Independence written on the head of a pin. The best men were all Lilliputians loaned by the Radio-Keith circuit.

* * * *

The Rev. Dr. Smallman read the marriage service as condensed especially for the occasion by Cal Coolidge. It consisted of five words:

"Wanna be married?"
"Yeah."
"Hooked."

* * * *

The bride looked bewitching in a mouse-colored gown with squirrel trimmings and wore low-heeled shoes in order to look as condensed as possible. She carried half a bouquet of dwarf dahlias and wore on the end of her little finger a wedding ring meant for a child of 6. The groom sat down during the service in order to minimize his height.

* * * *

Immediately after the ceremony the couple left the church by crawling under a rug to the rear exit, where they boarded the groom's kiddy-kar and took intricate detours to Rhode Island, the smallest State in the Union, where they will spend a few days touring unposted roads by night.

* * * *

JUSTIFIABLE HOMICIDE.

The summer cottager, who had been at the shore since May, closed the cottage for the season and stepped toward his car in which his family waited.

Suddenly he wheeled and fired a shot.

The woman year-around resident, standing on the porch of the cottage next door, uttered a sharp cry and fell dead, a bullet through her breast.

Police came and arrested the summer cottager, who made no resistance.

"Yes, I did it, and it served her right," he said.

"But what was your provocation?" demanded the police.

"Plenty," snapped the man. "Just as we were leaving she came out and pulled that old one about the loveliest vacation days coming in September and October!"

Chain cigar stores are now handling novels, and it will probably mean that the fellow who used to pounce on "butts" will now haunt the gutters looking for a book the man ahead of him threw away.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Suburbanite (Temporarily) Protests That Thousands Are Treated as If Recently Off Farm in the Back Woods.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Thousands of men and women, residents of nearby Virginia and Maryland communities, work in Washington, spend most of their time and money there, and whose interests and friends are, for the most part, there. Yet these people are largely treated by corporations as though they lived somewhere back in the mountains of Tennessee. I am unable to speak from first-hand knowledge as to the Maryland communities, but can do so with regard to those of nearby Virginia.

Why should we who live in Arlington County, for example, be obliged to wait 30 minutes for a street car? I venture that an even hundred per cent of those who ride the street cars into Arlington County ask themselves that question a dozen times a month.

Why, again, should these same people be obliged to donate the 900 per cent profit which one candidate in the recent Eighth Virginia District primaries claimed the electric power company is reaping annually in Arlington County?

Why can one telephone to Arlington County from as far as Takoma Park, D. C., for 5 cents, yet not phone to the Department of Agriculture unless the equivalent of 10 cents is paid over to the telephone company?

Why must one pay 15 cents in cash to ride less than 4 miles on one slow-moving, crowded, antiquated street car of one Virginia line, yet be able to ride several times that distance on modern cars of another line in Washington for 10 cents?

There are other arguments to support my contention that thousands of people, accustomed to the practices of a modern city, are looked upon as though they were just on some farm in the backwoods and unused to anything better—as, for example, that gas rates in Arlington County are about three times those of Washington.

No wonder the Back-to-Washington movement is gaining such headway in Arlington County. That county, and every community within it, should be reannexed to Washington, where it properly belongs, by February 22, 1932.

SUBURBANITE, BUT NOT FOR LONG.

Traffic Lights at Circles Protect Pedestrians But Only Confuse Vehicular Traffic.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Since the installation of traffic lights at Dupont Circle and Thomas Circle, there have been any number of traffic jams during the rush hours. Many streets intersect at these circles, each of which belches forth traffic simultaneously when the green light appears. It is a wonder there are not some serious accidents. The lights enable pedestrians to cross in comfort. It took time to regulate the lights so that pedestrians might cross in safety. Now that this situation has been remedied, some time should be spent upon devising a method whereby traffic will not start flowing in from all directions upon the appearance of the green light.

The lights at Dupont Circle are so unsafe that a policeman must be on hand at all times in case an emergency arises. At Thomas Circle the lights are turned off frequently because of traffic jams and two or more policemen are placed there to straighten out the jam. It is evident that the lights do not always work as they should. They do not speed up traffic at all times, but occasionally hinder traffic. If this condition can not be remedied, the lights should be turned off and police officers placed at these two circles to regulate the traffic in a systematic way.

"Miniaturized" Sport Deprives the Public of Exercise—Why Not Miniature Football, Baseball, Polo?

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Years ago some ingenious person thought up ping pong, miniature tennis. Following on the heels of this, bowling alleys adopted a miniature form of bowling which is done with a billiard cue. Last year the miniature golf craze hit the city and added another splendid game to the list of crippled sports.

Only two things now remain to ruin the sports world completely and that is for some fellow to come along with an idea whereby one can play miniature baseball and miniature football. Because of the craze for miniature forms of sport, health is being ruined due to a lack of exercise on the part of the vigorous athletes who are participating in the miniature forms of sport. Let's have miniature football, then all the leading teams of the country can play on the same gridiron at one time. Or why not have miniature polo played on Shetland ponies? Come on you geniuses, get busy and miniaturize all the major sports of the day.

Washington's Great Ball Team Should Be Kept Intact for the 1931 Season.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Whether or not Washington wins the pennant race, and the mathematical chances are that Philadelphia will represent the American League in the world series, local fandom owes an expression of commendation to Manager Walter Johnson. He has led the team through a difficult season to a place in the first division. If he does not emerge victorious in the pennant race he will at least have built up a team that, if it is not broken up by trades and sales during the winter, should be heard from next year. I would like to offer an humble suggestion that the present team be kept intact for the 1931 season. It has demonstrated itself to be a ball-playing aggregation and if it can start immediately next year where it leaves off this year it should wade through all opposition to the pennant.

Hoovers Plan Reception to Fidac Envoys

White House Fete Will Be Held on Afternoon of September 18.

By JEAN ELIOT.

THE President and Mrs. Hoover will give a reception at the White House on the afternoon of Thursday, September 18, in honor of the delegates to the eighth annual convention of the Federation Interalliee des Anciens Combattants, which will open its four-day session in Washington that day. The sister organization to Fidac, the name by which this great group of war veterans is internationally known, the Fidac Auxiliary, will meet concurrently with the masculine group and the delegates will also be guests at the White House.

In fact, the ladies will share honors with the veterans group at most of the entertaining for the visitors, which will add tremendously to the brilliance of the proposed festivities. These include a dinner on Thursday evening at Wardman Park Hotel, with Gen. John J. Pershing as host; a dinner the following evening, Friday, September 19, to be given at the Congressional Country Club by the Secretary of War, Mr. Patrick J. Hurley and still another dinner on Saturday, September 20, at which the visitors will be guests of the Secretary of State, Mr. Henry L. Stimson. This will be at the Willard.

The morning of Sunday, September 21, will be spent in Washington, with services at the Washington Cathedral and a luncheon at the Carlton as the major events, but in the afternoon the visitors will go to Annapolis and early that evening they will leave for the tour to Columbus, Ohio, national headquarters of the American Legion, Culver, Ind.; Detroit, Niagara Falls, Albany and West Point, which will round out the double-decker convention held in New York and Washington.

It has been arranged that there shall be a nation of the day, for each of the ten days Fidac is in this country, France, Great Britain, Italy and Poland being the four to be honored while the visitors are in Washington. Luncheon parties at the embassies and legations of the ten nations represented in Fidac are in order for the first day of the convention in Washington. On the following day there will be a luncheon at the Mayflower and on Saturday the groups of delegates will be entertained at luncheon at the Washington. Sight seeing tours and parties for individuals and small groups will be sandwiched into whatever time is left over after the formal entertaining, the sessions of the convention and pilgrimages to the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier and Mount Vernon are accounted for.

The double conference, of course, will bring to town scores of interesting and distinguished visitors. There are no less than seven generals among the Fidac delegates, with a distinguished delegation of members of foreign parliaments, and the nobility of ten nations has generous representation. Among the French delegates is Comte Charles de Hemricourt de Grune, great-grandnephew of Gen. Lafayette. Princess Alexandrine Cantacuzene, president of Fidac Auxiliary, is coming from Roumania to preside over the sessions of this group, and also present will be Lady Edward Spencer-Churchill and Mrs. Donald Macrae, both honorary presidents of Fidac and former heads of the organization.

Mrs. Macrae, head of the American Legion Auxiliary; Mrs. Robert Walbridge, vice president of Fidac Auxiliary for the United States, and Mrs. J. H. Thompson are the three American delegates to the feminine gathering.

Mrs. Charles G. Dawes Sails for London.

Mrs. Charles G. Dawes, wife of the United States Ambassador to Great Britain, who has been at her home in Evanston, Ill., for several weeks while Gen. Dawes has been in France and Spain on a holiday, sailed yesterday for Europe on the S. S. Aquitania and will rejoin the ambassador in London.

Other passengers on the Aquitania are Sir William and Lady Jowitt, Sir William Bull and Mr. R. Playfair Hills, all of whom were in Washington recently for the American Bar Association meeting.

The Solicitor of the Department of the Interior and Mrs. E. C. Finney announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Edith Elizabeth Finney, to Dr. Charles Pennington Ryland, jr., of Buena Vista, Va., son of Rev. and Mrs. C. P. Ryland, of this city, the wedding to take place in the fall.

Miss Hawes Visits With Mrs. Curtis.

Mrs. James F. Curtis, who is at Willowmere, her estate at Roslyn, Long Island, has as her guest Miss Eppes Hawes, daughter of Senator and Mrs. Harry B. Hawes.

Brig. Gen. and Mrs. David L. Brainard have arrived in Canada after having spent the summer in England and Scotland. They expect to return to Washington shortly.

Mrs. Robert Morris Kennedy and Miss Elizabeth Kennedy, wife and daughter of Rear Admiral Kennedy, will sail Saturday on the S. S. Britannic for a few months' stay in Europe. They will be at the St. Regis Hotel, New York, for a few days before sailing.

Maj. and Mrs. Oliver P. Newman, who are now living in New York, are in town for a few days and are staying at the Woman's National Democratic Club. Maj. Newman was formerly District Commissioner.

Lieut. and Mrs. Raymond Fowler Crist, jr., are being congratulated on the birth of a son on Saturday at Quantico, where Lieut. Crist, U. S. M. C., is stationed. Broun-Pratt Controversy Causes Smile Offer Made by Writer to Withdraw on Certain Conditions.

A contribution to the campaign of Representative Ruth Baker Pratt, candidate for reelection to the House in the Seventeenth New York district, has been made by her Socialist opponent, Mr. Heywood Broun. The famous columnist has sent Mrs. Pratt a copy of Bernard Shaw's "Intelligent Woman's Guide to Socialism."

"It may seem presumptuous of me to undertake the political education of Mrs. Pratt," the colunist-candidate is quoted as saying, "but Mr. Shaw, we may both admit, is wiser than either of us. Possibly after she has read the book, she will do the withdrawing."

This gesture apparently, was to back up Mr. Broun's offer to withdraw from the fight if Mrs. Pratt, a Republican, would adopt the Socialist party unemployment program, give it her earnest support in the House and give assurances that the Republican majority would see it through. The offer was occasioned by Mrs. Pratt's declaration that she would submit any solution of the unemployment problem authored by Mr. Broun to the authorities at Washington, which was coupled with the suggestion that, as a Republican, she was in a better position to obtain favorable consideration for it than would a Socialist member of Congress. All of which Heywood Broun admits is true.

Mrs. Arthur M. Hyde, who has been at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore for several weeks, has rejoined Mr. Hyde, Secretary of Agriculture, and their daughter, Miss Caroline Hyde, at the Mayflower. As she is convalescing from an illness she will not be able to take any part in society until later in the season.

Mrs. Drury and her young son, Paul Drury, have been at her old home, Delmore Point, at City Island, Pelham Bay, N. Y., for the summer. Mr. Drury joined them there for a short stay, returning to Washington with them.

Mr. Gerald A. Drew, recently appointed Third Secretary of the United States Legation in Port au Prince, Haiti, has arrived in Washington from his home in San Francisco and will be at the Mayflower until Sunday. Mr. Drew was formerly vice consul at Para, Brazil.

Changes Seen Among Ranks Of Diplomats

South American Envoys Feel Effects of Upheavals.

Changes in the personnel of the Diplomatic Corps in Washington will inevitably follow political upheavals in several South American countries. Indeed, the revolution in Peru has already called a halt, for the present at least, in the diplomatic progress of Dr. Santiago F. Bedoya, long secretary of the Peruvian Embassy in the Capital.

Regret at the sacrifice of a promising career is tempered here by the possibility that Dr. Bedoya may settle permanently among us. He is married to a charming American, formerly Miss Josephine Matteson, of California, and, with his party out of power back home, it seems more than likely that he may decide to remain in this country. For the present, however, Dr. and Señora de Bedoya, who are at the Wardman Park Hotel, have made no definite plans.

Detailed as secretary to the Peruvian Legation at the Vatican last spring, after ten years of service in Washington, Dr. Bedoya was on the eve of sailing for his new post when he was detained to take charge temporarily of the Peruvian consulate general in New York, the consul general having died.

One of the first acts of the military junta now in control in Peru was to inform the Peruvian ambassador at Washington, Senor Manuel de Freyre y Santander, that Senor Henriod had been appointed as consul general. That left Dr. Bedoya somewhat in doubt as to what was to happen to him. But he has since been notified that his appointment to the Vatican has been canceled and that he has been relieved of his connection with the Diplomatic Corps.

U. S. COOPERATION PLANNED BY URIBURU

Participation in Activities of Pan-American Union Is Another Aim.

BORAH FAVORS STAND

Buenos Aires, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—President Gen. Jose Evaristo Uruburu told the Associated Press today that close cooperation with the United States and active participation in activities of the pan-American Union were to be keynotes of his administration in the Argentine.

Stressing especially desire for friendly intercourse with the United States, Gen. Uruburu declared: "I desire my government to establish friendly and mutually advantageous relations with the United States and shall name an ambassador to Washington the instant the United States recognizes the new Argentine government."

He declared that other American Republicans could depend upon Argentina's wholehearted participation in the program of the Pan-American Union, but could not say immediately whether it would be desirable to resume participation in the League of Nations.

Disclaims Political Desire.

Gen. Uriburu disclaimed any aspiration to a political career. "I am a military man and a patriot," he said. "I have never been a politician and I do not intend to start now. After three days in this office I am wondering what there is to public office that makes politicians strive to gain it."

He declared his government has a single aim, to reform the country's political structure, taking power from the hands of the elements which have dominated the nation.

"We are birds of passage," he said of his regime, adding that he hoped it would represent an able coordination of the military and the best civil elements in the country to destroy a political system which has enabled political despots to perpetuate themselves and their parties in power.

Borah Approves Plans.

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—The plans of President General Jose Evaristo Uriburu to reestablish relations between Argentina and the United States met with the unqualified approval today of Senator William E. Borah, chairman of the Senate committee on foreign affairs.

"We want to maintain close and friendly relations with Argentina and all South American countries," he said. "It is to the mutual advantage of all that the most cordial relations exist. It has been a matter of deep regret that apparent misunderstandings between the United States and Argentina has heretofore developed.

"I hope all will be different in the future."

Kellogg Is Gratified.

Hot Springs, Va., Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Frank B. Kellogg, former Secretary of State, whose administration was marked by a keen interest in the Pan-American Union, regards the proposed policy of the provisional president of the Argentine towards the Pan-American Union and the United States as "of great importance."

"I am glad to hear that the Argentine proposes to take part in all of the activities of the Pan-American Union. This is not only important to the Argentine, but to all members of the Union and I am sure that the attitude of the new president will be greatly appreciated," he said.

"I do not, of course, pretend to speak for the Government of the United States, but simply my personal views as my relations with the Argentine were always very pleasant."

Mr. Kellogg would not comment on a statement by the New York Times that he would accept a nomination by the American committee as the successor to Charles E. Hughes on the World Court.

(Associated Press.)

Dr. Leo S. Rowe, director general of the Pan-American Union, said yesterday the sentiments expressed to the Associated Press by President Gen. Jose Evaristo Uriburu of Argentina were "most gratifying."

"Argentina occupies a position of such importance among the republics of the American continent," he said, "that her cooperation in developing a constructive Pan-American program is of fundamental importance. She is represented by a distinguished delegation at the inter-American conference on agriculture, forestry and animal industry now in progress at the Pan-American Union; a delegation that is contributing much to the success of the conference."

000,000) to balance the budget and meet current obligations. Agents of 24 domestic and foreign banking firms today agreed to extend the government a temporary credit of 50,000,000 pesos. At a later meeting they raised the figure to 100,000,000 pesos, subject to the needs of the provisional administration.

La Nacion today printed what its editor stated was the exact origin of the alarm on Monday night which started shooting by troops; resulting in half a dozen deaths and wounding more than 50 persons.

Military College Attacked.

"Shortly before 9 o'clock a telephone call was received at Government House to the effect that the Military College had been attacked by regular Cavalry forces while returning to barracks in the neighboring suburb of San Martin," the article said.

"Inquiry rapidly proved that the report was a falsehood but simultaneously from two motor lorries passing in front of the post office a volley was fired at the guard on duty on the roof of the building. The guard replied to the shots with machine guns and rifles. The firing was noted by guards at Government House, situated three blocks distant, who, believing there was an attack by counter-revolutionists, also fired their arms and the shooting became general.

"What followed was the result of the anxiety felt by armed civilians for the fate of the triumphant revolution and their desire to find its supposed enemies."

CLEW IN KIDNAPNG FALLS AT HEARING

Mrs. Budd Uncertain Hosiery Belonged to Daughter, Lost Two Years.

JANITOR BREAKS DOWN

New York, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—The importance first attached by police to a pair of white stockings found on the Margaretville, N. Y., farm of Charles Edward Pope, 65-year-old janitor, was impaired today by testimony of Mrs. Delia Budd that she was not sure they were the property of her 11-year-old daughter, Grace, kidnaped two years ago and never found.

Mrs. Budd had positively identified the stockings, as well as a charred ornament for a purse, as having belonged to her daughter, but on the stand during Pope's arraignment on a charge of kidnaping the child, she admitted uncertainty regarding the stockings, but not concerning the ornament.

Magistrate De Luca held Pope for the grand jury and continued his bail of $25,000.

Pope's estranged wife, who had caused his arrest, repeated on the stand her earlier story that Pope had appeared two years ago in Perth Amboy, N. J., with a child answering Grace's description.

Explaining the discovery of the stockings and a lock of hair, Pope said that as a janitor he had been given cast off articles which he sent to his son, who had five children. Pope averred the lock of hair was taken from the head of his son when he was a boy.

"Why did your wife have you arrested?" he was asked.

At this he showed signs of distress for the first time, tears coming into his eyes as he answered, "That I can't say. My conscience is clean. Even if I am sent away I am not guilty."

Rome Governor to Have Council.

Rome, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—An advisory council to assist the Governor of Rome, who has hitherto been virtually absolute in power and reported only to Il Duce, was instituted today in the capital. It is called the "consulta" of Rome and is composed of ten members. They will act solely as councillors to the governor and will have no legislative powers.

Human Sex Extracts Cause Growth of Rooster's Comb

This and Other Experiments Described at Cincinnati Meeting of Medical Chemists Attempting to Substitute Secretions for Gland Grafting.

By HOWARD W. BLAKSLEE
(Associated Press Science Editor).

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Substitutes for the gland grafting of "rejuvenation" fame, which chemists are just beginning to develop, were explained to the division of medical chemistry of the American Chemical Society, meeting today.

The substitutes are secretions of three glands and of other glands that probably never can be transplanted. The chemists extract the secretions and administer them like ordinary medical remedies.

Their experiments have barely touched upon human uses yet, but indicate a field of human application like that of other medicines in curing the sick, alleviating premature age or aiding subnormal youth.

No miracles, like restoration of youth, were even foreshadowed, but amazing practical experiments were reported. Dr. F. C. Koch, of the University of Chicago, said that a male sex extract, called a hormone, obtained from men, when injected into roosters, caused growth of their combs and wattles, which are nature's ornamental badges of maleness in the chicken family.

Sex hormones obtained from women caused the rooster's combs to grow about as well as did the male extract.

A different feminine hormone, however, obtained from women, caused roosters' feathers to change slightly, so as to show markings typical only of hen feathers.

These experiments add to existing proof that some of the glands of animals and humans produce substances so similar that animals may be used safely to extract remedies for man.

Dr. Koch said he has not experimented to learn what use the male hormone extracted at Chicago may have for human beings.

A female hormone extracted from animals by Dr. Edward A. Doisy, of St. Louis University, and used a little upon human beings was described by S. A. Thayer, of St. Louis University. He said it shows signs of helping some types of physical backwardness in girls and in relief of one or two frequent causes of suffering among women.

CHINA SENDS 400,000 MEN TO END REVOLT

Forty Nationalist Divisions Hammer Way Toward Rebels' Base.

BANDITS SPREAD TERROR

Shanghai, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Hurling 400,000 troops against the Northern war lords' forces in Honan Province, the Nationalist government today began a great offensive to end the rebellion which has menaced its existence since May.

Forty divisions of soldiers began converging toward Chengchow, rebel base. Moving northward along the railroad from Hankow, the Nationalists hammered their way to within 100 miles of the stategic point.

Thousands of other government troops plunged westward toward Chengchow along the Haichow-Tungkwan Railroad, crippled by weeks of floods. Wallowing in mud and splashing through water, the troops made little progress west of Kweiteh.

Having driven the rebels through Shantung Province to southern Chihli, President Chiang Kai-Shek drew heavily from his Shantung forces for the big drive in Hunan.

The troops moving to the new battle ground forced farmers into their ranks, compelled women to cook meals, confiscated hundreds of work animals and carts. Entering villages, the soldiers drove out the peasants and occupied their houses.

Freed of military restraint, bandit armies looted hundreds of villages throughout Hunan, killing those who dared oppose them. Their crops ruined by floods, their property taken by contending factions in civil war, farmers turned robbers.

Government soldiers quartered themselves in foreign missions along the Haichow-Tungkwan Railway, commandeering buildings of the Canadian Church Mission at Kweiteh and Kaifeng and the American Southern Baptist Mission at Kweiteh.

Behind the Screens

With NELSON B. BELL

So far, it is a dead heat between Mr. Daly and me, in our respective departments of the paper, in the matter of making and retracting announcements. Mr. Daly's perplexing problem has been to try to determine whether the Belasco Theater is to reopen and if so, when and with what, while mine has been the identical riddle as it pertains to the Rialto.

It now comes to me from Mr. Rodney Collier, manager of the Ninth street house, who is having a delightful ride on the merry-go-round, that after two false starts the Rialto will not open on Monday, September 15, but on Friday, September 19, instead. The opening attraction—when and if the Rialto reopens—will remain the same, "Little Accident," unless, by some other little accident it happens to be changed to something else in the meantime.

As this is written, Mr. Daly can not go as far as that, so perhaps I beat him to the wire by a chicken whisker after all. The last I heard that he had heard was to the effect that the Belasco will not open on September 15 with Helen Hayes in Jed Harris' production of "Mr. Gilhooley." Evidently they have their Irishmen mixed. The gentleman they mean is that other Celt, "On again, off again, gone again, Finnegan!"

Some of us have long wondered why Wesley Eddy doing a clever character bit and acting as master of ceremonies with the "Rubes and Dudes" unit at the Palace this week, did not make stage use of his convulsing telephone bit in wop dialect.

There was a festive evening many months ago, when one of Wes' birthdays was being appropriately celebrated, upon which, at a matutinal hour that finds many a sleepy laboring man on his way to work, Mr. Eddy called the information desk at Union Station by phone and for 40 minutes endeavored to learn from the patient clerk on duty what he had to do to meet his "brudd Antonio Garibaldi Antipasto Vermicelli—or words to that general effect—just over from Italy and on his way to Washington on a train that might arrive any minute.

It was as fine a job of ad libbing as I have ever heard and had a large group of merry villagers rolling on the floor in paroxysms of uncontrollable mirth. Not the same, but a similar bit is being used in "Rubes and Dudes"—or was at the first performance last Saturday.

This will probably be the first time the gentleman in charge of the information bureau that night has ever heard that he was tearing himself apart on the receiving end of a practical joke, but if he wants to see how it was done, a visit to the Palace will show him.

On last Tuesday, Hal Roach, famous comedy producer, arrived in Washington by airplane in the middle of the night at 10 a. m., and, conscious that nobody ever was up at that hour, decided to cross the talent by arranging to throw a luncheon a few minutes later.

Spur-of-the-moment invitations were issued at noon for a gathering at the Mayflower at 1. And to the credit of the craft it should be said that two-fifths of the motion picture editors in the Capital made the grade, which, under the circumstances, was a very fine percentage, indeed. Mr. Roach flew on to Philadelphia that same afternoon.

Reverting to last week-end's attendance at the openings, a word should be said of the skill displayed in converting the erstwhile orchestra pit at the Metropolitan into a floral display well calculated to engage the interested admiration of any lover of beauty. Fallas Broche, house manager, might well give himself a pat on the back, as so monotonously recommended by Lehigh's little brother, Rudy Vallee.

By the way, it is the world premiere of "Scarlet Pages" that is to be celebrated at the Metropolitan tomorrow. Nor is that all. It is in this subject that Elsie Ferguson, long one of the most distinguished stars of the so-called "legitimate" stage, makes her debut in talking pictures.

Not having seen this First National-Vitaphone release, for which so many superlative qualities are claimed, it is not within the scope of this column to pass upon the merit of the performance offered by Miss Ferguson, but from a close scrutiny of the photographic "stills" heralding the approach of "Scarlet Pages," I think it safe to predict that those who cherish vivid recollections of Miss Ferguson in the heyday of her stage career may be said to have a surprise in store for them.

And that reminds me. Next week's attractions in the downtown first run cinemagogues will be: Earle, John Barrymore and Joan Bennett in "Moby Dick" Fox, Ruth Chatterton and Clive Brook in "Anybody's Woman;" Palace, Moran and Mack in "Anybody's War;" RKO-Keith's, Lilyan Tashman, Ned Sparks and Eddie Foy, jr., in "Leathernecking;" Metropolitan, Elsie Ferguson, Grant Withers and Marian Nixon in "Scarlet Pages;" Columbia, the Four Marx Brothers in "Animal Crackers."

No wonder Al Jolson decided to quit playing the bangtails and spend his own money! If he couldn't pick 'em any better than he rides them in those close-ups in "Big Boy," where nothing shows but his head and shoulders, he's lucky to have come away with the gold in his teeth. I wouldn't swear that it hadn't been bounced out, at that!

The conductor on that Fourteenth street car that carried Senator Cole Blease past his hotel and refused to back up is laughing!

Governor of Zone Declares World Depression Is Cause.

(Associated Press.)

Revenue traffic through the Panama Canal was said yesterday by Col. Harry Burgess, Governor of the Canal Zone, to have fallen off sharply during the last three months as a result of the world-wide business depression.

The statement was made as he left the White House after a conference with President Hoover. Col. Burgess added that the disturbed political situation in Panama had resulted from differences of opinion among members of the same party and said there was nothing acute about it.

Basing his estimate upon the revenues over the last three months, Col. Burgess said he expected a decrease in canal revenues during the present fiscal year of about $1,000,000 or 1,200,000 tons as compared with the 1930 fiscal year. This would leave, however, he said, approximately $17,000,000 to be turned over to the Government from operation of the canal. Col. Burgess discussed with the President budget plans for next year.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me during Change of Life. I had to lie down most of the time because I felt so weak and I could not stand the least bit of noise, I was that nervous. I felt blue and could cry if anyone looked at me. I could not sleep or eat but I am much better now and am able to work every day. I certainly do recommend the Vegetable Compound and I will write to any woman about it."—Mrs. J. James.

MISS MYSTERIOUS

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS.

A sorority girl, affectionately known as Babe, gets a severe shock from her guardian, Clement Forseith, who says in a letter that he has lost all her money and therefore is going to commit suicide. He also says that she has been fooled all her life about her parentage and her name is not Thelma Townley. She swears to learn the truth about herself. Soon after getting this shock a young man from the West Coast, using the name of Reuben Morgan calls on her, says he knows of her trouble and proposes that she marry him as a way out of her difficulties. She is to see him the next day. That night she goes to a dance with Pete Jones, Milwaukee, senior. He knows nothing of her troubles but proposes. Babe admits her fondness for him but turns him down, determined to make her own way and learn her real identity before marrying anyone. Pete warns her against two men he has seen following her. That night Babe is kidnaped. Pete rescues her and captures the criminals. They take them to his father's summer home. One criminal escapes and Babe and Pete have to leave the house and hide in a shack, fearing that a gang will return to recapture them. Babe tells Pete her story. They come to Milwaukee and Babe insists that Pete return to school. She goes to a hotel and telephones to her friend, Violet Rimmel, at the sorority house and learns that a sneak thief has taken her metal safety box containing two old brooches. Violet sends Babe's clothes and money to her under the name of Theodora Thomas, the one she has assumed. After days of seeking work Babe is accosted by a man who is rude but forceful. He gives her a mysterious job, explaining nothing. She dresses in evening clothes and is taken to a gambling house. Her employer tells her to call him Mac. He says that he wants her to charm a certain man. The man has just entered the gambling house.

It is Morgan. Mac tells her to learn all she can about him. He takes her to a Milwaukee apartment and says that he has learned that Forseith is not dead. Then he makes love to her and Babe threatens him. In a scuffle her revolver is discharged and he falls to the davenport. There is a loud knock on the door.

Mac enters, finds that Morgan is not dead, takes his fingerprints, searches the room and discovers the antique brooches stolen from Babe's room. He takes her to her hotel. She realizes that she is in love but can't decide whether it is Pete or Mac she loves the more. The next day Mac tells her he is hunting down a murderer, a personal enemy warns her that it is a dangerous job, but asks her to continue working with him. She agrees.

They come to the conclusion that the man he is hunting is the one who is hunting her, Forseith. Morgan, who might have had a valuable clew, disappears. Babe decides to lure Forseith into their hands by having her picture printed in the papers.

CHAPTER XII.

"But how are you going to get your picture in the papers?" Mac demanded.

"I shudder at the thought." Babe actually did shudder as she answered. "But I guess I can't be much worse off than I am now. I have no family to disgrace. It'll all be on my own head."

"If you plan to do something that will hurt you I will not consent," Mac blustered.

"Who can tell whether it will hurt me or not? It will hurt my pride, but if it catches Forseith for us—gets you what you're after—helps me solve my own problem it will be worth it," she went on, arguing more with herself than with Mac, it seemed.

"Here is the plan: I will walk up to the first policeman I see and act funny. I'll say that I have lost my memory. It has been done before.

"Just what will happen after that I am not sure but I'm depending on you to be in the offing and save me if I need to be saved. Is it a go?"

"Well you seem to be running this thing now. I'm not in favor of it, to tell the truth. I feel more interested now in protecting you than I do in running down this man and getting my revenge."

His words were like balm to Babe She felt a flood of exaltation. Then she did have power over this mysterious man. She could sway him, control him. She could stop him from committing a rash, insane deed should Forseith be caught in their net. She knew his plan for vengeance was being dimmed a little by his interest in her.

This was true. Mac had struggled for fifteen years to get in a position to search the world for the man he hated. During all that time he had fought to keep women out of his mind. He had been starving for the friendship of women but did not know it, so all-powerful was his desire for revenge.

And now the girl he had picked to be an instrument of that cruel plan was softening him, melting him as a hot spring sun melts the last snows of winter.

Babe Faces an Ordeal.

But Babe was no less determined on her part to carry on the job of solving her identity. As they stepped out into the street Babe offered her hand.

"Shake again," she said. "This is a sort'a good-by. I don't know for how long. I'm glad I am well fed. It will help me keep up my courage for this stunt." They shook hands.

"Well, here goes," she gasped as if she were ready to take a plunge into a cold lake. Mac's eyes followed her as she stepped briskly toward the downtown section. When she was a good half block away he followed.

Babe passed several traffic cops who seemed to be too busy to pay much attention to a girl with a wild story. She kept walking, hating her job worse with every step but bolstering up her courage with the thought that she was bound to get speedy action with the plan.

At Wisconsin avenue and Third street she saw a sergeant of police, standing beside a signal box. She walked straight up to him and shouted, "Who am I?"

"I'll bite, who are you?" he came back. If this beautiful young woman wanted to play he was willing to get into the game.

"I'm serious, officer. I'm serious. I don't know who I am. I'm—I'm desperate."

"Well now, you don't look so desperate to me," the sergeant chuckled. "What's the big idea?"

"Idea, idea, idea?" Babe stamped a dainty foot in anger then seemed to calm down and continue in a pleadtone. "Can't you help me, officer? Can't you help me find out who I am? It's driving me wild. Can't you help me find out?"

"Sure! Run home to your ma an' ask her."

"Where is my home?"

"Say, listen sister, what are you trying to gimme?"

"You are a policeman, aren't you?" Babe asked, her big eyes opening wider and wider and using a method that every woman since Eve has used when she needed time, answering a question with another one.

"Well, I ain't wearing this suit to go to no masquerade ball."

"Then help me, help me," Babe pleaded. "I'm lost. I don't know where I am."

"Well, lady, you're at Third and Wisconsin if that's any good to you."

"What city?"

"Milwaukee, of course. Quit spoofing me and run along. I've got business to attend to."

"Yes, and I'm part of that business." As she shouted this Babe resorted to another thoroughly feminine trick. She started to cry. And even as she sobbed she wondered how she could do it so realistically. That got action and got it quickly.

A crowd began to gather.

"Shove off, you guys," the sergeant ordered. "Beat it. Take it on the run, you." He could not permit a crowd to gather. That was bad for traffic and one of the things not permitted in the rule books. Babe clung to his arm and he looked down at the tear stained face. "Quit your crying, kid," he said. "Come on with me. We'll see what this is all about."

Babe dried her eyes but a few sobs still came to make her act seem genuine. As they walked to the station Babe felt that all eyes were focused on her. She felt like a puppy in a pet shop window. The big sergeant took long strides and Babe had to use a few running steps to keep up with him but she didn't want him to slow the pace. Her heart beat faster and it was not the exercise alone that caused it. This was indeed a new experience to be added to the wild ones that had been packed into the last few weeks.

They turned into the headquarters station. The squad room was partially filled with blue-coated men. Several saw her clinging to the arm of the sergeant but they paid no attention. It was no new scene for them. Women, young and old, beautiful and ugly, had passed that door too often to excite much curiosity in their eyes.

There were several reporters standing around, waiting to see the chief. All had cigarettes stuck in their mouths and they looked bored, blase.

One whistled a low note of appreciation, however, when he saw Babe and her sergeant escort. He said nothing but slipped quietly to the pressroom on the same floor, picked up a phone that connected directly with the newspaper switchboard.

"Gimme the city editor," he snapped.

"Mike, this is Sammy. I think there is a swell picture over here. Don't know the story yet, but a sergeant just came leading in a darned swell-looking girl. She had a couple tears in her eyes yet and I think it is going to be a yarn. She's a knockout for looks, so if I can have a photographer we may make the latest with a picture."

"Send one right over," the city editor promised. "How soon can we get a line on the yarn?"

"Search me, but I don't think it will be long. This kid is none of your cheap pickups, either. She looks like Lake Shore drive to me. Call you back as soon as I've got a steer."

When Sammy stepped out of his booth he saw that all the other reporters had been calling their city editors. They had all smelled a story.

A Memory That Failed.

Meantime Babe had been ushered into a locked room with McCrory, chief of detectives. McCrory stroked his mustache, adjusted his cravat and cleared his throat: "Who you got here, sergeant?"

"I can't make it out, chief," the sergeant answered. "The little girl don't know herself, or so she says."

SHELL

If you try to decide which gasoline is the best by what its makers say—you might as well put the names of all brands in a hat, pick one out, and trust to luck. : : Every refiner boosts his own product. By ROBERT D. HEINL.

WITH the greatest number of broadcasts of symphonic music yet heard in a single season already arranged, including special concerts by the Philadelphia Symphony and the New York Philharmonic, the announcement is now made that the Boston Symphony Orchestra will offer a concert planned exclusively for radio listeners on Saturday evening, October 4.

Serge Koussevitzky will lead the orchestra of 110 musicians. He has not announced his program yet, but he has said that it will be planned to meet microphonic requirements and the interests of radio listeners. This radio concert will be the orchestra's contribution of the tercentenary program of the Massachusetts Bay Colony.

Edgar Wallace, writer of many mystery thrillers, will discuss American crime before a British microphone tomorrow afternoon (WRC, 3:45 p.m.).

AS one reads the news from Maine, the election of Representative Wallace White, jr., coauthor of the radio act, was apparently accomplished easily. However, having observed Mr. White's thoroughness in radio matters, it may be readily understood that his success was the culmination of hard work and the record he made for himself in the House.

Roxy and his original gang—that is, as many of his original gang as are in New York—will recall the good old days to listeners who remember 1923 in what Roxy terms "a real old-fashioned get-together" during the regular broadcast period next Monday evening (WRC, 6:45 o'clock).

The United States Navy Band, with guest artists, will present another of the Pan-American concerts from the esplanade of the Pan-American Building tonight (NAA, 8 to 10:30 o'clock; WRC, 10 to 10:30 o'clock).

ALTHOUGH the executives who arrange our radio entertainment have been far more successful than they ever dreamed five years ago in getting the great names of the music world before the microphone in this country, there are still three famous musicians—Paderewski, Rachmaninoff and Kreisler—with whom they have not been able to bargain.

The National Broadcasting Co. is said to be negotiating with Paderewski for a radio appearance in the United States this fall and would not be disinterested if any one knows a way of making arrangements with Rachmaninoff and Kreisler.

A large yacht has been chartered by the communication subsidiaries of the Radio Corporation of America to be used as a floating radio telegraph office for newspaper correspondents covering the America's Cup yacht races off Newport, beginning Saturday. This ship has been equipped with two high-speed radio transmitting stations.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

HOME-MADE FLOOR STAIN NO. 1
(Bureau of Chemistry.)

1 ounce permanganate of potash,
1 quart warm water.

The solution made by dissolving the permanganate of potash in the water is violet colored, but when it is applied to wood a chemical action results and the wood is stained brown. This stain gives better results on pine than on oak flooring.

1 quart turpentine.

HOME-MADE FLOOR STAIN NO. 3.

½ pound raw sienna (ground in oil),
2 ounces raw umber (ground in oil),
1 pint boiled linseed oil,
½ pint ground japan drier,
1 pint turpentine.

Putting these materials into a bottle and shaking vigorously is perhaps the best way of mixing this stain. It has been found to give excellent results on oak.

New York, Sept. 10.

MME. CAMILLE LEMONNIER, who has made herself famous adorning pretty faces with smart hats, and whose great object, she says, is to help to make women look charming, is one of the heartiest sponsors of flowers in fashions, though she does not give indiscriminate approval to all flowered materials.

She thinks it is a pity that lilies of the valley are out of favor at present, as the little white bell-shaped blossoms and their bright green leaves are so very effective, especially on black, and especially when worn by women. Not meaning to suggest that men ever wear them, I suppose, but to express the idea that lilies of the valley are more effective when worn by women than when they are placed in a vase. And Mme. Lemmonier goes on to say that flowers, used with moderation on hats, make a graceful and distinguished trimming. As to flowers on materials, she finds large flowers somewhat confusing to the eye, and prefers printed designs without very pronounced outlines.

"I wouldn't if I were you," said she, nonchalantly, with just a barely perceptible lifting of her eyelids over her deep blue eyes. Whereupon she as nonchalantly took out a tiny blue enameled revolver, and laid it on the table. This, my dears, right in the baccarat rooms of the Deauville Casino! Honestly, I nearly picked up my chips (poker chips, not potato chips) and ate them, in my excitement. And then, while I am marveling at her distinguished escort's calmness in the face of impending death or at least scandal, she pulled the trigger!

* * * *

Oh, sure, there's more to that story, but I'm just not going to tell you about it until tomorrow.

* * * *

Because I have to tell you about the two very smart "little" dresses I sketched for you today from Lenief. The one at the left was of dark brown crepela, with a brown belt, and a beige sort of an underslip and a vest effect. It was graceful and very practical, and aren't there just a million uses for a dress like this!

The other was even smarter, if such a thing could be possible of a Lenief dress when they are all so smart . . . and this one was a black marocain, with a black and white twisted collar effect, which was ever so flattering, and an odd white and green buckle. Honestly now, isn't it a love?

Maybe you think you don't need an evening cape right this minute, but, come a day when you'll need one badly, and you'll wish you had sent a stamped self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the illustrated leaflet telling you how to make two very smart models very simply. One is a coat, with big floppy sleeves which incidentally are awfully interesting on negligees as well. And the other is a cape, which is cut very, very cleverly so that there is much room where there should be, and no bulk or bagginess where there should not be. Well, all in all, a stamped self-addressed envelope wouldn't be so much trouble to send, and the leaflet will be a lot easier to understand than anything I could say about the designs.

Be sure to watch the Dare weekly Fashion Letter which is printed for you each week in The Sunday Washington Post.

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

PLEASE tell me how to properly care for a rubber plant. It is now losing its leaves. The pot is full of large worms. Please tell me how to get rid of the crawlers.
MRS. C. F.

Better transplant your rubber plant at this time, using a soil composed of good garden loam, sand and manure, equal parts. Keep the plant in the shade for the first few days after repotting it. Lime water will cause the worms to come to the surface, where they can be destroyed. If you use fresh soil, you will have no further trouble with worms.

Please tell me what to do for rosebushes where the leaves drop off. They first turn yellow, then fall. They almost always have black spots on them. My collection of these plants is an expensive one and I am loath to lose them.
A CONSTANT READER.

The best remedy for rosebushes which are covered with mildew or attacked by black spot is to dust them with Massey dust. This is a dust composed of nine parts of fine dusting sulphur and one part dry lead arsenate. This dust must reach both sides of the foliage and cover every stem. Apply it when the foliage is damp so that it will adhere. You will have to make several applications several days apart. If your roses are attacked by black spot, collect and burn all fallen leaves, as this will prevent the spread of the disease.

Am inclosing a leaf of my aspidistra plant. Please note blight and suggest a remedy. A. R. S.

Better wash the leaves with Bordeaux mixture. The leaves which are entirely covered with blight or rust had better be removed and burned.

Please tell me why the leaves on my roses are turning brown and falling. Always grew splendid roses until this year. Also tell me the name of the preparation that will rid my grass of ants. M. M. D.

Your roses are attacked with black spot. Better read answer to a Constant Reader in this column. If you care to write me again and will inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, I shall send you the name of a proprietary preparation which will help you to get rid of the ants. We can not publish names and addresses in the column.

I have a few Iceland poppies in my yard. Please tell me when to pick the seed from these plants and when to sow it. MISS N. W.

Iceland poppies self-sow very readily. If the flowers are cut every day, the plants will produce flowers all during the summer months. They are extremely hardy and will grow in any soil. The seed is so cheap that it does not pay to save seed.

Please tell me when to transplant Matilija poppies. MRS. MAUDE A.

Spring is the best time for transplanting these plants.

Please tell if there is an easy way to propagate day lilies. WILLIAM G. T.

The division of the root clumps is the easiest method of propagating the day lily. Some plants produce seeds which grow readily if planted soon after the seeds ripen.

Please tell me what is the matter with my plant of which I am inclosing a leaf. The leaves are all falling off and the new leaves are sloughing at the point where they join the root. MRS. F. ST. J.

Your aspidistra is evidently receiving too much water and insufficient sunshine. Would suggest repotting, as the soil is likely sour. Be sure to use fresh soil for this purpose. The aspidistra does best in a soil composed of good garden loam, sand and manure, equal parts.

What Today Means to You

"VIRGO."

IF September 11 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8 a. m. to 9:15 a. m., from 2:30 p. m. to 3:30 p. m., and 9 p. m. to 10:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 11 a. m. to noon, and 11 p. m. to midnight.

Astrological configurations on this date are too vague for clear interpretation. It need not, however, be a blank. As your life today has been determined by the way you lived yesterday, so your tomorrow is being determined by the way you live today. Improve that which you have!

The child born on this September 11 will have a self-reliant, courageous nature. It will not need aggressive supervision and restraint. It will be full of common-sense, ingenuity, and industry. It will be companionable, love sports, love animals, and be devoted to its home.

You are not a commercial-minded person—your loves, your sentiments, are the things which make your world go round. You do not like to listen to pure reason, and you refuse to see through lenses which are too disillusioning. You want to be fooled, and you want to be blind. You courageously fight for your ideals, and it causes you great pain when some of them are killed by a cruel, misunderstanding world. You are not a moral or mental coward, but it makes you happier to see a little bravery and loyalty in the great crowd that passes, than to hunt for their weaknesses and meannesses. The world will test you, try you and hurt you, and it is not likely that you will be able to retain your Pan-like spirit. You must fight against becoming a cynic.

An efficiency expert might mark you low in practicability, business acumen, decision and judgment; you would have to be marked plus, however, in cheerfulness, optimism, faith and originality. You refuse to worry or to take things too seriously. You are a most lovable man or woman, and you are frequently imposed upon, but usually harbor no rancor or revenge.

You are magnetic and attractive to members of the opposite sex. Beware of traitors (especially if you be a woman) amongst those of your own sex. You are intuitive, psychic, and also superstitious. Your mental strength overlaps your physical endurance.

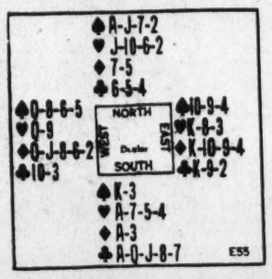
WORK ON BRIDGE

A WEL PLAYED HAND.



The above hand was played in a game of Auction Bridge. South bid one No Trump and obtained the contract.

If it had been played in Contract, South would have bid two No Trumps and North three.

In the play West led his fourth best Diamond; and South took the first trick as he saw that he could not exhaust the East hand and the moment the adversaries obtained the lead they would save the game. Nothing was to be gained by holding up the Diamond Ace for one round. East and West had nine Diamonds between them and therefore one must have at least five; consequently the game was lost to Declarer if they obtained the lead before he had obtained nine tricks.

Declarer was sure of one Diamond, one Heart and two Spades; he must make five Clubs in order to get game There was an even chance that the Club King would be in the East hand, but probably it was doubly guarded, in which case it would be necessary to enter dummy twice in order to finesse twice. Consequently Declarer risked the otherwise unnecessary Spade finesse. He led a small Spade from closed hand and dummy's Jack won; then he tried the Club finesse which also won. This was followed by the King of Spades taken with the Ace in dummy and a second Club finesse. This bold coup produced the desired result; as the adverse Clubs were divided 3-2, the King fell and game was made.

It was a daring play and one which involved very considerable risk; the cards had to be distributed on a made-to-order basis for it to work; but "nothing ventured nothing gained" proved to be a good rule in this case. Of course if the Queen of Spades had been in the East hand and the Club King only singly guarded, the Spade finesse would have been unnecessary and would have cost the game; but it was probable that East had three Clubs.

Said she; "Old dear, I am like that

Why, if you meet me face to face
A New Moonfish I'll seem to you!"

MISS MYSTERIOUS

Mirrors were behind her. The chief was in a shadow. She could not see him nearly as well as he could see her.

"What's your trouble, miss?" he asked. His tone was gruff but not unkind.

"I don't know who I am. I'm lost. I can't remember anything, but it seems like I am far away from home."

"What you got in that little bag there?" the chief asked.

"Oh, just my powder and a little money, I guess."

"Well, you know you might have some letters or something. Let me see it." Babe handed the bag over, grateful that she had left the pistol in her room.

The chief carefully laid each object out on his desk. He found nothing but a wad of bills, nearly a hundred dollars in the wad; powder, lipstick, a handkerchief. Babe drew in her breath as he pulled this out. It might have her initials on it. Some of them did. But this had no mark of identification. He studied each article intently, or seemed to. As a matter of fact, he was watching Babe in the mirrors, and she saw that he was not very interested in the contents of her purse. So she just sat still and tried to look blank.

"Where did you say you live?" he barked at her as he swung around in his swivel chair.

"I didn't say," she came back. "I couldn't say. I don't remember."

"Call in the matron," the chief ordered, and in a moment a motherly looking woman came into the room. As she did three reporters walked in.

"What's up, chief?" one asked. And, bending down so Babe couldn't hear, he whispered, "It's getting near to edition time."

"Get out, you," was the chief's only answer, and he included the others in the sweep of his arm.

Reporters and Photographers.

They stepped outside, but waited at the door. "Take this young lady into your quarters and search her," the chief commanded. "We're only trying to help her. She's not arrested. Just seems to have a case of amnesia or aphasia, or something. Wait in here a second."

He stepped out where the reporters were waiting. Three photographers were hastily filling their flash guns.

"Now, boys," he said, "I don't know a thing about this case yet, and I don't want you taking any pictures unless the girl wants to pose. No pictures unless the girl wants to pose."

"Oh, that's all right, chief. We'll just shoot one flash. All snap on it."

"This girl ain't pinched. We've got nothing on her yet. I forbid a photograph unless she'll pose, but you can ask her."

"I'll ask her," Sammy volunteered, consulting his watch and dashing into the room. "We've got a bunch of photographers waiting outside," he called to Babe. "Will you pose for 'em?"

Babe did not answer.

"It's all right, Miss—Miss—— What's your name?"

"I can't remember," Babe answered distinctly.

She had read stories of coeds who had forgotten their names and her instinct told her that the newspaper men would eat it up if she remained as vague and mysterious as possible. Her scheme was working.

"You don't know your name?" Sammy acted as if such a thing was absolutely impossible and when Babe answered, "No, I have no idea; that's why I'm here," he was as happy as an old desert rat who had just found a placer gold mine. That's your true breed of police reporter. Every story is a gold mine. Enthusiasm to get the facts is the essence of his life. He looks blase. He talks blase. He'll tell you that every story is old before you get it. There's nothing new. But when his nose scents a story he is up and at 'em, all pep.

Sammy had enough now for a story if he couldn't get more. The sergeant stayed inside. He would grab him as soon as he came out, but now he was all set for this edition and the picture was the next thing.

Most persons in a police station object to having their pictures taken, or pretend to object. He feared a refusal, so he hurried on talking.

"Say, if you don't know your name the thing to do is let us print a picture. It'll clear it all up in a couple of hours. Some one'll see the picture and come running up here to tell you all about yourself."

Babe nodded her head. She would pose.

"It's OK, boys," Sammy called out. "Get set. Say, Serge, walk out with her, will you?"

The sergeant had no objections to having his picture taken with the beauty. They stepped out in the hall together. There was an explosion. And three camera men were changing plates in the twinkling of an eye.

"Now, over here, please," one said, and again the flashlight boomed.

The reporters gathered around Babe, but she wisely refused to say anything more or answer questions. "I don't know, I don't know," was her only answer to the dozens of queries they shot at her. The matron led Babe into her quarters. She was trembling with apprehension now that the first part of the ordeal had ended.

Home canning Pays... look at the low prices of pure cane Sugar and fruit

Your grocer—newspaper—and your own eyes, when you go to market—will tell you that this is the year to put up fruit.

DON'T let this summer go by without putting up some preserves, jellies and jams. Your family will certainly thank you, and with every jar and glass you open next winter, you'll save real money.

Every menu has a place for canned fruit of some sort. You can make economical desserts and salads with it that are wholesome and delicious. For breakfast, a dish of canned peaches, plums or pears is a pleasing variation from fresh fruit and often better for children.

Remember, too, that appetizing sweet relishes, made of tomatoes, cabbage, cucumbers and melon rind, are delicious with meat and fish.

Plan now to put up some fruit for next winter's needs. Even though you only have a few jars stored away you will be well repaid when you enjoy their goodness. A bit of sweet makes the meal complete. The Sugar Institute.

thrusts. They were not working smoothly together as a team and to cap the climax, Winston Guest suddenly was bumped, thrown from his pony and badly jarred in a mixup at the bell for the end of the fifth period.

There were anxious moments until Guest manifested his ability to get up and, in a few minutes, remount to continue the battle, apparently undamaged, but this anxiety did not last long. Whether this mishap or some sudden ability to get together, the Americans swung into action as though revived by some tonic.

Before the British knew what it was all about, Eric Pedley and Earle Hopping, the two American forwards, had combined to capitalize their team's furious rally to the extent of four straight goals, where they had been struggling to keep on close to even terms. They had quickly run up a lead of 10 to 7 and r11 but decided the match in the sixth chukker.

Once in their stride, there was no stopping the Americans and particularly Pedley, the Californian, who celebrated the completion of his first international cup series by scoring the astonishing total of eight goals, shooting the ball between the uprights from all sides as he ran wild in the last three chukkers.

Pedley had been blocked and checked almost at every turn through the first five periods by the burly British back, Lieut. Humphrey Guinness, but in the last three the Californian gave his opponent a chase that he will not long forget. Pedley scored six goals in these three periods, most of them on sharply angled drives or beautiful back-hand shots. He accounted for the last five American goals, and five was exactly the margin of victory, to testify to the Californian's remarkable exhibition of mallet-work.

Pedley at His Best In Scoring.

It was the Pedley of the high-scoring test matches at his best this afternoon as the square-jawed, 34-year-old Californian finished the series with a grand total of 13 of the aggregate American score of 24 goals for the two matches.

Pedley was the hero of the final American triumph, which was witnessed by a crowd of 35,000, including the French fliers, Coste and Bellonte, but he had able assistance from the 22-year-old Earle Hopping, big No. 2 man, as well as the "back field" of Capt. Hitchcock and Guest.

Hopping scored twice in the spectacular sixth chukker, beside twice later setting the ball up for Pedley to shoot through. Hitchcock, after

South African Girl, 19, Swims English Channel

Dover, England, Sept. 10 (A.P.). Although failing to beat Gertrude Ederle's time in swimming the English Channel, 19-year-old Peggy Duncan, South African girl swimmer, today ranked among the few mermaids who have made the difficult swim across the rough stretch of water between France and England.

Miss Duncan, who weighs 200 pounds, landed at South Foreland, England, at 4:35 p. m. today, after swimming from Cape Griz Nez, France, in 16 hours and 15 minutes. Miss Ederle's record is 14 hours and 25 minutes.

The South African girl's chance of breaking the record was lost about 10:30 a. m., when she encountered an adverse tide and battled for an hour with scarcely any progress.

Regan's Homer, 2 On, Gives Red Sox Victory

Chicago, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Danny MacFayden held the Chicago White Sox to six hits this afternoon and the Red Sox won 6-2, evening the series. After the White Sox scored once on three hits in the first inning, MacFayden never let them get more than a hit an inning thereafter.

Meanwhile the Red Sox jumped on Urban Faber for a run in the second when Webb hit a home run, added another in the fourth and iced away the game in the fifth when Bill Regan hit one of the longest home runs of the year with two men on the base paths. Moore pitched well after that, fanning the side in the seventh.

Allison Loses To Shields In Singles

Charest Is Eliminated in Veterans' Net Tournament.

By TED VOSBURGH.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 10 (A. P.).—Frank Shields, the New York boy with the build and strokes of a champion, proved the big thrill of the fourth day of the national tennis singles championship by upsetting Wilmer Allison in a great five-set match decided by scores of 6-4, 4-6, 6-2, 1-6, 6-3.

For two or three years now the fans and the players have been hailing Shields as the boy who could be king if he would make the effort, and this afternoon the stalwart Shields hit the peak of his brilliant game to eliminate the player who was seeded second only to Big Bill Tilden on the list of leading contenders.

It was a big day for the younger generation of American tennis players. In another memorable five-set struggle, Cliff Sutter, of New Orleans, playing with the coolness of a veteran, downed Berkeley Bell, the brilliant little shot-maker from Texas, who put out Jean Borotra, of France. The scores were 7—9, 6—4, 6—1, 2—6, 8—6, and the result was in doubt until the final stroke, when Sutter nicked the lines in Bell's deep backhand corner for a beautiful placement and a hard-won victory.

Wood Takes Gilpin Into Camp.

A third youngster, Sidney B. Wood, of New York, came through with a 6—3, 6—2, 6—3 win over Samuel B. Gilpin 2d, of Philadelphia, winner over Bryan Grant yesterday, and will clash with Sutter in the upper half of quarter-finals tomorrow.

In the same section of the draw Shields will encounter Gregory Mangin, of Newark, N. J., while in the lower half of the line-up will be Bill Tilden vs. John Van Ryn and Frank Hunter vs. Johnny Doeg.

Three Englishmen and an Irishman, the last of the foreign contenders, went down and out of the running at the hands of Tilden, Van Ryn, Doeg and Mangin as the big gallery of 7,500 saw a full share of fine tennis.

The representative of Ireland, G. Lyttleton Rogers, 6 foot 7 inch Davis Cup ace, made a valiant stab at victory when he faced Tilden but was outclassed in the last two sets. Big Bill, winning as he pleased at 6—4, 6—1, 6—2, was more than ever the wizard of the racquet, befuddling the Irish title holder with a dazzling mixture of sizzling shots and soft "ping pong" strokes that wafted over the net like thistledown and caught the giant flat-footed in the back court regions.

Lee, Rated Best of English, Bows.

Harold G. N. Lee, rated as the best of the Englishmen, was beaten by Doeg, 6—4, 4—6, 6—2, 6—4; John Olliff lost to Mangin, 6—3, 6—3, 10—8; and Frederick Perry took a set from Van Ryn before the former Princeton captain finished him off, 4—6, 6—3, 6—4, 6—1.

The veteran Hunter, finalist against Big Bill last year, kept pace with his famous pal by turning back another old campaigner, Richard N. Williams, 7—5, 6—2, 6—4.

It was late in the day and the gallery had thinned to 5,000 when Allison, the conqueror of Henri Cochet at Wimbledon, went down to defeat before an inspired Shields. At some stages of the match, the towering New York boy, who is 19 years old, 6 feet 3 inches tall and weighs 175 pounds, carried all before him. In streaks he was invincible.

He lost the first four games of the match, then won six in a row for the opening set, the hard fighting Allison collecting only eight points in those last six games.

But the Texan was game, as always, and he made a gallant fight of it, carrying the match to five sets and

Ferrell Again Loses, Yanks Winning, 7 to 2

Cleveland, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Wesley Ferrell was unable to get back into his winning stride today in his first game after the break of his thirteen-victory streak and the New York Yankees pounded him for eleven hits and a 7 to 2 victory. The Yankees, in frustrating Ferrell's aim to boost his total victories to 25, took his measure for the third time this season.

Henry Johnson pitched a steady game, granting eight hits, and rose to the occasion whenever danger threatened. Loose playing by the Indians in the third and fourth inning got Ferrell in trouble and paved the way for four Yankee runs. Ruth, Chapman and Porter led the day's slugging with three hits apiece.

Sampson, Outsider, Beats Diegel in P. G. A. Tourney

Champion Eliminated, 1 Up, by Birdie on 38th Hole; Sarazen, Farrell and Smith Among Survivors.

By BRIAN BELL.

FLUSHING, N. Y., Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Harold Sampson, a tall, slight Californian, who can not hit a golf ball very far, but is very, very straight, today had his hour of golf glory when he removed the champion from the Professional Golfers Association championship in the second round.

Sampson defeated Leo Diegel, 1 up, although he had to go 38 holes to turn the trick. The 35-year-old pro of the Burlingame Country Club sent a 12-foot putt spinning home for a birdie 3 at the second extra hole, and the man who has been champion for two years, and always a threat in this classic competition, was eliminated.

Sampson, who has had three great golf tutors, George Smith, MacDonald Smith and John Black, led Diegel by a hole as they came to the thirty-sixth, but the champion squared the match there, and a majority of the gallery thought the Native Son was finished.

The 118-pounder from the Far West, however, had plenty of fight left. The thirty-seventh hole was halved in par 4s, and then after a straight drive he sent a spade mashie shot 12 feet to the right of the cup at the thirty-eighth. Diegel was 20 feet past with a mashie niblick. When Larraping Leo missed and the bantamweight sent his put straight into the cup, the match was over and it was certain that a new champion would be crowned Saturday.

Gene Sarazen, who remained in the hunt with a smashing victory over Bob Crowley, of Haverhill, Mass., today, 7 up and 5 to play, now is the only former champion left. Sarazen has won twice. Jock Hutchison, Walter Hagen, Jim Barnes and Diegel are the other great pros who have won the crown.

The other survivors are Charles Lacey, who defeated Al Watrous, 5 and 4; Tommy Armour, victor over Bob Shave (Cleveland) 7 and 5; Johnny Farrell, who barely nosed out Denny Shute (Columbus), 1 up; Al Espinosa, who eliminated Harry Cooper, 4 and 3; Joe Kirkwood, who was carried to the thirty-seventh hole before he could dispose of Jock Collins, of Dayton, Ohio, and Horton Smith, who downed Laurie Ayton (Evanston, Ill.), 5 and 4.

Another leading favorite gave his friends some anxious moments until the eleventh hour. Johnny Farrell never was down to Denny Shute, but he could not get much up after the

M'LARNIN 7-5 CHOICE OVER CHAMPION

Singer on Edge for Tonight's Nontitle Bout at N. Y.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Hungry for glory and recognition as a genuine champion, young Al Singer, baby ruler of the 135-pound division, will battle Jimmy McLarnin, toughest of the welterweights, in a ten-round match tomorrow night in the Yankee Stadium.

The fight faithful, often fooled by ring "Naturals" in the past that produced more yawns than action, warmed slightly today to the duel of the Jewish boy and the Irish belter. Pleasant weather and the growing belief that the 20-year-old Singer had almost an even chance to win brought lengthier lines to the Madison Square Garden ticket windows and the prospect of a $125,000 gate.

Singer came to town from his training camp at Delaware Water Gap, Pa., in splendid condition, weighing about 135 pounds, and supremely confident that he can whip the rugged Vancouver lad who has proven such a blight on the hopes of other top-notch warriors of his race.

Singer to Have No Alibis.

Despite McLarnin's knockout victories over Jackie Fields, Sammy Baker, Ruby Goldstein, Louis "Kid Kaplan and Sid Terris, Singer sought the match with the Dublin dynamiter and can have no alibis if a fistful of leather explodes in his face tomorrow night. He believes that a convincing victory over McLarnin, coming on the heels of a quick knockout of Sammy Mandell, will prove once and for all his right to rank as a real champion.

McLarnin, campaigner in every division at one time or another from the flyweights to the welters and conqueror of half a dozen champions before and after they won their titles, but never at weight, has little idea that Singer will cause him trouble. McLarnin, for his size and inches, is the best two-handed hitter in the ring today. He thinks Singer will last three rounds at the most against him. McLarnin will weigh about 141 pounds.

McLarnin Dangerous Puncher.

McLarnin, a counter puncher, lays back to slip a left lead and drop over a right hand that has spilled most of the good men he has faced. If either lands at the start, the bout may end suddenly.

Although McLarnin has ruled a 2-to-1 favorite in light betting since the match was made, the confidence of Singer and his fine condition have brought a switch in the odds. Jimmy was still the favorite today, but the odds had shrunk to 7 to 5 and 6 to 5.

Joel Tarleton, British lightweight, and Jimmy Slavin, of New York, will clash in one eight-rounder and Armando Aquilar, of Chile, and Lew Paluso, of New York, in another before the main bout. Joe Dundee, former welterweight champion, and Ben Jeby, of New York, will entertain in another eight while the crowd is filing out after the big show. The main bout is scheduled for 8:30 p. m., Eastern standard time. There will be no radio broadcast.

MACKS LOSE TO TIGERS, 4 TO 0

Sorrell Gives 4 Hits and Detroit Rookie Slams Homer.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 10 (A.P.).—The Tigers blanked the Athletics, 4-0, in the series closed here today, due, in part, to the efforts of Frank Doljack, a recruit from Wheeling, W. Va.

With the score 1 to 0 for the Tigers, he hit a home run in the fourth inning, scoring two men ahead of him, to give Vic Sorrell a comfortable lead. The extra runs were not exactly needed, for Sorrell held the Athletics to four hits, no two of them coming in the same inning.

Bill Shores was found for four hits in the four innings he held forth. George Walberg allowed but one hit for the remainder of the game. A triple by Gehringer drove in the Tigers' first run.

Two in Row for Phils As Reds Again Bow

Philadelphia, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—The Phillies made it two straight at the expense of the Cincinnati Reds by scoring a 5 to 4 victory today. Lester Sweetland and Phil Collins combined to hurl Burt Shotton's team to victory. Eppa Rixey was the victim of the defeat and was found for all the winners' runs and hits.

Robins Blank Cubs Again; Cut Lead

Luque Is Hero of 6-0 Victory Before 20,000 Fans.

Champions Are Now in Front by Only 1½ Games.

EBBETS FIELD, Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 10 (A.P.).—For the second time in as many days the Dodgers shut out the Cubs here this afternoon in the second of their three-game series and the Brooklyns won by a score of 6 to 0. As a result of their latest victory, their sixth straight, the Dodgers moved within a game and a half of the Cubs, who are still in the lead.

Adolfo Luque did the pitching for the Dodgers and the veteran Cuban allowed only five hits, the same number the Cubs made off Phelps in the first contest. All of the hits made off Luque were singles and Hartnett was the only Cub to reach third base. Luque fanned five men and walked four. His passes gave the Cubs scoring chances in the fifth, sixth and seventh innings, but each time double plays stopped the visitors.

Root Blasted Off Hill In First.

Charley Root started out as Luque's rival, but he was blasted off the mound in the first inning and did not get a man out. He was found for successive hits by Frederick, Gilbert, Herman, Wright and Bissonette, and then Jess Petty was rushed into the game. Hendrick, batting for Bressler, greeted Petty with the sixth consecutive hit.

The batting attack gave the Dodgers five runs. After Hendrick hit safely Petty stopped the home team's slugging and continued to pitch runless ball in the next six innings. Petty gave way to a pinch hitter in the eighth and Nelson finished the game. The Dodgers scored their last run off Nelson in the only inning he pitched.

Bressler dislocated a finger on his left hand in the first inning when he caught a line drive off Wilson's bat and the injury forced him out of the game.

It was Luque's fourteenth victory of the season and his third in a row. The attendance was about 20,000.

Zachary Holds Bucs To 4 Hits to Win, 5-0

Boston, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Tom Zachary, veteran southpaw, held the Pirates to four hits here today and the Braves defeated Pittsburgh, 5 to 0. Wally Berger, Tribal outfielder, got his thirty-fourth home run of the season in the first inning when he drove the ball in the centerfield bleachers with two men on base.

The Braves accorded Zachary brilliant support and at bat they gathered eight hits, with Rabbit Maranville and Johnny Neun getting two each.

3 Hagerstown Stars Purchased for Nats

Three members of the Hagerstown Blue Ridge League Club were purchased by the Nationals yesterday, according to announcement made last night by President Clark Griffith. Art Fidler and John Peregory, pitchers, and Thomas Thompson, an 18-year-old outfielder, are the trio landed, and they will be given tryouts at the Biloxi training camp next spring.

In the same deal Shortstop Eddie McGarrigan, former Mount St. Mary's all-around athlete, whose purchase was announced some time ago, was returned to Hagerstown.

Another Broken Finger Ruins L. Sewell for Year

Clevelandñ Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Luke Sewell, veteran catcher for the Cleveland Indians, will be out of the game for the rest of the season. He suffered a broken finger on his right hand as the result of a foul tip off Harry Rice's bat in yesterday's game with the Yankees. Last June Sewell sustained a similar injury and was out of the game seven weeks.

BLAEHOLDER STOPS 9TH INNING RALLY WITH BASES FILLED

Crowder Loses Despite Yielding Only Four Safeties.

Special to The Washington Post.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 10.—Hitting twice as often as the Browns failed to help the Nats, and the St. Louisans handed Walter Johnson's hopefuls a 3-to-2 trimming in the second game of the series played here today. The Nats gathered eight hits to four safeties by the Browns, yet the home boys went over for a victory because Dick Coffman was too good in the pinches.

The Nats missed a chance to pick up a game on the Macks, who bowed to the Tigers, 4-0.

The young right-hander nearly cracked in the ninth when Hayes singled and Shires doubled after one was out. The great Arthur had batted for Crowder and lined a double to right on the first ball pitched. Rice walked, filling the bases, and West popped a foul to Ferrell after which Manush was passed, forcing in Hayes and forcing Coffman out.

Three Nats on Bases At Game Ends.

Coffman was relieved by Blaeholder, who halted things right there when he took Cronin's tap and tossed to Blue for the final out of a rather well-played ball game.

Ossie Bluege was temporarily disabled when Blue slid into third in the sixth inning and cut Ossie slightly on the right hand. Blue had doubled to open the inning and had plowed into third on Metzler's hopper straight to Cronin. The shortstop made a hasty toss to Bluege and the third sacker had the ball in plenty of time to make the play, but Blue elected to go into the bag in a leap and a moment later Ossie was on the way to the coop with an injured mauler.

The first two runs scored by the Browns, in the second, came when Kress drew a life on Cronin's error and was pushed along to second when Schulte coaxed Crowder for a base on balls. Rick Ferrell, who had been shoved down to seventh place because of a batting slump, came to just in time to poke one of Crowder's curves to left for a double, scoring both runners.

Manush Makes Good Play To Nip Kress.

Manush made a fine play in the sixth when Kress' single scored Metzler. Two were but when the St. Louis third baseman hit sharply to left for a single. Kress, apparently thinking there would be a play at the plate for Metzler, was nipped at second when Manush lined a good throw to Hayes, who had the ball waiting for Kress when he slid in.

TERRANOVA BEATS CHOICE IN MARLBORO FEATURE

Special to The Washington Post.

MARLBORO RACE TRACK, Sept. 10.—C. M. Feltner's Terranova 5-year-old chestnut gelding son of North Star II—Shy Missie, under a well-timed ride by V. Drake, accounted for the mile and one-sixteenth of the fifth, looked upon as the outstanding event of the second day's program of the Southern Maryland Agricultural Fair Association's fall meeting.

Brunette Preferred, the favorite, outran the field of six from the break, but Terranova, saving ground via the rail, was leading as the field faltered in the back stretch first time around.

Adams, on Brunette Preferred, then sent his mount into the lead at the far turn while Drake wisely held until the second trip around the oval was started, where he again went through on the rail to be making the pace on the back stretch.

Once on top, Terranova easily disposed of Brunette Preferred and was home a handy winner over Ruban Rouge, one that closed fast enough in the home stretch to take the place from Brunette Preferred.

The opening event saw W. L. Saunder's High Spring break his leg at the turn for home, but managed to stagger to outside fence, where he fell and died a few minutes later.

Jockey J. Bardales managed to escape with only a slight shaking up.

The winner of the race turned up in Joe McTague's Gallopette with Chookie G. and Polly's Polly finishing as named. Gallopette's victory enabled Adams to ride his fifth winner in two days as the Baltimore Lad kicked home four winners yesterday.

Paul Haines put up a corking ride astride Charles D. Jr., to win the five and a half furlongs of the second.

Sun Meta Lasts to Get Home Second.

Haines rated Charles D. Jr. behind Sun Meta for a quarter mile, where he sent the ultimate winner on top, and by a vigorous hand ride the rest of the way home, won by a length. Sun Meta, although tiring badly last half, lasted to save the place from Saucy.

Bob Crawford's Clay Pigeon, favorite with the fans, justly proved the confidence by romping off with the third, a five and a half furlongs sprint.

The 7-year-old chestnut gelded son of Trap Rock—Bonnie Cause broke afetly, but was shut off at the first turn. However, he found racing room on the back stretch to be in command at the far turn, from where he coasted to victory. Chasing Clay Pigeon to the wire came Secrecy and West Drift in the order named.

A. J. Berger's Stylish Mack made it a double at the meeting when he accounted for the fourth race, but it was a lucky score, as J. C. Bennet's Skirmisher, the favorite, while leading, had the misfortune to have his stirrup irons break and Jockey R. Hilley was lucky to finish the race.

Accident Proves Aid to Stylish Mack.

Stylish Mack broke on top, but after going a quarter mile Skirmisher rushed into the lead only to have the accident occur. Hilley then tried to steady his mount who kept running out at the turns. In the meantime Stylish Mack again took command to win going away from Justa Pal, with Mijigado third.

Jockey A. Adams, leading winner rider here, registered his sixth victory of the meeting when he drove R. A. Johnson's Malcolm home a nose in a distance advance of Have a Care in the mile and one-sixteenth of the sixth. Third money went to Battle Shot.

Malcolm followed Have a Care's pace to the final jump where he stuck his nose in front.

Guarany, with Jockey Adams up, won the seventh race in easy fashion and accounted for the seventh victory credited to Adams during the two days of the meeting thus far. It also was Adams' fourth winning ride today.

Guarany was held back off the pace for three-quarters, and Adams let her out to pass the field and win by three lengths. Sometime, after a fast start, dropped back and was fifth turning into the stretch, but under pressure got up in time to take second money. Quadroon, which also set a hot early pace, just lasted to take third.

—Lincoln Fields Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

THE Lincolnshire Country Club, an allowance race, features Lincoln Fields racing today at Chicago. The class of horses is varied, and there is not an outstanding choice in the lot. ZIDA is picked to win, on the idea that she may run back to her best form. T. S. JORDAN does not seem at his best. Ordinarily he would have been selected, a few months ago. GOLDEN PRINCE, a big money winner in his time, is overdue and he may step into the spotlight again. NUSAKAN is another menace. He has beaten this kind at a long price since going West, and holds track records in the East. ZIDA at 99 pounds looks best of the collection.

FIRST RACE—THAT'S IT is selected to defeat EASTER in the first race, with ESTIN next best. This is a claiming race at seven furlongs. THAT'S IT seems to be going back a bit, and may need this race to put him on edge. EASTER, when racing in the East, was a better horse than anything in the field, but horses go back rapidly and many of the good ones racing in Chicago this season may be on the Ohio circuit next.

SECOND RACE — SHIFT should prove best in the second race, under identical conditions as the opening event. PERCENTAGE always runs his race, win or lose, and he probably will be the contender. SHIFT has won over very good fields of platers in recent weeks, and may repeat. BLACK FLIER should show speed, but may need mud, and the track remains fast.

THIRD RACE—SISTER MARY is one of the most consistent as well as one of the fleetest 2-year-olds around Chicago and is again selected to win, being the class of the field in the third event. GUNFIRE, which showed some class in the East, may run back to those races, and if so has a real chance. UPRIGHT should never be overlooked in a field of this kind.

FIFTH RACE—MISS MARNIE should have an easy trip in the fifth race, secondary feature, at a mile and a sixteenth. EL WEIR is selected for place, but with hesitancy on a fast track. But there is so little to beat that he should overcome his aversion to fast going and beat the others. COME ON is rated next in the field of 3-year-olds.

SIXTH RACE — The field in the sixth race is larger, but more ordinary in class. The plater TENNESSEAN should have a good chance. Earlier in the season he ran two or three good races. With a rest-up it is possible that he may come to life. RACKETEER should have a chance and is tabbed for place. He is better in mud. CORINNE D. or FERN F. should make up the money circle.

SEVENTH RACE—The seventh is bad enough to permit the election of HY SCHNEIDER for first money. He is a fair plater, and his winning record keeps up a very good average. He will have QUIBBLER to beat. QUIBBLER has a small advantage in weight. FINNIC may be more dangerous than rated. The entire card is simply an average midweek offering that may show formful racing.

REVEILLE BOY was started from the outside of the stall gate after acting badly at the post, but broke well, had no excuses and tired in the last furlong. Two-dollar mutuels paid—TYPHOON, $6.66, $3.76, $2.62; VICTORIAN, $6.84, $3.54; ULUNIU, $3.08.

TYPHOON sprinted to the front rounding the first turn, was taken in hand after opening up a short lead on the back stretch and, responding gamely when forced to a drive in the run home, held his opposition safe to the end. VICTORIAN was forced back at the far turn, came to the outside approaching the stretch turn and raced gamely through the stretch, but could not catch the winner. ULUNIU was closest to the winner in the early running, but was tiring at the end. ISLAM was badly outrun early and made up some ground in the stretch. SETH'S HOPE went fairly well and may have needed the race.

BURROWS IS LEADING BANNOCKBURN QUALIFIERS

74 Low Score At End of First Day

Good Players in Second Half Which Is Played Today.

Maj. Naiden Tops D. C. Qualifiers for Army Play.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

ON the first day of the qualification round of the annual fall invitation tournament played yesterday on the course of the Bannockburn Golf Club, a field of more than 100 players was led by R. H. Burrows, with a score of 38—36—74, three strokes ahead of the card of J. J. Baggett, Beaver Dam, which totaled 38—39—77.

Burrows, who is an unattached player, well known to frequenters of the public links at Rock Creek Park, is a poultry dealer in the West End Market and was one of the four Washington players who qualified to play in the recent national public links tournament at Jacksonville, Fla., and was a member of the team which represented the National Capital in the competition for the Warren G. Harding intercity team trophy.

Only 5 Scores of 80 Or Less.

Although winter rules were played, only five contestants turned in scores of 80 or less, indicating that 81 will qualify at the conclusion of today's qualifying round, when the remaining half of the field will compete. Today's list of entrants includes many leading Washington golfers, among whom are Albert R. Mackenzie, Harry G. Pitt, John C. Shorey, Roger Peacock and William P. Di Este, as well as a large contingent of the younger players who are negotiating local courses in the low 70s. It is expected that a number of these junior players will turn in scores today which will entitle them to places in the first sixteen.

Owing to the drought the course was as hard as a concrete floor, and the greens, due to lack of watering, were by no means reliable. Nevertheless, many of the golfers yesterday scored birdies, while Burrows, on the twelfth green with his second stroke, was fortunate enough to score an eagle 3 on the hole. The five scores of 80 and under were as follows:

R. H. Burrows, unattached..... 38—36—74
J. J. Baggett, Beaver Dam..... 38—39—77
J. T. McCarthy, Bannockburn.. 39—39—78
M. P. McCarthy, Beaver Dam.. 40—39—79
J. G. Biggs, jr., Argyle..... 39—40—79
Leo F. Pass, Bannockburn..... 40—40—80

A large number of the contestants yesterday failed to turn in their cards, many of them knowing that they could not qualify in the flights to which they would be assigned by their handicaps. The other players who had cards under 100 were as follows:

81—W. L. Pendergast, Bannockburn; J. B. Heron, Bannockburn.
82—Luther Florine, unattached.
84—M. H. Robb, Manor.
85—G. Emerson Moore, Bannockburn; W. E. Coleman, Hopkinsville, Ky.; Harry Grier, Bannockburn.
86—Frank J. Pickett, Bannockburn.
87—W. W. Seay, unattached.
88—Clarence Dodge, jr., Columbia; Fred W. Rade, Manor; E. D. Crammond, Bannockburn; J. W. Reese, Bannockburn.
90—John J. Reardon, Argyle; John P. McCarron, Congressional; G. Pray, Manor; Frank S. Butler, Argyle. Drew Savoy, Bannockburn; E. M. Willis, Washington Dr. W. W. Marr, Bannockburn.
91—John Baldwin, Argyle; W. M. Smith, Indian Spring; E. C. Alvord, Bannockburn; Morris Edwards, Bannockburn.
93—W. T. Smith, Bannockburn.
94—R. G. Gibbs, Argyle; C. G. Bailey, Indian Spring; J. Kip Edwards, Bannockburn; C. S. Kellogg, Bannockburn.
95—William Torrey, Bannockburn.
96—George D. Wellington, Los Angeles; L. B. Pierson, Beaver Dam; Dr. H. L. Weer, Bannockburn; Louis Spangler, unattached; R. V. R. Haig, Bannockburn.
98—R. D. White, Los Angeles; Dr. L. L. Lumsden, Bannockburn; E. C. Kellogg, unattached.

In addition to the medal offered for the low gross score there will be a prize for low net. When all the cards had been turned in yesterday there was a tie for low net, J. J. Baggett (Beaver Dam) having a card of 77—8—69, and J. B. Heron (Bannockburn) scoring 81—12—69. A quartet of other players tied at net 70 as follows: Frank J. Pickett (Bannockburn), 86—16—70; J. W. Reese (Bannockburn), 88—18—70; E. D. Crammond (Bannockburn), 88—18—70, and Clarence Dodge, jr. (Columbia), 88—18—70. The standing of these players may, however, be materially changed when the second round of qualifying is completed today.

Maj. Naiden Leads Army Qualifiers.

Maj. Earl L. Naiden, an instructor at the War College and winner of the Army golf championship at Philadelphia three years ago, led the field of Army officers who competed Tuesday and yesterday in a 36-hole medal play round for eligibility to play in the Army golf championship at Fort Leavenworth, Kans., next week. His card of 80 for the opening day was supplemented yesterday by a fine score of 76 for a total of 156.

Maj. R. F. Sutherland, son of former Senator Sutherland, of West Virginia, who recently played two consecutive rounds on the Burning Tree course in 68 and 69, was second with a card of 82—78—160. Four other officers qualified, as follows: Capt. W. J. Clear, of the Washington Golf and Country Club, 82—80—162 Maj. E. A. Noyes, 80—83—163; Maj. F. A. Mountford, 84—82—166, and Capt. N. L. Baldwin, 82—85—167.

The competition for low net resulted in a tie between Maj. Ransom, 171—28—143, and Capt. Baldwin, 167—24—143. The Army officers plan to leave tomorrow for Fort Leavenworth and will make the round trip in a large motor car driven by Frank Hartig, the club professional.

Young Webb W. C. C. Junior Champ.

The junior championship of the Washington Golf and Country Club, 36 holes, medal play, has been won by Thomas D. Webb, jr., with a score of 75—73—148. Charles D. Evans, jr., was second, with 79—79—154, while E. T. Rice finished third with 79—78—157. James G. Drain was fourth with 79—80—159. There were only six contestants.

DIEGEL BOWS IN P. G. A. UPSET

luncheon recess left him with a lead of two holes. The Columbus star shot this away early in the afternoon and then they see-sawed until Shute squared the match at the thirty-fourth. Johnny came back with a birdie to go on up at the thirty-fifth, and a half at the thirty-sixth left him the winner, although a long putt almost fell in for Shute.

Although Crowley flashed some brilliant golf, notably three birdies in a row, Sarazen was too steady for him, and this match never was in doubt. Horton Smith, too, had a fairly easy day with the veteran Scotsman, Laurie Ayton, and Tommy Armour, shooting under fours for his day's play, carried far too many guns for Bob Shave.

Cooper Not in Best Form.

Harry Cooper did not play so well today as he did yesterday, while Espinosa, wild in spots, cashed in on his ability to get his approaches close to the pin.

Joe Kirkwood and Jock Collins fought out a ding-dong match in which there never was more than one hole's difference in the 36. Kirkwood squared the match at the thirty-fifth and won at the extra hole, a par four being good enough.

The elimination of the champion stunned the crowd. Although Sampson has been prominent in Pacific Coast golf for years, his great fame in the game has been as a teacher.

"George Smith taught me to teach and Mac Smith taught me to play," said Sampson after the match.

"It's a great thing to beat a champion, especially such a champion as Leo, and I hope I was a credit to my teachers today."

Diegel heartily congratulated the victor and told him if he had more strength he would rank with the greatest golfers in the business, and that was a funny thing to say to a man named Sampson.

"My trouble," the champion continued, "was that I softened up at the close. I should have kept on murdering the ball. That's the only way to play. You can't steer that ball and get away with it."

Sampson cut a hole from Diegel's morning lead of two when he won the twenty-third with a great birdie four and then squared matters at the twenty-fifth. When they halved the twenty-seventh in birdie twos, they started the last nine all even, and nine holes were not enough.

Sampson Gains Lead.

After a half at the twenty-eighth, Sampson went up for the first time by winning the twenty-ninth, where Diegel was trapped. Diegel promptly squared the match. Diegel went up again and Sampson came right back to level it again and finally they started to the home hole with Sampsan 1 up. Diegel squared it again there but he could not match Sampson's putt two holes later.

Tomorrow's play will array Sampson against Lacey, Armour against Farrell, Sarazen against Espinosa and Kirkwood against Smith.

Line Scrimmage Held For Middie Gridmen

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Sept. 10.—Bill Ingram sent the Navy football linemen through their first scrimmage today. Although the Middies have been back in uniform only three days, Ingram must get the players in shape for the opening game on the schedule with William and Mary October 4.

After a period in which the linemen were given individual work, the Plebe forward wall was sent against the varsity men. The backs did not run with the ball, as they were on another section of the field running through plays under the direction of Tommy Hamilton, the back-field coach.

With nine letter men from the squad last year available, the contest for the open berths is expected to be a spirited one. Johnny Gannon, Jack Castree, Flea Binns and Bullet Kirk were the regular backs last season, and around them Ingram will build up his ball carriers this year. Among the many candidates for the line, there will have to be five chosen to fill the places left vacant by graduation. For the rest of the week work will be along general lines, but before the end of the following week it is expected that the first stringers will have been spotted.

Strickler Again Fights In Cumberland Feature

Cumberland, Md., Sept. 10.—"Socko" Trenaman, heavyweight, of Westernport, Md., and Billy Strickler, of Washington, D. C., have been chosen as opponents in the eight-round feature bout at the next boxing show to be held at the Maryland Theater on Thursday, September 17, under the direction of "Vic" Ricker. Strickler is the only boxer holding the distinction of having gone more than three rounds with the Westernport slugger. The scrap staged at Hagerstown went the limit of eight rounds with the decision for Strickler. It was the eleventh fight in Trenaman's career, the other ten having ended via the knockout route in less than three rounds. Trenaman is managed by James F. McGuire, former manager of the Cumberland Baseball Team in the Middle Atlantic League.

The Lennox-Chiodo bout also will be the second meeting between this pair of popular featherweights. Chiodo came here about a year ago and halted Lennox's winning streak by stopping the Zihlman boy in the first round. Chiodo has quite a reputation in Cumberland, having won six consecutive bouts here in as many starts. There will be a four-round curtain raiser and a six-round preliminary.

U. S. POLOISTS WIN FROM BRITISH

Pedley Leads Attack With 8 Goals in 14-9 Victory.

a harassing five periods with the slight Anglo-Argentine ace, Lacey, forced the final attack with superb skill and hitting while Guest came up frequently to make it an irresistible, four-man-attack.

These last three wild periods took the edge abruptly from the British charge that had been so persistent and likewise successful at the outset of the game. The challengers were out to do or die. So furious were their pace that one of Capt. Roark's star ponies, Joy Bells, broke down at the close of the fourth period. The mount, a 10-year-old brown mare, broke its right foreleg, hobbled from the field in tragic misery and was destroyed.

British Challenge Courageous.

So courageous was the British challenge that in three separate periods, the first, third and fifth, they took the lead with beautiful exhibitions of team work, featuring the fine setting of Lacey and Roark. The challengers led, 3-1, in the first period as Lacey broke loose to tally twice in succession on beautiful runs. They were again in front by 5-3 in the third chukker after Hitchcock and Pedley had combined to tie the score. The American captain again was the big factor in squaring the count as he passed to Hopping for one goal and tallied another himself.

At half-time, the Americans managed to gain a 6-5 lead, due to a fine goal by Guest that represented the only scoring in the fourth period, but this advantage was wiped out by another British onslaught in the Fifth chukker. Balding scored on a pass from Roark and the latter then made good a penalty shot from the 10-yard line to give the British a 7-6 lead at the close of the period.

It was here that Guest was thrown, barely getting clear as his pony rolled over on its back. Simultaneously the British threat vanished and the Americans launched the winning counter-drive, interrupted only by solo scoring efforts by Roark and Lacey. So sweeping was the American attack that the British goal was being bombarded almost constantly for the last three periods. Eight goals were scored altogether, as Pedley and Hopping found the range, but as more shots were missed by narrow margins. The British, especially Lacey and Guinness, made some remarkable saves, but the American onslaught was too relentless to be checked except at a few salients and then not for long.

While most of the big crowd clustered around and cheered, the international cup was presented to the winners by the American captain's mother, Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock, sr., to accompanying roars of approval. Each member of the American team drank from the trophy, in celebration of their tenth straight conquest over England, after which the gallant but beaten challengers also quaffed the sparkling beverage.

NET ENTRIES WILL CLOSE TOMORROW

Best D. C. Players to Enter Wardman Tourney.

ENTRIES will close and the draw will be made tomorrow for the annual Wardman Park tennis tournament scheduled to open Saturday afternoon on the courts adjacent to Wardman Park Hotel. Esteban Vergess, Wardman tennis professional, is receiving the entries.

Already more than 40 men and 10 women have filed entries. When the list closes, Vergess expects to have about 60 men and 20 of the fair sex.

With such a large competing field in prospect, Vergess looks forward to an interesting, keenly contested tournament. Cooly Mitchell, winner of the men's singles crown last year, and Frances Krucoff, women's champion, both are entered in defense of their titles.

District's Best Players To Compete.

Practically every tennis player of note in both the men's and women's classes in Washington is expected to appear. Besides Mitchell, others expected to play in the men's division are Bob Considine, District of Columbia champion; Tom Mangan, former District champion; Eddie Yeomans and Bud Markey, local public parks doubles champions; Alan Staubly, George Washington U. star, and Felix Silva, Filipino champion.

Rivals of Miss Krucoff will be Mrs. Ruth Martinez, local public parks champion; Josephine Dunham, City of Washington winner; Frances Walker and Mary K. Burke.

The cups donated by Secretary of State Stimson to the men's and women's champions of 1929 again will be in competition, while additional prizes will be offered by officials of the Argentina and Japanese Embassies.

Two Columbia Rookies Are Bought by Pirates

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 10 (A.P.).—The Columbia Comers of the South Atlantic League today announced the sale of Floyd Young, shortstop and Clay Mahaffey, pitcher, to the Pittsburgh Piratees.

Mahaffey, though owned by the Comers, spent the season farmed out to the Henderson Club of the Piedmont League. J. G. Payne, Comer outfielder, was sold yesterday to Wichita, of the Western League. The amounts involved were not announced.

Hardwick Will Help With V. P. I. Punting

Blacksburg, Va., Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Coaches Neal and Clark, Virginia Poly mentors, believe they have two kicking toes in the Gobbler camp this year.

For two years the toe of Capt. Bird Hooper has been doing the Tech pigskin booting, but this year coaches hope to relieve the kicking general of some of the punt work, with the discovery of Sam Hardwick, one of the speediest half backs of the Gobbler flock, who this year has found the secret of accurate and long-range kicking.

Hardwick is a cousin of Harry Hardwick, captain of the V. P. I. 1922 eleven, and later All-American, who now is coaching at the United States Naval Academy.

the usual $25 fine, but President Barnard, realizing that Harris was the Nationals' only extra outfielder and not wishing to handicap them too greatly, later reduced the lay-off to one day, but increased the assessment to $100.

No Bones Broken in Myer's Wrist.

Second Baseman Buddie Myer, who has been bothered with an injured wrist, had it X-rayed this morning and was advised that no bones were broken. He probably will not be able to get back into the line-up for several days, however. Bluege, too, likely will be missing for a game or two because of today's injury, which was painful, but not serious. Jack Hayes and Jimmy McLeod will continue to sub for this pair.

Walter Stewart, St. Louis southpaw, who has scored seventeen victories this season, is booked to pitch for the Browns today, while Manager Johnson has intimated he will make it a left-handed battle by sending Lloyd Brown to the mound for the Nats.

ALLISON AND BELL BEATEN IN SINGLES

battling Shields to a standstill up to the middle of the final chapter.

Allison Falls Down In Match.

With the games at 3—4 in Shields' favor and Allison serving, the tired Texan, who is slight of build by comparison with his stalwart foeman, sprawled at full length in lunging for one of Shield's whistling drives. After that his control was never the same, and Shields ran out the match without losing another game.

In the five set tussle between Bell and Sutter, the national intercollegiate champions of 1929 and 1930, respectively, Sutter wore his opponent out in similar fashion. In the fourteenth game Bell's wavering arm missed an easy smash. It was the handwriting on the wall. He saved match point with a volley placement, but again he missed a smash, usually his best shot. Sutter was not to be denied and he stowed away set and match with a master stroke to the corner.

Sutter won the intercollegiate crown in the absence of Bell, who was in Europe with the Davis Cup squad, but if today's match was needed to give him clear title to the throne, no one now can say him nay.

In the national veterans' single championships for men over 45, the two outstanding favorites were eliminated as the field narrowed to the quarter-final eight. C. M. Charest, of Washington, D. C., one-armed player who won the title last year, bowed to Dr. William Rosenbaum, of New York, 8—10, 6—3, 6—3, and L. A. Godfree, of England, was beaten by Henry Bassford, of Bronxville, N. Y., 6—2, 2—6, 7—5.

Clifford Sutter, New Orleans, defeated Berkeley Bell, Austin, Tex., 7—9, 6—4, 6—1, 2—6, 8—6; Francis T. Hunter, New Rochelle, N. Y., defeated Richard M. Williams, Philadelphia, 7—5, 6—2, 6—4; Frank Shields, New York, defeated Wilmer Allison, Austin, Tex., 6—4, 4—6, 6—2, 1—6, 6—3; Gregory Mangin, Newark, N. J., defeated John S. Olliff, England, 6—3, 6—3, 10—8; Sidney B. Wood, New York, defeated Samuel B. Gilpin 2d, Philadelphia, 6—3, 6—2, 6—3; William T. Tilden 2d, Philadelphia, defeated G. Lyttleton Rogers, Ireland, 6—4, 6—1, 6—2; John Van Ryn, East Orange, N. J., defeated Frederick J. Perry, England, 4—6, 6—3, 6—4, 6—1; John Doeg, Santa Monica, Calif., defeated Harold G. N. Lee, England, 8—6, 8—1, 6—4.

Capital City League Title Battles Will Open Sunday

Anacostia Eagles Play Bausermans, Dixie Pigs Face Takoma Tigers in First Championship Series Contests.

THE Capital City League's own "world series" gets under way Sunday with a pair of battles that promise to set a new high point for sandlot baseball rivalry. The competition involves the four section winners in a play-off for the unlimited championship of the Capital City League.

At the Byrd Stadium at the University of Maryland, the Dixie Pigs, Prince Georges County champions, will meet the Takoma Tigers, Montgomery County champions.

Over at Congress Heights, the Anacostia Eagles, District champions, will entertain the Bauserman Motor Co. Nine, champion of the Virginia section.

Both games are scheduled to start at 3 o'clock

With the title being decided in a "double knockout" series—two defeats eliminating a team—the rival clubs will be forced to show their best hand from the start and some lively battling is anticipated. Some of the wild and woolly play that generally goes with sandlot championship games is expected to be missing. Each of the rivals has had a hard battle to gain section honors and is a seasoned club.

The Takoma Tigers will probably start Ray Davidson against the Dixie Pigs, who will have Blackie Adair or Lefty Stevens ready for the Montgomery Prides.

The Eagles will use either Hal Brown or Jimmy Goodwyn, while Bauserman is figuring on sending either Bernie McCarthy or Hull to the hill.

The eligibility lists of the rival clubs follow:

BAUSERMAN MOTOR CO.—Bill Snow, C. L. Hull, Alec Cobell, Charles Schaffel, Robert McPherson, John Demest, Judy Forest, Earl Bowman, Bennie Wormersley, William West, Bernard McCarthy, S. C. Peterson, B. A. Baker, David Harrison, Charlie DeLashmutt, S. H. Rittnour, Walter Ruding.

DIXIE PIGS—Lefty Stevens, Blackie Adair, K. Waits, E. N. Dove, James Dunn, Fee Colliere, Malcolm Simons, J. A. Cumberland, Hugh Waldrop, C. E. Abirall, Huck Stahl, Harry Wolfe, E. W. Clapper, Ed Radtke, D. G. Joseph, W. Greenwell.

Lipton Cup Regatta Here Saturday Draws Star Field

HONORED with the presence of no less than eleven national individual and team champions, the Sir Thomas Lipton Cup canoe regatta to be held Saturday afternoon on the Potomac River should develop some of the most interesting aquatic competition witnessed here this summer.

The regatta, which will determine Delaware-Chesapeake sectional championships, has attracted among others Ernie Reidel, world's double blade champion, who will represent the Pendleton Canoe Club of New York City.

Twelve canoe organizations from ten Eastern cities will send contestants to the meet which is being sponsored by the Potomac Boat Club. Fourteen events, the first to start at 2 p. m., have been programmed. The Washington Post will award a trophy to the winning senior four double blade crew. Numerous other trophies are to be presented, including the Sir Thomas Lipton perpetual point trophy, donated by the famous boat racing sportsman.

Following is a list of the clubs entered and the championships they hold:

Pendleton Canoe Club, New York City (national senior and one-man double blades, senior quadruple double blades and senior tandem double blades); Yonkers Canoe Club, Yonkers, N. Y.; Indian Head Canoe Club, Riverdale-on-the-Hudson, N. Y. (national intermediate quadruple double blades and intermediate quadruple single blades; Tuscarora Canoe Club, Belleville, N. J.; Bristol Yacht Men's Association, Bristol, Pa. (national junior one man single blades); Cacawa Canoe Club, Tacony, Pa.; Philadelphia Canoe Club, Philadelphia, Pa.; Dundalk Canoe Club, Baltimore, Md.; Old Dominion Boat Club, Alexandria, Va.; Washington Canoe Club (national senior and junior tilting team, junior tandem single blades, senior quadruple single blades and junior quadruple double blades); Potomac Boat Club (national senior one man single blades); Sycamore Canoe Club, Sycamore Island, Md.

Pin Officers Elected In Wash. Ladies' Loop

Bronson Quaites has been elected president of the Washington Ladies Duckpin League for the coming season, it has been announced. Betty Hoffman has been made vice president and Rena Levy, secretary-treasurer. Jim Baker will again handle the individual averages.

With ten teams already to line up, applications have been received from several more, and a meeting will be held next Wednesday night to determine the remaining teams of the loop. The league will again roll all of its games at the Coliseum on Tuesday nights. A new feature this year will be the distribution of special prizes in trophies and cash, giving each bowler a chance to gain some award.

Odd Fellows' Pinmen Start; Officers Elected

Wilfred E. Lawson, for seventeen years president of the Odd Fellows Bowling League and past grand master, has resigned his post due to business matters. Millard F. Zepp, another past grand master, has been elected to succeed him. Other officers have been elected as follows: Vice president, I. C. Lund; secretary-treasurer Chalmers F. Groff, and official scorer, P. C. Eliett.

The league will open its eighteenth annual season next Monday night at 8 o'clock on the King Pin No. 2 alleys. The handicap system will be continued, but has been raised from one-half to two-thirds, with a maximum allowance of 45 pins.

Singapore Captures Historic St. Leger

Doncaster, England, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—The St. Leger Stakes, longest, oldest and last of the five racing classics of the English season, was won today by Singapore, owned by Lord Glanely, the industrialist. The race carries about $60,000 in prizes.

Singapore, the son of Gainsborough out of Istrabbazia, ran a great race. He started second and was fourth at the end of the first half mile, being led by Ut Majeur, by Parenthesis, the favorite, and by Diolite, winner of the 2,000 guineas and two other races during the season.

Singapore won by a length and a half after coming through with a mighty stride during the last half of the race. Behind him at the finishing line were Parenthesis and Rustom Pasha, the Aga Khan's colt, which came three-quarters of a length behind Parenthesis. Parenthesis, by Son-in-Law out of Bracket, is owned by Lord Woolavington, the former Sir James Buchanan, and Ut Majeur is by Khar, out of Uganda.

PALACE D. G. S. DRILLS.

The Palace D. G. S. Football Team will practice at Seventeenth and B streets at 7:30 o'clock tonight. All old and new candidates are asked to report.

PINMEN MEET TONIGHT.

A meeting of the Prince Georges County Bowling League will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the clubrooms of the American Legion at Hyatsville to discuss final plans for the league's season soon to open.

Race Horse Booed When Beaten by Field

Chicago Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Brown Wisdom, the fleet 5-year-old son of Brown Prince II—Prodigy, now knows how Babe Ruth and Hack Wilson feel when they get booed for not getting a home run. The flashy thoroughbred went into the Olympia Fields Country Club stake race yesterday an odds-on favorite. He finished last in a field of five and the large crowd booed him lustily.

Columbia Heights Pin League Reelects Two

J. K. Simmons and A. R. Swan have been reelected to office in the Columbia Heights Bowling League, with the first-named acting as president and treasurer and the latter as vice president. J. E. White has been chosen secretary and scorer.

The league will open on September 23. Two new teams, Ford Electric and Liondale Shirts, have been granted franchises.

D. C. Marine Near Top In Camp Perry Shoot

Camp Perry, Ohio, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Firing for the national individual rifle championship reached the final stage today, with Sergt. E. R. Cook, of Tucson, Ariz., out in front of 1,658 other competitors by a slender margin.

Cook shot his way up from second place in the first two stages yesterday and finished with a day's score of 195 out of a possible 200 for the first four stages. Sergt. J. M. Blakley, of the United States Marines, was a close second with a score of 195, but less accurate targets on the long range.

Behind these two were Capt. R. T. Presnell, Washington, Marines, 194; Sergt. J. R. Tucker, Bellington, Wash. Marines, and Corpl. A. W. Dumsha, Baltimore, Marines, and Lieut. C. M. Cox, Clarence, Mo., United States Navy, with 192 each.

Today's final stage was over the 1,000-yard range at slow fire. Yesterday the competitors fired over the 200-yard ranges at rapid and slow fire, 300 yards at rapid fire and 600 at slow fire.

Assistant Secretary of War Frederick H. Payne will fly here from Washington for Friday's and Saturday's events.

BOZEK HURT AT G. U. CAMP

Injures an Ankle in Drill; News From Other Camps.

Special to The Washington Post.

POINT LOOKOUT, Md., Sept. 10.—Johnny Bozek, Georgetown's slippery-hipped half back, suffered an ankle injury in dummy scrimmage today and will be out of the Blue and Gray football practices for a week. He was on crutches tonight in company with Joe Bandzul, husky aspirant for a guard position, who was hurt on Monday.

Regular scrimmage will commence Saturday morning, Coach Tommy Mills announced. This phase of the training would have opened earlier but for the injury jinx that has struck the camp.

"Whitey" Dashiell, Alexandria boy and former U. S. Marine star halfback, is showing up especially well as a candidate for the Hilltop freshmen eleven.

Maryland Seeks Center Candidates.

College Park, Md., Sept. 10.—Coach Curly Byrd is back where he started in the search for a center for his Maryland University Football Team. With training having passed into the second week, "Skippy" Faber, 1929 reserve, remains the only center with any experience available.

Today Coach Byrd dug into his grab bag and extracted a center from last year's freshmen, a former freshman guard, and a reserve back from the 1929 varsity. They are, respectively, John Scott, Harold Norwood and Paul Cronin, and they will undergo trials which Byrd hopes will produce the finished snapper-back product that he so earnestly desires.

Bob Wilson, guard, and Fred Stieber, back, of last year's varsity squad, whom the Old Line mentor used at center last week, were ordered today to return to their old positions where Byrd believes they will prove more valuable.

Blocking, Tackling Feature Catholic U. Drill.

An arduous 15-minute scrimmage was held yesterday by the Catholic University squad in Brookland Stadium. All of the 36 players excepting Capt. George Menke, Ed O'Brien, Johnny Oliver and Bus Sheary, who are suffering slight injuries, participated.

Until the freshmen, who are to report next Monday, get into playing condition, the Cardinal varsity will be unable to hold regular scrimmages because of insufficient material.

Stress was laid on blocking and tackling in yesterday's drill. As the squad lacks weight and experience, the coaches are working overtime attempting to develop the highest degree of proficiency attainable in the arts of blocking and tackling.

Folston Shifted to Guard At American U.

George "Reds" Olsen, hard-running halfback, reported to the American University gridmen yesterday at the Massachusetts Avenue Heights Field. Other candidates for the 1930 Eagle Eleven are expected daily and by Monday more than twenty are expected to be present.

Milton Polston, 275-pounder, whom Coach Walter Young first tried in the full-back post, has been shifted to a guard position. He needs to develop more speed, however, before he can make a serious bid for a regular berth.

G. W. U. Gridders Tae First Tackling Drill.

Camp Letts, Md., Sept. 10.—The first tackling of the season was indulged in by the George Washington University Football Squad here today with the boys pairing off against one another in the drills. Heavier work of the same type is scheduled for tomorrow with light scrimmages also planned. As yet no casualties have been reported, and every one of the squad of 40 is said to be in tiptop shape. The fine showing of all concerned has prevented the Colonial coaches from attempting to pick even a temporary first-string team.

Eight Pairs of Brothers Trying for Grid Team

Special to The Washington Post.

Weston, W. Va., Sept. 10.—Here's something unusual. Coach Fred Weihl and Capt. Victor Wojcihovski, of Weston High School, who are putting their gridders through practice work on the State hospital lawn here after a week's stay at the Gauley River training camp, have eight pairs of brothers in the outfit.

The brothers are Victor and Louis Wojcihovski, Oren and Nelson Peterson, Bob and Jack Taylor, Ed

STOCK SALES REACH PEAK DURING MONTH

Merchandising and Utility Feature Again in Spurt in Morning Session.

DAY'S CLOSE IRREGULAR

New York, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—The stock market stepped along briskly during most of today's trading, but lost some of its energy in the last hour and closed irregularly. Activity of the first four hours, however, was sufficient to put total sales within 20,000 shares of the 2,500,000-share mark, making volume the largest since August 8.

All groups of stocks received attention from the professional bulls while the advance was under way. Merchandising and utility shares were again prominent and most of the strength was in these groups. Stocks of prominent manufacturing concerns moved rather narrowly, although American Can, General Electric, Westinghouse Electric and General Motors were used as the trial horses for the spurt.

The important news of the day came from the steel companies, and from the longer term viewpoint it was encouraging. United States Steel's bokings declined 441,851 tons in August, the largest decrease for that month since 1923, but Wall street declined to be depressed by this report, interpreting it as an indication that the corporation had pushed shipments during an interval of slow demand. At any rate, United States Steel common rallied after publication of the figures and duplicated its high for the recovery, 173¾, although it closed half a point net lower.

Ingot Production Gains.

Iron Age's weekly survey said that although the seasonal recovery in the industry was materializing slowly, ingot production has risen to 58 per cent of capacity. This was a gain of 3 per cent in a week. An increase in orders for miscellaneous steels and steel products was noted. "Steel" said that the apparent extension of the August upturn, the determination of producers to stabilize prices and continued buying of structural material "tangibly support the belief that the market situation in steel is improving."

These reassuring advices tended to counterbalance the showing made by the Steel Corporation last month, and shorts, who had used the figures to sell stocks, soon found it expedient to retrace their steps. Much of the late hesitancy in the market appeared to be traceable to profit-taking.

The Federal Reserve Board's report that department store sales throughout the country had declined 11 per cent in August, compared with a year ago, failed to ruffle the merchandising shares. Operators who are pushing this group were in a frame of mind that was glad to let bygones be bygones, preferring to look ahead rather than backward. Strength in the store issues was well maintained and there were final gains of 1 to 2 points in Woolworth, May Department Stores, Montgomery Ward, Kroger Grocery, W. T. Grant, Kress and Safeway Stores. Macy and Real Silk Hosiery advanced 3. Simmons was up a couple of points.

Ward Baking Advances.

At the top of the rally, Allied Chemical, Ward Baking, Pacific Lighting, Brooklyn Union Gas, Western Union, Coca Cola and Checker Cab showed gains of 3 to 4 points, while Union Pacific, Atchison, Southern Railway, Canadian Pacific, Vanadium, Lambert, Continental Baking and Cerro de Pasco were about 2 points higher. Final prices were irregularly below these levels.

American Can lost an extreme rise of a point and finished unchanged. General Electric, General Motors and Bethlehem Steel closed a shade lower. American Telephone, which had been up 1½, retained only the fraction of its gain. Radio, Paramount, International Nickel and Gillette gained a point and Western Union and Brooklyn Union Gas, 3 each. Case, Worthington Pump, Auburn Auto and New York Central turned heavy in the late trading.

Wheat closed steady at advances of one-half to 1 cent under the stimulation of a better export demand. Corn was unchanged to a small fraction lower. Cotton was up $1.25 to $1.75 a bale at the finish.

The money markets were easier, although there was no reduction in the official call rate of 2½ per cent. A few dealers who had increased time fund charges by a quarter of 1 per cent yesterday restored the previous rates.

Two millions in gold was withdrawn for export to Canada as the Canadian dollar was at a premium of .15⅝ cents. Otherwise, the foreign exchanges were dull.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—The steadier tone which developed in cotton here yesterday became more pronounced during today's trading, with prices advancing on further covering and trade buying. Offerings were comparatively light on the upturn which carried the more active months back to about the prices ruling just before the publication of the Government crop report on Monday.

New December contracts sold up to 11.48 in the late trading, or 35 points net higher and 58 points above the low level touched on the Bureau day decline. That delivery closed at 11.45, with the general market closing very steady at net advances of 25 to 35 points.

The opening was very steady at an advance of 9 to 13 points in response to overnight buying orders and in sympathy with the relatively firm showing of Liverpool. There was a little Southern selling as well as realizing or liquidation, and there may have been a little selling during the morning on a favorable view of the weekly weather report and a belief that the rains in the South would prove beneficial.

It was absorbed on moderate setbacks, however, and the market developed increased strength in the late trading on continued covering, which seemed to be stimulated by firmness in the stock market, rather more optimistic views of the general business outlook, and reports of a better spot demand in the South. New October sold up to 11.27 and March to 11.75, with active months showing net advances of 27 to 37 points. The close was a few points off from the best under realizing.

According to reports circulating in the market here this afternoon, European mills continue to buy cotton quite freely and a better demand is developing from domestic spinners, with New England showing more interest in staple cotton.

The feature most generally referred to in connection with the advance, however, was the continued absence of any general hedge selling from the South, as an indication that Monday's Government crop figures and declines in futures had not weakened the holding movement.

Liverpool cables said that continental and Bombay buying had absorbed some hedging and short selling in that market and reported an improved inquiry for cotton cloths from India. Exports today, 32,342, making 582,193 so far this season. Port receipts, 38,196. United States port stocks, 2,019,809. Futures:

BONDS ARE STEADY; UTILITY INDEX DIPS

WARRANT LIST ACTIVE

New York, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Bonds steadied a little today, after the sagging tendencies of the previous session, but activity in investment market slackened somewhat, as Wall street's attention was turned to increasing activity in stocks.

Furthermore, reports of several new offerings by public utilities tended to detract attention from the listed liens. Corporation Securities, an Insull investment company, is planning an issue of $40,000,000 in serial notes, maturing from 1931 to 1938.

An additional offering of $15,000,000 of Electric Power & Light 5 per cent debentures, due 2030, and priced at 92½ to yield 5.40 per cent, will be made tomorrow by Banbright & Co. Also, Stone & Webster is offering $1,400,000 of Sierra Pacific Power first mortgage 5s at 95.

An important rail issue, of $12,000,000 Chicago & Northwestern first and refunding mortgage 4½s, is being made by Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and National City Co., at 99¾ per cent.

Call Money at 2 Per Cent.

The undertone in the money market was a little easier, but rates were practically stationary. Call money was still quoted at the loan desk at 2½ per cent, although it was available outside at 2. There appears some likelihood that there may be a flood of short-term money around the 15th, as funds pile up at the banks in connection with income tax collections and the new Treasury financing.

The activity in listed bonds was inclined to turn to the more speculative issues, and the convertible or warrant bonds. The averages showed that the general price level was about unchanged at the end of the day, although the average of ten utilities was a shade lower.

In the rails, Atchison convertible 4½s rose nearly 2 points, in sympathy with strength in the stock, and Baltimore & Ohio 4½s of 1960 were active and firm. The St. Paul adjustment 5s were turned over in large volume, moving up one-fourth, net. Chicago & Eastern Illinois 5s, International Great Northern first 5s B each rose a point. Albany & Susquehanna 3½s and Wabash, Detroit & Chicago 5s were comparatively inactive issues, rising about a point to new highs. Adams Express 4s also reached new high ground.

Fisk Rubber Rallies.

A firm spot in the utilities were New Orleans Public Service 5s, which reached new high ground. Also the Interborough Rapid Transit issues were firm, reflecting the placing of representatives of the voting trust certificate holders on the board.

In the industrials, Fisk Rubber 8s rallied nearly 3 points, in response to a statement by the management affirming the company's solvency. Illinois Steel 4½s rose nearly a point. A firm spot in the specialty issues were Gannet Co. 6s, up 2 points. Oils were a little firmer, Standard of New Jersey and Shell Union 5s gaining fractionally.

In the convertible and warrant group, Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron 6s and Remington Rand 5½s each gained fractionally in large-scale trading. International Telephone 4½s, however, lost a point.

The foreign dollar bonds were irregular. Buenos Aires 6s gained more than a point, and several of the Argentine 6s were firm, perhaps reflecting the more friendly attitude of the new Argentine government toward the United States.

CITY'S DEPARTMENT STORE SALES GOOD

BANK DINNER TONIGHT

Department store business in Washington is maintaining a far better average for the year than in most of the leading cities of the country, according to a compilation of the Federal Reserve Board.

For the first seven months of this year, the total sales for 634 stores in leading cities in the Federal reserve districts showed a percentage decrease of 5 per cent in comparison to the corresponding period of last year. In Washington, the decrease over the same period in seven stores was 1 per cent.

The percentage decrease of all the enumerated stores for the month of July showed a falling off of 10 per cent from the corresponding month in 1929. In the Capital, however, there was a decrease of only 2 per cent. Only two cities showed a higher gain than Washington over the seven-month period, and only four were superior in July.

Indications are that Washington maintained the same good standard for August. Figures available at present give only the Fifth Federal Reserve District, of which the District of Columbia is a part. The falling off for August in the Fifth District is 6 per cent, while throughout the country it is 11 per cent. For the eight-month period, the falling off in the Fifth District is 2 per ent and 6 per cent throughout the country.

Sound Business Conditions Seen.

Department store business throughout the country has been poorer than in 1929. But the fact that the Washington decrease is slighter than almost every other place, induces observers to believe that the figures reflect increasingly sound business conditions. The exact August percentage for Washington will not be available for a week or more.

Richard W. Hill, national secretary of the American Institute of Banking, will be the principal speaker tonight at the dinner of the educational committee of the Washington Chapt of the institute at the Raleigh Hotel. His subject will be "Power of Individualism."

Aubrey O. Dooley, first vice president of the Washington Chapter and chairman of the educational committee, will preside at tonight's dinner. Short talks will be made by Frank M. Perley, chapter president, and members of the faculty. A list of the instructors and consuls of the Washington branch of the institute will be published in the Sunday financial section of The Post.

Will Speak Before Underwriters.

Edward M. Johnston, of Syracuse, N. Y., will address the District of Columbia Underwriters Association at its first fall season meeting at 12:30 o'clock today at the Hay Adams House. The subject of Mr. Johnston's talk will be "If I Were Selling Life Insurance."

Word was received yesterday by the travel department of the International Exchange Bank that all Mediterranean speed records have been broken by the steamer Conte Grande, which left Naples on August 30 and Gibraltar September 1 and docked at New York on Sunday, September 7. The travel department reports that never before did a Mediterranean steamer arrive and land passengers from Italy on the eighth day and from Gibraltar on the sixth day of crossing.

The Capital Traction Co. will pay a quarterly dividend of $1 to shareholders of record September 14 on October 1, it was announced yesterday on the Washington Stock Exchange. This is the same amount that was paid in the second quarter of the present year.

G. Bowie Chipman, resident partner of Harriman & Co., has returned to Washington after a ten weeks' vacation at his summer home at Castine, Me.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Sept. 10 (A.P.).—Grain trade today was a matter of a balancing nature with traders reducing commitments in preparation for the United States Government crop report, due late in the day. Wheat held its basic undertone and prices averaged higher, although most of the trading was done within narrow limits. Final estimates on the amount of export business done overnight were 500,000 bushels. Strength of wheat at Liverpool, with the October delivery selling at a premium over the December and March deliveries for the first time in several years, helped the Chicago market. Corn met with selling pressure toward the end of trading and sagged some.

Closing prices on wheat were nervous, ⅜ to 1 cent higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed unsettled, from ⅛ cent lower to ¼ cent higher, oats ⅛ to ¼ cent up, and provisions ranging from 10 cent decline to an advance of 2 cents.

Nervous price fluctuations were the chief characteristics of the dull wheat market. The start was higher in response to Liverpool advices of strength. Pressure developed on the bulge in prices and the market eased slightly. Withdrawal from the world's market of Russian and Indian offers of wheat were also bullishly construed.

Corn held within narrow limits and price changes were of little consequence. Prices averaged slightly higher, except on the September delivery where belated selling forced the price down to slightly below yesterday's final figure. Fair shipping demand was reported better with country offerings small. South Africa shipped 187,000 bushels of corn to Canada last week.

A blue button bearing the slogan, "Business Is Good," has appeared in Wall street by the thousand; bulls have greeted it with cheers, and bears with jeers. On the floor of the stock exchange, bulls enjoy furtively attaching them to the coat tails of bears. One member appeared with a paper disk pasted over his, saying, "Business Is Lousy With Me." One bear consented to wear one, with the remark "The color is right, whatever it says." The button is the concept of an advertising man who hopes it will improve business sentiment.

Anaconda Wire & Cable Co. today reported for the June quarter net profit of $18,304, equal to 31 cents a share on 422,470 no-par shares, compared with $560,621, or $1.38 a share on 404,378 shares, in the June quarter last year.

ADVICE ON INVESTMENTS

By CHARLES W. STORM.

In making inquiries address Charles W. Storm, financial department of The Washington Post, and inclose a self-addressed stamped envelope for reply.

Intercontinent; Peerless.

E. E. H.—Would appreciate whatever information you could give me regarding Intercontinent Petroleum, listed on the curb, and Peerless Motors, listed on the stock exchange. Would they be advisable purchases as an investment?

Answer—Neither stock is to be considered an investment, inasmuch as neither is on a dividend paying basis and consequently gives no investment return. As a matter of fact, Peerless Motors must be regarded as a hazardous speculation. Net earnings for the nine months ended June 30, last, equaled 49 cents a share. A financing company was recently organized for Peerless dealers and distributors, and while the outlook has improved somewhat, the stock can not be considered as other than a speculation and not suitable for investment.

A former vice president and director of the Mid-Continent Petroleum Corporation has been elected president of the Intercontinent Petroleum Corporation. Latter is a holding company incorporated in 1916 under Delaware laws as the Mexican-Panuco Oil Co., the name being changed to the present title in 1927. The company owns acreage in Mexico on which production has been obtained, and controls concessions in Venezuela and other South American countries. While the company has what seems to be large potential production, earnings have not been sufficient for the payment of dividends, hence the stock is a speculation and not to be considered in the nature of an investment.

Devoe & Raynolds; Cannon Mills.

D. R. H.—It would please me if you would give me your opinion on Devoe & Raynolds and Cannon Mills common stock for investment purposes at this time.

Answer—Of Devoe & Raynolds it may be said that, while business outlook furnishes no grounds for expecting stock to appreciate in near term, the "A" shares appear to be reasonably valued. In absence of Cannon Mills Co.'s earnings data for year to date, extent to which profits have declined, as compared with last year, is problematical, but that reduction has been sharp may be inferred from recent substantial cut in dividend payments.

With general business and textile manufacturing conditions likely to show but nominal early improvement, it is improbable that earnings of company will reveal any material expansion over next few months, and shares can not now be considered attractive. In any event it is not to be regarded in the strict light of an investment; neither is Devoe & Raynolds. Both are in the speculative-investment class.

Curtiss Wright A; Pressed Steel.

J. A. Q.—Kindly give me your opinion of Curtiss Wright A and Pressed Steel Car as speculations, to be bought now and held for three years.

Answer—Whatever the next three years may have in store for these companies this column can not predict. At present both stocks, being nondividend payers, are entirely in the speculative class, and no advice is ever given here as to speculative market commitments. At present Curtiss Wright is operating at a loss and shows no earnings whatsoever for the stock. Somewhat authoritatively it was recently stated that because of business on hand Pressed Steel Car was expected to show a profit in third quarter of 1930, and results for first nine months might equal those of same period last year. However, stock being a nondividend payer, has no present investment appeal.

New Quincy Mining.

Mrs. C. D.—Please give me data on New Quincy Mining and your opinion of it as an investment.

Answer—Company paid dividends of 20 cents a share in 1929 and has distributed 10 cents a share thus far in 1930. Nevertheless, the stock, which is extremely low priced, can only be regarded as a radical speculation and is not to be spoken of as an investment.

Continental Mortgage & Investment.

Miss H. L.—I have an opportunity to buy $3,500 of Continental Mortgage & Investment stock. Will you kindly let me know if it is a safe investment, also how much it would be worth?

Answer—Can find absolutely no record of a company bearing that precise title. Advise that you consult your bank or some reputable brokerage firm before thinking of investing in such a stock. Failure to do so may prove disastrous to you.

BELTSVILLE SCHOOL DECLARED UNSAFE

Parents of 125 Refuse to Allow Them to Attend Pending Addition.

BUILDING IS ON "JACKS"

It's an ill wind that blows no good. So say 125 children who weer granted an unexpected stay of execution yesterday when their parents refused to permit them to attend classes in the Beltsville School, claiming it to be unsafe. In consequence, the happy students put away their first day of school frown and gayly adjourned to the open spaces.

The unexpected extension of the summer vacation came when parents of the children decided that the Beltsville School, which is undergoing enlargement, is unsafe in its present condition. The parents claimed that lack of plumbing and fire exits make the school very unsafe. They declared that in case of fire the children could not get out by way of the temporary ramp in time to escape possible injury.

J. Albert Miller, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of construction, and Perry Boswell, president of the Princes Georges County Board of Education, arrived shortly after the parents had declared their intention to keep the childrn out of school, following hurried calls from the school principal. After a lengthy consultation, the school officials decided to keep the school closed until Monday.

The parents maintained their attitude, however, and decided that the children should not go back until a meeting of the home and school association of the school is held Monday night to decide whether or not the structure is safe.

The building is being enlarged from a three-room to a four-room structure and the entire building has been raised several feet on jacks to permit the construction of a basement under it. A temporary ramp about 4 feet wide provides the means of exit and entrance to the building. When the building is completed the entrance will be by means of wide concrete steps.

Temporary plumbing connections have been installed and the board of education decided that the building was tenable. The parents took an opposite view and declared that the plumbing connections fail to supply either sewer or water facilities. The parents claim that work on the school started only about three weeks ago and that the workmen employed are not sufficient to effect a speedy completion of the project. The board has ordered a larger number of workmen and expects to have the entrance steps and sewer and water facilities by Monday.

In the meantime 125 children are ardently praying for more trouble.

Mayor William F. Broening of Baltimore, Republican candidate for Governor of Maryland, will attend an informal luncheon at the Hotel Marlboro today at noon at which prominent Republicans of the county will be present. The mayor will attend the Marlboro Fair in the afternoon.

Oliver Metzerott, Republican candidate for the House of Delegates in Prince Georges County, and who is said to have an eye on the speakership of that body, will preside. J. Wilson Ryon, Gardner Coale and Thomas P. Littlepage, Republican leaders of the county, and the Republican candidates for office, will be present.

The luncheon will mark the beginning of the Republican campaign in the county and plans for the campaign will be discussed. There will be no formal speeches, the gathering at the Marlboro Hotel being more in the nature of an informal get-together for discussion of political measures.

Melvin Brooks, 25 years old, of Mount Rainier, Md., alleged to have been driver of the car in the pursuit of which Chief H. L. Leonard, of the Prince Georges County Rescue Squad, was wounded in the hand, nearly a month ago, was found guilty of failing to stop at an arterial highway and with operating a car at a speed greater than reasonable and proper yesterday by Judge J. Chew Sheriff, in Hyattsville branch of the county police court. He was fined $10.

Brooks told the court that he did not think he had to stop at the stop sign because the road was clear of traffic, and that Constable William Norgle, who claimed he had been pushed from the running board of the car while attempting to arrest the driver, had lost his balance and fell off when the car swerved.

Leonard was shot in the hand while chasing the car into the District just after a Twelfth Precinct patrol car joined in the chase. No charge of using firearms was lodged against the man.

Judge Sheriff suspended a $25 fine imposed on Mrs. Lulu Jordan, of Seabrook, after finding her guilty of maintaining a nuisance, to wit, a pack of dogs that disturb the public peace in the hours of rest. The warrant was sworn out by Thomas Morgan, of Seabrook, before Justice of the Peace Louis Gundling and served by Constable J. R. Coombes.

Alice Chase, colored, 45 years old, of Glenarden, was arraigned in police court yesterday and charged with housebreaking and larceny of a watch and six chickens from Mrs. Clarence O. Tucker, of Landover. Her son, Lawrence Chase, 13, was formally charged with arson. The mother and son were held for action of the grand jury.

The woman and her son were arrested by Constable George Wiseman, of Bladensburg, vice president of the Bladensburg Volunteer Fire Department, after a forest fire, which caused damage of approximately $18,000 in the vicinity of Landover and burned down the chicken house and barn of Mrs. George J. Hamlet, widow of Maj. Hamlet. The son confessed to police that he and his mother had robbed the Tucker home and that he had set the fire to cover their traces.

Several other robberies in the neighborhood are alleged to have been committed by the pair, police say.

Benjamin Roth, former soldier of East Hyattsville, was held for action of the grand jury on charges of uttering a bad check and larceny of a safety razor preferred by Tyler M. Birch.

M. W. Shepherd, son of Judge J. H. Shepherd, of Berwyn, prominent in civic circles in Prince Georges County, has been appointed an instructor at the University of Mississippi, it was learned yesterday. Mr. Shepherd was appointed to the department of geology.

Winchester, Va., Sept. 10.—Complying with a deathbed request, six of her women neighbors today served as pallbearers at the funeral of Mrs. Virginia Dalley Whitacre, 63, iwfe of Lemuel Whitacre, near Siler, Frederick County.

The funeral took place from Chestnut Grove Church, with the Rev. J. R. Collis, Inwood, W. Va., officiating, and interment was in the cemetery near the church.

NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

PRAISE GIVEN FAIR IN FAIRFAX COUNTY

Some Exhibits Declared to Be Better Than Those of Last Year.

BUS INQUIRY IS ORDERED

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon 2324-W-2.

The seventeenth annual Fairfax County Fair opened yesterday morning at Fairfax with an exceptionally large crowd in attendance. It was children and Boy Scout day, all children under 15 years of age and scouts in uniform being admitted to the grounds free. The county schools open today and many of the children took advantage of yesterday to enjoy their only day of the fair.

The farm and garden exhibits were pronounced exceptional in view of the long drought this summer. Many of the fruit, farm produce, canned goods and farm crop exhibits were said to be better than last year. The poultry and live stock exhibits, while not many, are unusually fine. Most of the day was passed by the judges in receiving last-minute exhibits and classifying them. The judging began late in the day and will be completed this morning.

Yesterday's center of attraction was the midway with its many booths, among which the most attractive were the chamber of commerce booth, the county health units exhibit and the model camp set up by the scouts.

Today has been designated as chamber of commerce day, when the local chamber will act as hosts to the chambers of the surrounding cities and counties. Music will be furnished by the Alexandria Band. The entertainment activities will commence at 1 o'clock with a program of athletics sponsored by the Fairfax chamber and under the leadership of Mrs. G. Ashley Money and William Cleveland. Among the events that will be staged are a 50-yard dash for boys and girls under 12 years of age; 75-yard dash for both boys and girls over 12 and under 16 years old; three-legged races; married women's race; old man's race; a rolling pin throwing contest; and at 2:30 o'clock a beauty contest.

A better baby contest will be staged at 3 o'clock under the direction of the County Health Unit. The judges will be prominent doctors from Washington and Alexandria. Mrs. Fannie Low Seamons, county health nurse, has emphasized the fact that this would not be a pretty baby contest, but the children will be judged only on the basis of health and weight.

The fair association will stage five horse races this afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock and each half hour afterward. There will be a 1-mile dash, one half-mile dash for half-breeds, pony race, 1-mile flat and a mule race. James Head will act as superintendent of races assisted by Harley Barnes and J. L. Hilleary. Clifton Laughlin, of McLean, and William Earl, of Fairfax, will act as judges.

The Floris Women's Club will demonstrate the making of school lunches, the Burke Women's Club, meal planning, in the home demonstration building. The association makes no admission charge at night.

The public utilities committee of the Fairfax County Chamber of Commerce has been instructed to investigate the status of the proposed bus service along the Leesburg pike from Leesburg to Washington. The franchise was granted to the Hall & Shry Co., of Leesburg, last spring, when a hearing was held before the State Corporation Commission in Richmond. Three companies applied for the franchise at that time. It was stated at the monthly meeting of the chamber that no buses had been operated on this route to date. It was also stated that if the company holding the franchise does not intend to operate buses over the route its rights should be canceled.

Several road matters were discussed and a resolution was adopted requesting that Resident Engineer R. I. Mount, of the State Highway Department, cut the tops of five or six sharp hills on the Leesburg pike, all within three miles of Dranesville. The State is now preparing to hard surface this road and many of the citizens believe that these alterations should be made before the surface is applied.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Vienna Trust Co., in Vienna, the board of directors was elected as follows: Franklin Williams, Joseph Berry, William R. Gray, M. E. Church, of Falls Church; Hugh Gunnell, S. N. Jones, C. H. Powell, James U. Kincheloe, and John Rust, of Fairfax; Charles E. Miller and H. R. C. Shockey, of Oakton, and F. N. Hagman, of Vienna.

The new board of directors then elected W. R. Gray, president; Joseph Berry, first vice president; M. E. Church, second vice president; John Rust, attorney and trust officer; J. B. McDaniel, secretary-treasurer, and G. N. Cobb, assistant secretary and treasurer. The date of the annual stockholders' meeting was changed from September to the second Wednesday in January.

A free-for-all fight at Jones' dance hall for colored, near Baileys Cross Roads, resulted in the killing of Preston Marshall, 24, colored, route 5, Alexandria, and the wounding of John Douglas, of Baileys Cross Roads. The police are conducting a search for Raymond Davis, colored, of Relay, Va., who is alleged to have done the shooting. The fight occurred early yesterday.

Sheriff Kirby and Deputy Sheriff Paul Herman were notified and arrested all of the participants in the fight. They are all lodged in the county jail pending investigation. It is alleged that Theodore Butler, John Brodey and Kermit Holmes, all colored, assisted Davis to escape by taking him to Baltimore. The others held are William Dixon, Edgar Marshall, Albert Warren, French Marshall, Walter Fairfax, E. J. Burgess, Fred Dixon, Floyd Davis and Walter Marshall. The inquest will be held this morning in Alexandria by Coroner T. M. Jones.

Three-Cornered Fight For Sheriff in Charles

La Plata, Md., Sept. 10.—Julian E. Simpson, of Tompkinsville, this county, through petition has entered as an independent candidate for election to the office of sheriff. This entry makes a three-cornered fight for that office in the county. The other candidates are W. Purcell Gardiner, Democrat, and Robert V. Cooksey, Republican.

Another political turn of interest in the county today was the withdrawal of John N. Simms, the Republican candidate for State Senate. Mr. Simms was unopposed in the primary election held on Monday. No information can yet be obtained concerning who will be appointed to fill the vacancy.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

William E. Candler, deputy city sergeant for the last fifteen years, was found dead on the floor of his home, 335 North St. Asaph street, here yesterday morning. City Sergt. R. H. Cox, who had gone to the deputy's home to inquire about his health, which had not been good for the last three weeks, found Mr. Candler's body after forcing an entrance to his house. City Manager Wallace Lawrence yesterday afternoon again conferred with the heirs of the Hume estate concerning a proposal to move Hume Springs to one side of the section of Mount Vernon avenue, now being widened by the city. Following the conference he announced that no decision had been reached and that he would refer the matter to the city council.

Bids for the city gas plant and mains will be considered by the city council when it meets at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Granting of a 30-year franchise to the successful bidder also will come up. Council expects to take most of the money from sale of the plant, which is valued at between $750,000 and $1,000,000, and retire municipal bonds with it. Shortly before the council meeting opens councilmen will meet in informal session with the board of zoning recently appointed by Judge William P. Woolls. Compensation of this body is also expected to be fixed at this time.

A research roll call featured the regular monthly meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club held in the George Mason Hotel Tuesday night.

Daily O'Currences

By JOHN DALY

THE maid's day off, Luella was busy answering the doorbell.

"Who was that?" I asked, listening to a long line of gab—some young fellow giving Luella a song and dance.

"Just another one of the boys," she sighed, "working his way through college——"

Somebody must-a marked the old manse. Day after day those boys come to the front door, asking for the lady of the house, trying to solicit subscriptions to magazines.

"What's the big idea?" I asked her. "Why don't you send them on their way——?"

"I do send them on their way, but as fast as I get rid of one another comes along."

• • • •

ABOUT that time the third applicant of the day appeared.

"Are you the 'lady of the house?'" he asked.

Luella looked him i nthe eye: "No," she replied, "there is no 'lady of the house' here. You'll have to go elsewhere."

"But, lady——"

"I'm not interested in sales talk," she snapped.

"This, lady, isn't a sales talk. What I'm trying to do——"

"I know what you're trying to do—you're trying to talk me out of money——"

• • • •

THE young fellow showed a mouth full of teeth. Money? I assure you, lady, there's no money involved in this whatsoever—I and several other young fellows are working for points——"

"For points?"

"Yes," he said, and explained the system. It seems they get so many points for selling these subscriptions, and the fellow with the greatest number of points——

"What happens to him?" she asked.

"Oh, he gets a chance to go to art school."

"And are you going to be an artist?" asked Luella, her eyes aglow.

"If I get enough points," he smiled.

• • • •

"THERE," she said, signing for three subscriptions, three years each, "I hope some day to see your paintings in the Corcoran Art Gallery."

"The first portrait I paint will be yours," he said, and she came back smiling.

"So you got hung again!" I roared.

"No," she said with dignity, "this time I helped a struggling young artist."

And I, who had heard the whole story, knew the boy to be already an artist—without a struggle.

WARRENTON SHOW DRAWS FINE HORSES

Largest Thrnog in History Attends Opening Day of Event.

LOUD SPEAKERS USED

Special to The Washington Post.

Warrenton, Va., Sept. 10.—A crowd, without doubt the largest that ever viewed a Warrenton show on its opening day, were treated to as fine an exhibition of horses and horsemanship as they could wish. The judging was good, and the well-filled classes were run off on time throughout the day. The amplifiers, used for the first time, added greatly to grand stand's pleasure at the show.

The number of each entry was broadcast as it entered the ring, and the ribbons and awards, together with owner's name, were clearly and promptly called through the loud speakers, set up over the stands and grounds.

The Orange County hunt pack took the blue ribbon and the handsome bowl that went with it, presented by Mrs. D. B. Smith, in the fox hound class.

Gray Night Wins.

Miss Mary Altimus' Gray Night, a gelding, took the blue ribbon in the thoroughbred hunter class, with the Stevenson, imported horse, second, and Mrs. Lee Rock Arden third. Thirty-one clean-bred jumpers fought it out in this class.

The ladies' hunters brought out a field of 48. Jouett Todd, of Charlottesville, won with his gray mare Skool, with Miss Ellie Wood, Page Keith, giving a beautiful performance. Jay Zee took the red in this class, and Danger Boy was third. A new class, the family hunt teams, for three members of a family on horses, their bona fide property, was well received. The Nesbit team was given the blue and the silver trophy. This team was made up of Miss Elizabeth Nesbit, Miss Edith Nesbit, sisters, and their brother, Scott.

Stevenson Team Second.

The Stevenson team, of father, mother and daughter took second, the third place ribbon going to Mrs. Robert C. Winmill, with her two daughters. Her husband, her son and still another daughter also took part.

The largest class of the show, the novice hunters, for horses that had not won a blue ribbon in any recognized show prior to August 29, brought out keen competition and good jumping; Kern A., chestnut gelding, the property of Chilton Farms was awarded first prize. Gray Night took second.

LEGIONNAIRES HOLD MEETING IN VIRGINIA

Roby Thompson, of Abingdon, Elected Commander at Harrisonburg.

OTHER OFFICERS CHOSEN

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., Sept. 10.—Virginia Legionnaires closed their twelfth annual convention here this afternoon with the election of Roby C. Thompson, Abingdon attorney, as department commander, selected Clifton Forge for the 1931 gathering, and urged, in resolutions, that more aid be provided for the families of disabled soldiers, and that "the sport of boxing, but not commercialized prizefighting," be legalized in the State, and that the State give financial aid in building National Guard armories.

Mr. Thompson, retiring first vice commander, was opposed by M. E. Bristow, retiring finance officer, but he withdrew his name as the polling started. The name of Col. William E. Mitchell, former head U. S. Army Air Corps, was placed in nomination, but was withdrawn.

Five vice commanders, representing the geographical divisions of the State, were named under the revised constitution adopted here. Formerly, only two vice commanders were named. These elected today were: Ernest Acton, Portsmouth; R. E. McClure, Lynchburg; Harry G. Breckenridge, Leesburg; Charles H. McKinnie, Clifton Forge, and T. Whitt Grear, Chase City.

Hooper Reelected Chaplain.

COUNTY STUDENTS LARGE IN NUMBER

12,600 Pupils Exceed by 1,000 Expected Figure in Montgomrey.

SIDEWALK JOB AWARDED

Montgomery County's schools opened yesterday, apparently with the largest enrollment in the history of the county. The enrollment far exceeded the expectations of the school board officials and hurried efforts had to be made to provide accommodations for the large number of new children.

County school board officials had expected an enrollment of about 10,600 in the elementary schools and about 2,000 in the high schools. It was discovered yesterday that enrollment probably will exceed both of these figures by about 500 in each class.

Reports received at the office of Superintendent of Schools E. W. Broome at Rockville indicated that there is an enrollment of approximately 11,000 in the elementary schools and about 2,500 in the high schools.

No official reports have been received, but the estimates were made up from the number of teachers telephoning the office for instructions because of unusually large classes. The elementary school enrollment last year was 10,131.

Taylor Co., which bid $1.85 per square foot for constructing the sidewalks and $1.50 a cubic yard for excavating.

Water Is Hauled To County Schools

Borne by Trucks in Anne Arundel for Use In and Near Annapolis.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Sept. 10.—With the reopening of public schools, the Anne Arundel County Board of Education is taking prompt steps to provide the army of children attending the Annapolis high and grammar schools, the Stanton colored school and the public institutions at Eastport, Germantown and West Annapolis with an ample supply of pure water as long as the present shortage in the city supply exists.

Today several trucks were engaged in hauling water from the spring-well at Boucher's and conveying it to the schools. Mr. Boucher has offered to furnish the water for the primary school children so that the only cost to the school board is hauling. Several hundred gallons were moved from there today. School officials are having proper containers made.

The water at Boucher's comes from a natural spring through piping sunk to a depth of 26 feet and at the surface a pump was installed. Tests have been shown that the water flows at the rate of eighteen gallons per minute. Several specimens were examined by the State Department of Health with the result that it was certified A-1.

ARLINGTON TO HAVE GAS RATE SLASHED

LUMBER FIRM BOUGHT

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Promises of a reduction in gas rates for Arlington County were given by officials of the Washington Gas Light Co. yesterday.

While no figures are being given out at this time assurance is given that Arlington County will be treated equally as well as residents of the District of Columbia, if not a little better. Before any figures can be announced as to the possible reduction in the county it was stated that the purchase price to the Rosslyn Gas Co. will have to be determined.

As the company is appearing before the commission asking that it be permitted to reduce its rates officials feel confident that the plea will be granted without any delay.

It was further stated that the income of the Washington Gas Light Co. for last year was $800,000 and that with the figures that have been worked out the reduction will reduce that figure to $400,000, but it is anticipated that the loss will be more than made up as the result of new gas users secured due to the reduction.

The largest business transaction consummated in Arlington County this year was the sale yesterday of the George Taylor Lumber Co., located at Rosslyn, to W. W. Rucker, George A. Rucker and J. E. Rucker. The consideration was said to be approximately $50,000.

Application for a charter was made last night to the State Corporation Commission with the following persons named as officers of the corporation: President, W. W. Rucker; vice president and treasurer, George A. Rucker, and secretary, J. E. Rucker.

The new owners will take over the business on October 1.

The new owners have been identified with the Murphy & Ames Lumber Co., also of Rosslyn, for many years. George A. Rucker holds the office of vice president and manager; W. W. Rucker has been for the past six years manager of the Falls Church branch. J. E. Rucker is associated with W. W. Rucker.

William P. Ames, treasurer of the Murphy & Ames Lumber Co., announced last night that there will be a special meeting of the officers the latter part of this month when new officers and directors will be elected.

Commenting on the purchase of the Taylor Lumber Co. by some of his associates Mr. Ames said, "I only look for continued good relations that have existed among us for many years."

The Arlington County Monarch Club will meet today at 12 o'clock at the Ashton Heights Womans Clubhouse when arrangements for the joint meeting of club
